Dear Mr. Wetherell:-

I am glad to learn by your letter of August 27th that a new edition of your war book "Fields of Fame" is being issued. I am, indeed, grateful for the honour you are extending to me in dedicating this new edition to me, and I shall look forward with much pleasure to receiving a copy of the new impression.

I have been at McGill for a month now, and I am finding the work very interesting, although new and strange. I find it would have been better had I come before the close of last session, for I would have had more time and opportunity to make the best selections to complete the staff. I hope that whenever you learn of a man who would be a distinct acquisition to this University, you will advise me.

McGill is launching in the fall a campaign for more funds, which are urgently needed if this University is to retain its present place amongst the educational institutions of the Empire.

With all good wishes, I am, dear Mr. Wetherell,

Yours faithfully,

Principal.
