ON THE OCEAN, Oct. 16.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle is enjoying his usual health, en route for Lendon. He expects to be back in Brooklyn the first Sunday in December. His Sundays in Great Britain will be given to London, filling appointments with as many as possible of the smaller cities week days. His discourse for to-day from the foregoing text follows:

The wonderful force and immensity of the thought of our text cannot be appreciated by those who have never been upon the great ocean. As we travel thru the water at railroad speed and keep watch in every direction, yet seldom see a vessel, large or small, day after day, we begin to get a little conception of the world in which we live. It is so much larger than previously we were able to comprehend. Yet by the aid of the telescope and the mathematical calculations we perceive that our earth and its seas are small, in comparison to many other worlds. We perceive that our solar system (our sun and his planetary satellites) constitutes but a small fraction of God's great creation. Astronomers tells us that by the aid of don of God's great creation. Assensitive photographic plates they are able to count about one hundred and twenty-five millions of suns, around which planets are revolving, as our earth revolves around our sun. And they estimate that probably only a portion of these suns is visible to our paled a versus for distant are they portion of these suns is visible to our naked eye so far distant are they. Astronomers estimate that there are millions of others suns so far distant that their light cannot even be discerned by photography.

We stand appalled at the immensity of space and the law and order which everywhere reign. We heartly assent to the words of the Prophet David. "Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge; there is no piace where their voice is there is no place where their voice is not heard." The person who can look upon this wonderful display of superhuman power and who can believe that these worlds created themselves, that these worlds created themselves, shows to the majority of us that, if he has brains, they are sadly disordered, unbalanced. The person who, after intelligent thought, concludes that there is no God, that everything came to be what it is by chance or by the operation of some blind force—that person is described in the Scriptures in the following words, "The fool hath sald in his heart, There is no God" (Psalm xiv. 1). (Psalm xiv. 1).

On first reading our text some of us might have been inclined to say, Ah, a beautiful poetic extravagance! But struments demonstrate to us the imthat the prophet used very moderate language indeed in his description of the majestic power and greatness the Creater, representing him as weighing the mountains in His bal-ances and holding the seas in the holstandpoint, a thousand years are but as a watch in the night. How insig-nificantly small we all feel in the presence of our God! No wonder some that humanity is too insignificant from the divine standpoint to be worthy of the least consideration—much less to objects of divine care and providence! The Scriptures encourage us to reason from the known to the un-known. They tell us that altho God is so great, so wise, so powerful, He is also just and loving. And the more we consider the matter, the more reasonable this Bible description of the Almighty appears. His power we see demonstrated. The wisdom of One so great cannot be doubted. Then we come to consider, Could One so wise and so powerful be unjust or un-generous? Our hearts answer, No! No one is really great who is devoid of justice and love. So surely as our God is Jehovah He must possess these qualities. When we came in contact with the Bible, and particularly after we learned something of its teachings and got rid of the misrepresentations which gathered about it during the dark ages then we began to recognize it as the message of Jehovah to His creatures. It informed us that the great Creator LONDON, Oct. 16.—(Special.)—ExAlderman Robert Parsons, who was injured in an auto accident on Friday night at Crumlin, died from his injurlearned, too, that our Creator had been pleased to make us in His own ingrepleased to make us in His own image in His own moral likeness, to the intent that we might enjoy Him and the fruits of His righteousness to all eternity. From this standpoint we be-gan to realize that the loftlest sentiments of the human mind and heart are merely the reflections of this

Thus coming into sympathetic accord with our Maker we can comprehend the principles of His character-what justice signifies, and mercy and -what is wisdom as contrast ed with foolishness. From this stand point we were enabled to see the glori-ous perfection of our Maker's character and attributes, which justify the name which He has taken to Himself when He declares thru His ambassador, "God is love." As we come to re-alize this more and more, we are grasping the infinite; we are getting near to the heart of the great eternal one, who weighs the mountains as in a balance and measures the seas in the Godlikeness is love-likeness, and, as the Scriptures declare, "Love is the fulfilling of the divine law" (Romans great Creator to His subjects, His chilling and true God, is thus seen in Besides, the experiences of mankind xiii., 10). "Blind unbelief is sure to err,

And scan His work in vain; God is His own interpreter,

And He will make it plain!"
In the end it will be seen that the divine permission of the reign of sin and death in the earth, instead of be-

and power

Adam's creation to the end of Me siah's mediatorial Kingdom will dei onstrate traits of the divine charater which could not otherwise be mailested to angels or to men.

For instance, without the permission sin, the element of divine justiand the unalterable opposition of G to all sin would never have been know to His creatures. His sentence up to all sin would never have been king to His creatures. His sentence us father Adam and his race and the mission of the reign of death and for all these centuries have demonsted the fact that divine justice can be trifled with. And this reign of and the strength of divine opposite and the strength of divine opposite and the sentence upon sing and the sentence upon sentence to sin, and the sentence upon sinners in turn gave opportunity for the exhibit of divine mercy, compassion, sympathy, love. Undoubtedly God's lov with the celestial beings, who are still enjoying His favor. With similar benevolence He created man a little lower than the angels, crowning him with glory and honor as the king of all creatures, on the animal, the human, plane, the likeness of his maker, who is a spirit. Hearkening to the explanations of the divine purposes by the apostles and prophets, we have received assurances that nothing has befallen humanity in all the dire experiences of the past six thousand years that the great Creator did not foresee. Further

Further, we have the assurances that divine wisdom purposes been tually that the tears and sorrows, cryings and dying, the penalty for original sin, under which man has suffered all these centuries, the great Creator purposes shall work no real disadvantage to His creatures. Instead, the end of the divine program will attest the various elements of the divine character as nothing else could have done. The holy angels, who have known no sin, will in mankind read to eternity a valuable lesson of the exceeding sinfulness of sin and the wisdom and blessedness of righteousness.

And even mankind, altho at present suffering seriously under the weight of divine displeasure and condemnation to death, will ultimately be so blessed and the weight of blessing so outweigh the sorrows of the curse, very confidence in Him, and His willingness to submit to the divine will and purposes in an arrangement in everything.

t demnation to death, will ultimately be so blessed and the weight of blessing so outwelgh the sorrows of the curse, that every creature shall bow the kind of blessing so outwelgh the sorrows of the curse, that every creature shall bow the kind of the Redeemer, the father would justice, wisdom, love and power. In connection with the divine dealings with humanity.

A night of weeping, six thousand years long, involving suffering and sorrow to twenty thousand millions, is an awful thought. But the proposition is yet a different one when we remember that the majority of Adam's children die in infancy and that to those who live their three score years and ten with labor and sorrow, there are please ing and happifying experiences, as well as tears. And when we read that even the tears of a few years are a part of the disciplines, instructions and expering the lessons in preparation for a glorious and joyous eternity—then the whole matter begins to have a pew aspect to our minds. If the light affilication is is the divine proposition. Not this appeared blessing for all of Adam's race who shall come into full harmony with Himself. At present He is teaching sing the elections are learned, there should be no opportunity of profiting by them. But there will be an opportunity of profiting by them.
