Indian Motorcycle
With Powerplus Motor

At home and abroad in war activities the Indian Motorcycle demonstrated its superlative merit. The trustiness and durable strength of the Indian enabled our soldiers to carry on under the most difficult circumstances. Tested by a thousand emergencies the Indian never failed in its services. The esteem in which this machine was held can be estimated by the extent of its use. Only by closing all civilian markets could we cope with war demands.

Over 60% of the motorcycles used by the American Government were Indians.

Now that our government duties have been performed we are giving our full attention to civilian needs.

War necessities have made the Indian Motorcycle a better machine. That same machine that made possible the conducting of great war operations is restored to civilian markets. With greater efficiency and sound confidence you can now carry on with an Indian.

PROBLEM OF LIQUIDATING THE TURKISH EMPIRE IS ONE OF GREAT DELICACY

Any Way It Is Looked At There Is Breeding-Ground For Future Wars—Most Intricate Conglomeration of Racial and Political Interests—If U. S. Is Willing To Make Sacrifice Solution Will Be Simplified.

By Frank H. Simonds

Author of "The Great War," "They Shall Not Pass," (Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Paris, June 6.—Germany and Austria, having received their peace terms, it remains now to settle the problems presented by the Turkish Empire, which has also collapsed and must be dealt with in Paris.

Turkey presents two distinct questions—the question of Turkey in Europe, which is minor so far as territory is concerned, but of supreme importance on the strategic side, because it includes Constantinople and the northern shores of the Straits, and the problem of Turkey in Asia, which is, or was, an empire, greater than Germany or Austria in area, with a population approximately that of Spain.

The ultimate disposition of Turkey in Europe depends entirely upon the decision of the Paris conference. As to the future of Constantinople, if this city and the surrounding territories are to go to the natural heir, to the country most largely represented by the races inhabiting the region, then there is no question as to Greek rights.

IS HISTORICALLY GREEK.

From the beginning of history Constantinople has been Greek. It was the capital of the Byzantine Empire, which was Greek. It only fell to the Turks in the fifteenth century, and to the present day the Greeks have remained one of the largest elements in the city population. The shores of the Straits and of the Sea of Marmara are Hellenic in history and in population.

A SICKLY WIFE NO FIT MATE FOR ANY MAN

Girls and Women Should Look Well to Their Health and Strength.

Never before was physical health and vigor to higher and more eagerly sought for as today.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife, and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

Is your daughter growing up strong and healthy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she after the fall arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indifferent, and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plain to a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone quickly follows a strengthening of the blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill-health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalizing tonic.

It is specially suited for young women and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used.

Ferrozone is free from alcohol and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet and sold in 50c boxes, or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct from The Carthage Company, Kingston, Ont.

the shores of the Straits, Anatolia would be deprived of all its outlets to the sea, and some seven or eight million Turks would be penned up in Asia Minor.

As to Anatolia, previous agreements have made this question difficult also. Under one Franco-British arrangement, the French were to have the Gulf of Alexandretta, and Armenian territory between the Taurus Mountains and Amanus about Adana. This would deprive the Armenians of an outlet on the Mediterranean, and under American imperialism France has been persuaded to abandon this part of her claims. True, Armenia is a solid block of hinterland about the headwaters of the Euphrates and between Anatolia and the old Russian frontier, has all along been included as the site of the Armenian state, but in a very large part of this area, as a result of massacres, Armenians are in a minority. On the other hand, the collapse of Russia has made possible a union with Turkish Armenia of Russian Armenia, districts which are in far better condition both as to population and economic circumstances.

Russia May Make Claim.

But it must be recognized that if there is great opportunity in Armenia, there is a stupendous task, increased by the rivalries of the surrounding races. If Russia ever regains her full strength, she is likely to be bound not to demand the retrocession of her own Armenian districts, but also of those other Armenian districts, and for that matter of Constantinople, promised her in agreement with France and Great Britain. French interests in Syria, British concerns on the Euphrates, will be equally affected by the erection of a relatively strong Armenian state in what both will regard as the hinterland of their Syrian and Mesopotamian countries. Turkey may be expected to nourish the hope of reclaiming her Armenian provinces. Nor will the task be lighter in view of the great feud between the Mohammedan Kurds, actually majority now in Armenia.

After Effects OF INFLUENZA

Often as Serious as the Disease Itself—How to Get New Health.

There are few homes in Canada that were not touched by the sorrow that trailed in the wake of the Spanish Influenza epidemic. Estimates of the loss of life caused by this epidemic show that it was almost as great as the losses caused by the war, and these take no account of the baneful after-effects which are sometimes as fatal as the disease itself.

Victims of the disease are generally left with impoverished blood and a weakened system. In this condition they are exposed to many dangers unless precautions are taken to enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves. The debility that invariably follows influenza is not a disease of any organ. It is a general condition of weakness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly felt throughout the entire system. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found invaluable. The mission of this medicine is to enrich the blood, and this new, red blood carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body. The case of Mrs. George Louder, Hamilton, Ont., proves the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mrs. Louder says: "I had a very severe attack of Spanish Influenza which left me pale and very weak. My appetite completely failed me and the least noise would startle me and make me cry. I was under a doctor's care, and finally he advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them long before I could tell they were helping me. I used altogether nine or ten boxes and am now feeling as well as ever I did in my life. I believe if I had not been for these pills I would have been a chronic invalid."

Such proof as this must be interesting to everyone who suffered from an attack of influenza, and who still feel in any way weakened as the result of the trouble. It points the way to new health and strength, and if you are one of the sufferers you should avail yourself of this medicine at once. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Would Need Large Army.

The mandatory for Constantinople, Anatolia and Armenia would mean the employment of an army of a quarter of a million Americans for an extended period of time. It would mean an enormous task of organization, industrially as well as politically, and it would mean inevitable participation in all disputes of the future in the Near East. It would mean, in reality, that Europe had transferred to the United States the gigantic task of solving the old eastern problem, which is and remains beyond European possibilities. But America would find herself handicapped in such a solution by the fact that the essential parts of the territory affected have already been assigned to Italy and Greece, including the natural borders of Armenia.

It remains now to deal with the Arabian portion of the old Turkish Empire, lying south of the latitude of the Gulf of Alexandretta. Here, now, the problem presents itself. Under British auspices, there has arisen a pan-Arab movement and a new Arab kingdom. With British authority, the King of the Hedjaz has accepted nominal control over all the Arab regions from the Red Sea to the Cilician Gates, including Syria, Mesopotamia, Palestine, and Arabia. Thousands of Arab troops fought with Allenby, and their aid contributed much to the defeat of the Turk.

But if the British encouraged the King of the Hedjaz to conquer, with their aid, these old Arab regions, they assigned Syria to France, and recognized a special French claim in these districts, which goes back to the time of the Crusades. Thus the British find themselves in the presence of two pledges, totally opposed, one made to the King of the Hedjaz, and the other to the French, and out of this conflict has come one of the most acute questions of the Paris conference.

Today a solution seems in sight. France is to have a restricted Syria, which will include the territories between the upper Euphrates and the Mediterranean, south of the latitude of Alexandretta, extending to Palestine and the great desert. Beyond Aleppo, Damascus, are to fall within the French sphere. France is to rule here under a mandatory of the League of Nations, but with special recognition of certain of the claims of the King of the Hedjaz. In the same way, Great Britain is to have Mesopotamia as far north as Diarbekir and Mosul, and Palestine—that is to say, the territories which have peculiar importance for India and for Egypt.

Monster Tangle.

But it will be seen by this brief review how incomplete and fragmentary, after all, are the settlements or expedients which are being adopted so far as Turkey is concerned. After all, it is as difficult to liquidate the Turkish Empire as it is to divide the world. There is the same welter of races without, from without, in placing Italy on the south shores of Asia Minor, where they have no rights based on the will of the population. In creating divisions in the Arab population between the French and the British, the way has been opened for an indefinite period of unrest. Certainly the Turk has shown himself incapable of self-government.

By contrast, dividing the territory which is economically a unit in Asia Minor, as in the old Austria-Hungary, opens the way to vast difficulties that nature, and in these difficulties the United States will be involved if she accepts any mandatory in this region. I do not think there is any question that the Armenian population would welcome an American mandatory. I do not think there is any doubt that, because of her lack of self-interest in that region, the United States should be the best mandatory. Or the other hand, to take Constantinople, Anatolia and Armenia would be to take a country certainly as great in area as France and Italy, populated by a people of many races, holding several faiths, who racially and religiously have been fighting for a thousand years.

To take Armenia would mean a small task, but one not the less complicated. Even the faithful discharge of this task did not involve war with any great power, it would in the nature of things lead to endless disputes, with Russia, British, French and Italians, to say nothing of Greeks, Armenians, Turks and Arabs. But if America does not take a mandatory in the disappearing Turkish Empire, then nothing is more certain than that this old battleground will become once more the scene of conflict, alike between the ambitions of

FARM LOANS for SOLDIERS

How Everyone Can Help

THE Government has developed a liberal and broad plan to help soldiers settle on farm land. It is securing land. It is granting substantial loans. It is obtaining advantageous prices of equipment, implements, building materials and livestock. It is providing agricultural training and farming supervision.

That is as much as the Government itself can do. But the plan needs more. It needs a community spirit of co-operation.

Already Provincial Governments, Universities, Farmers' Associations, and Veterans' Associations are giving valuable assistance. Many manufacturers and sellers of farm supplies have agreed to allow the soldier settlers special prices. Many successful farmers have willingly worked on Qualification Committees which have to pass on the applicants. Men who have had experience in lending money on farm property are serving on Advisory Loan Committees, judging land values.

But even such practical assistance is not enough. Each community farmers can be of real service to the soldier settler. They can give him advice about local conditions. They can lend him an extra horse or plough, give him a day's help at seeding or harvest time, and extend to him the friendly, neighborly, respectful spirit which he deserves.

In this way Canada is performing a double duty. It is discharging, as far as possible, the debt we owe to our soldiers; and it is adding to the country's chief industry a body of competent, willing producers.

Full information about lands and loans for soldiers will be sent on request to the Provincial Superintendent, Soldier Settlement Board, 32 Adelaide Street East, Toronto, Ont.
