

Escaped Assassin's Bullets

KING EMMANUEL OF ITALY.

QUEEN HELEN.

KING AND QUEEN OF ITALY FIRED AT BY ANARCHISTS

Were on Their Way to Memorial Service for Late King Humbert, Victim of Assassin's Bullet, When Attempt Was Made—Populace Almost Lynched Would-be-Murderer.

ROME, March 14.—(Can. Press.)—A hasty attempt to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel of Italy was made by an anarchist in Rome this morning. The would-be regicide chose for his attempt the anniversary of the birth of the late King Humbert, the father of the present king, who himself died the victim of an assassin's bullet at Monza on Sunday, July 29, 1900, when leaving a distribution of prizes at a gymnastic fête. He was shot at three times as he entered his carriage. One bullet pierced the heart. His assailant was an anarchist, Breccia, by name.

King Victor was fortunate enough to escape the several shots red aimed him to-day from a revolver, the aim from a very short distance. One of His Majesty's bodyguard, who was in the immediate vicinity of the king, was dangerously wounded. Going to Memorial Service. The unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the king made as His Majesty, with Queen Helen, was proceeding from the palace to the Pantheon to take part in the annual memorial service in honor of the late King Humbert. The royal carriage was preceded and followed by an escort of cuirassiers. The procession was passing along the Via Lata when three shots rang out from amid the crowd.

Consternation was on every face. The soldiers following the carriage immediately dashed forward and as they did so their commander fell from his horse. The wounded officer was moved to one side by one of his men while the others dashed up to the royal carriage, where they found the king and queen sitting calm and unmoved.

Was Almost Lynched. Meanwhile the crowd seized the man who had fired the shot and attempted to lynch him. He was so badly handled that he was scarcely able to answer questions when he was handed over to the police.

The royal procession was not stopped for an instant, but proceeded toward the Pantheon, where the mass for King Humbert was completed without further incident.

After the conclusion of the service the king and queen returned to the Quirinal along the same route. On their arrival at the palace the king learned for the first time that the commander of his escort, Major Lang, had been seriously wounded, and His Majesty at once started for the hospital where he was lying to pay him a visit. He travelled in an open automobile, and showed no signs of having passed through an ordeal.

The man who had fired the shots had in the meantime been taken to the police station, the policemen having great difficulty in passing through the crowds of people, who showed intense anger and desired to wreak immediate vengeance on the man who had fired the shot. He was taken to the police station, where he was being held.

An "Individual Anarchist." At the police station, in spite of the man's had condition owing to the handling he had received from the police, he was submitted to a keen interrogation. He declared that his name was Antonio Dalba, that he was 21 years of age and that he was stone-mason. He described himself as an "individualist anarchist," and said that he made the attempt on the king's life as a protest against the organization of society.

All the circumstances lead to the belief that the assassin of His Majesty was not concerned in any plot of an organization. The spot near the Corso where Dalba attempted his regicidal act has been surrounded by excited crowds, waving Italian flags and shouting "Long live the king!" A large number of people also proceeded to the Quirinal, where they made another demonstration. Queen Narrowly Escaped.

Witnesses of the outrage on the king say it occurred at a few minutes after eight o'clock. Dalba reached the spot shortly before that hour. He rode a bicycle which he deposited in the doorway of the Salvati palace. When the royal procession was passing, and cheers were raised by the throngs on the sidewalks, Dalba nervously drew a revolver. Then with a trembling hand he pulled the trigger four times, but only three of the cartridges exploded.

The queen was seated on the side of the carriage nearest the would-be assassin, and if the bullets had been well aimed she probably would have been the victim.

The king appeared to be trying to reassure the queen, who threw her arms around him as she wished to protect him. He tried to comfort her by saying "Be tranquil; it is nothing," and seemingly reassured, she sat back as the procession went on to the Pantheon. The king said on his return to the palace: "Another man belonging to no country—a man without a fatherland!" The pope, when assured that the king was unharmed, ejaculated: "I thank God most fervently for having saved the king's life."

ASSOCIATIONS TO CO-OPERATE

Improvements Affecting the Whole City Discussed at Luncheon and Plans Will Soon Materialize.

At a luncheon in the National Club yesterday representatives of the High Park Ratepayers' Association, the College Heights Association, Ward Two Business Men's Association, Riverdale Business Men's Association, the Rosedale Association, the Northwest Ratepayers' Association and the Beach Association met in conference with the executive of the Civic Club under the chairmanship of Mr. J. B. O'Brien, president of the guild. The object of the meeting was to discuss questions of civic improvement of interest to the citizens generally, and to arrange for the continued co-operation of all the associations, especially in regard to improvements affecting the whole city. The conference was regarded by all present as very successful and likely to be productive of far-reaching results.

Celebrated Ninety-seventh Birthday, BELLEVILLE, March 14.—(Special.)—Mrs. Julian McCleod, who today celebrated the 97th anniversary of her birth, is the oldest resident of this city. She was born at Dickinson's Landing, Ont., in 1815. For 60 years Mrs. McCleod has resided in this city. She is hale and hearty.

ORIENTAL RUG AND ART SALE.

Public attention has been steadily maintained in the record sale, whether for extent or quality, of Oriental rugs and metal work. The rooms of Courlain, Babayan & Co. in East King street have attracted crowds of visitors and purchasers by the artistic offerings and favorable bargain opportunities. These will continue during the remainder of the week and until the whole stock has been realized. The rugs and other articles are all of high artistic value and many are the product of the best Persian and Eastern artists and craftsmen. No better chance to acquire really representative examples of woven fabrics and metal work has ever been offered to the Toronto public.

The Chances Against You

"Oh, I will be all right in a few days," says the person who is tired out and has to drag himself to his daily work, because the nervous system is exhausted. Unfortunately nervous diseases do not right themselves, and the wasting process which has brought you to this condition keeps right on until there is a complete breakdown. You must get the building-up process started, so that, instead of being a little weaker at the end of each day, you will find the balance on the other side and that you are gradually getting strong and well. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you wonderfully if you only give it a reasonable chance. As the system is built up you will find such symptoms as headache, sleeplessness and indigestion leaving you. You will find the old energy coming back. The mind and body will better serve you, and you will see a new pleasure in life.

PROVINCES TO POOL INTERESTS.

OTTAWA, March 14.—(Special.)—The minister of justice has received notification from the Hon. Mr. Tupper that he is in communication with the governments of the other western provinces with the object of having one representative from them all when the stated case on the ne temere decree is to be argued before the privy council. There has not been a great demand on the part of the provinces to be represented and it is felt that it would lessen expense to have as many of the provinces as possible which have identical interests represented by one man.

Naval Hero Killed by Wagon.

PARIS, March 14.—Vice-Admiral Jules Marie de Cavelier de Cuverville died to-day from injuries received last week when he was knocked down by a wagon. Admiral Cuverville was born in 1834. He was decorated in 1855 for bravery at Sebastopol, where he was seriously wounded. He took part in several campaigns, served for a time as naval attaché at London and became a rear admiral in 1888.

TRAIN WAS DELAYED.

The Grand Trunk train from Hamilton, No. 2, due in Toronto shortly after 10 p.m., ran into an obstruction at the foot of Strachan avenue. The baggage car was derailed and the passengers in the coaches shaken up, but nothing serious resulted. The track was cleared again in a couple of hours by the wrecking train from the city yards.

Dr. Johnson Returns.

Chief Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson returned to the city yesterday from Atlantic City, where he went to regain his health, after having been confined to his bed for three weeks with the grip. He is much improved.

Leaves for the West.

Mr. Gordon E. Hunter, formerly connected with the editorial staffs of Toronto newspapers, left last evening for Saskatoon, Sask., where he will assume the position of city editor of The Daily Phoenix of that city.
