Price Current on Situation. Price Current on Situation.

The Price Current syas: There is very little of new development in the crop situation. The new wheat crop generally continues in excellent position and there appears to be continued indications of some increase in the acreage sown, as compared with last year. The fall season has been unusually favorable for gathering, husking and cribbing the corn crop. There is not much grain offered in the interior.

Erickson, Perkins & Co. had the following:

Wheat—The market opened fractionally higher, eased to last night's prices and then rallied about one cent from the low point. The foreign news was the factor in causing to-day's advance, and local professionals, who are in the main bullishly inclined, were more than willing to aid in establishing it. Europe may advance quotations, but they do not seem to come after any of our actual wheat. We cannot advise purchases.

Corn—The market was heavy, the strength in wheat alone preventing a decline. Inquiries for bids from the country for corn for shipment were more numerous and there were also indications of larger consignments. We look for a decided increase in receipts and do not believe that prices can stand up against any considerable selling pressure.

Oats—We believe that May oats will drag lower.

PORCUPINE. Nov. 15.—(World's Special Commissioner.)—Porcupine has removed the stigma which has rested Buying is in Evidence—McKinley-Darragh Higher.

Thursday Evening, Nov. 17. Cobalt stocks continued generally firm on the local mining markets tovative investor, cannot be called other than a rich and also a permanent gold camp—rich because of the spiendid sions there were several strong spots shown in the specialties.

Trading was again of greater volume of free gold encountered at a depth as than earlier in the week and the float-of free gold encountered at a depth as low as 300 feet, which is the distance reached on one of the properties by means of a diamond drill, and the ore of which, when brought to light, showed free gold in quantity.

Everywhere is activity. Mining engineers, prospectors and their families, men, women and children, seem to vie with each other in getting into the new camp as soon as possible, and manage to get in over roads which are practically impassable except to the foot of the hardy prospector.

than earlier in the week and the floating supply of securities overhanging the market was not at all burdensome, responsible buying being in evidence thruout the session.

McKinley-Darragh was the only issue to display any material strength. These shares were up three points at $1.23, and were bid for at a fractional reduction from that price at the close. It is generally believed on the street that the shares will be put on a better basis when the next dviidend period comes around in January next, but it is to get in over roads which are practically impassable except to the foot of the hardy prospector.

Machinery of all kinds, stamp mills and supplies are being rushed forward, and in the words of a well-known mining engineer, with a lifetime of experimence behind him, "Porcupine bids fair to become the greatest gold camp the world has ever seen."

On the Timmins there is already blocked out several million dollars worth of ere, and a 30-stamp mill will be erected as soon as the roads are in fit condition to take it in.

On the Wilson Dome a 50-stamp mill will be erected as soon as the roads are in fit condition to take it in.

On the Wilson Dome a 50-stamp mill of its to be set up, and various other property.

A Strange Sea Fish.

From The Westminster Gazette. The angler, or fishing frog, of which a specimen has just been captured near. Brighton, the nowhere common, seems, more generally distributed around our. coasts than some authorities suppose.

The angler is so called from the curlous "rod and bait" formed by a modious "rod and balt" formed by a modification of a ray of the front dorsal fin, which was formerly fancied to attract small fish; but the entire hideous body is a marvelous mimetic adaptation of the bottom of the sea, upon which the creature walks, using the pectoral fins for feet. This marine of the sea little value except for musogre has little value except for mus-eums, but the gall is used by Irish washerwomen to bleach linen, and in Iceland it is utilized for the manufac-

Ice Harbor in Ohio River.

From Popular Mechanics.
In connection with the million dollar dam that has been constructed in the Ohio River, twelve miles below Cincinnati, the United States Government has built an ice harbor in which the rive craft may take refuge in the winter and early spring from the masses of floating ice that hes caused millions of dollars of damages in past years.

The harbor is solid concrete, re-enforced with steel, and is the first to be built in the Ohio. It is large enough to afford ample protection against ice runs to all the craft in its vicinity,

NEW KIND OF PAUPERS.

The Heirs to Millions Are Forbidden to Wed. Berlin Correspondence London Daily The Hungarian Princess Sulkowska daughter of a prince owning property worth £1.700,000, has been forbidden by her official Hungarian guardians to wed her German flance, Count von Schmettov, on the ground that the latter is a pauper, tho his father's fortune amounts to £250,000. Prince Sulkowska's extravagance led o himself and his daughter's becoming wards of the court which manages pro-perty cases. Count Schmettow has exhausted his own portion of his patrinony and receives no more until his father's death.

Thus two heirs of nearly £2,000,000 between them haven't funds enough to start the simplest housekeeping, and the wedding, which was to be a big social event, has been stopped.

However, big German bankers have arranged the finances of the count sufficiently for him to hope to overcome the court's objections and to enable the loving couple to unite.

The changes proposed in the Australian tariff leave untouched any general revision. In reference to the naval defence bill. Attorney-General Hughes stated that the government does not intend to take any contribu-tion from the imperial government.
