gate further before making a dennite proposition.

The offer to build a miniature railway was received at the last meeting. The dance hall proposition was brought forward Thursday. The persons making the offer say they are willing to build a dance hall at a cost of $10,000 or $20,000, and pay the city a fixed sum or a percentage of the receipts for the privilege.

"We can't stop the people across the road from having a dance hall, and we might as well benefit as they," said Mr. Buchanan.

The commission plans building another 10,000,000-gallon reservoir next year. As only the first one can be completed this year, it was not thought necessary to issue $200,000 'debentures now, as the interest and sinking fund would have to be provided immediately. A statement of the need for the reservoir will be printed in the annual report, which the city sends out to voters.

A report on the extension of street lighting was tabled for further consideration with a committee to be appointed by the city council.

"That is a good point. We would have more direct control of it," said Commissioner T. W. McFarland.

"We have the room down there, and could make money without detracting from the beauty of the park," said Commissioner Jared Vining. "We shouldn't interfere with the use of the park as a recreation ground though."

The matter was laid over, pending a more concrete proposal.

May Appeal Assessment.

The commission may appeal the assessment on some of the park land in London Township. The county assesses it at $125 an acre. Commissioner Vining said that the land in the vicinity was selling for that price, so that the assessment was obviously unfair. The matter was left with the parks board.

Assessment on C. P. R. Depot Reduced $2,800—Company Claims G. T. R. Pays Less Taxes.

So many cases, mostly of a minor nature, were brought before the court of revision on Thursday afternoon that it will have to resume its sitting on the list.

Representatives of the C. P. R. asked that the assessment on their station belowered. They claimed that they were providing better accommodation by constructing a new building, but that the G. T. R. was paying less taxes. The C. P. R. assessment, which was $27,800 was reduced to $25,000.

There were no special subscriptions received yesterday yesterday is a subscription of the teams being entirely responsible for the amount taken.

Fifty-one people of East Middlesex is the unanimous opinion of the London Housing Commission, which at its meeting last night found that it had a house nearing completion under which there was a large cellar, but no means of reaching it except through a window. The house was approved by the Toronto Housing Commission and means of reaching it except through a window. The house was approved by the Toronto Housing Commission and is a perfectly good house except in this

As attention to the furnace and various other chores which require the householders presence in the cellar promised to be rather arduous via the window route, the commission decided window route, the commission decided to build an outside cellarway. They can't build one within the house because the rooms would then be less than the size required by the provincial commission.

A plan for a group of houses on the Hamilton road was received from Thos. Adams, Dominion Government townplanning adviser. A plan of the same nature is being prepared by J. A. Ellis of the provincial commission. These will be compared.

Denial that the Provincial Government has refused to furnish any money for the local housing scheme until London's full allotment of $400,000 debentures is sold was contained in a letter from Mr. Ellis. The report appeared in a Toronto paper.

"The province has never in any case refused to pay over to the municipality."

"The province has never in any case refused to pay over to the municipality any part of the funds for the housing scheme until such time as the whole issue of debentures for any municipality has been disposed of," said Mr. Ellis. As a matter of fact, the practice has been quite the contrary.

70 Municipalities Building.

"Over seventy municipalities are now constructing houses, and in every one of these cases advances have been made on progress estimates without any insistence upon such a condition as is mentioned in the newspaper item "Many municipalities have passed debenture bylaws, but it is only in debenture bylaws, but it is only in cases where the amount each munici-pality proposes to borrow has been pretty definitely fixed that the municiprietry definitely fixed that the indusci-pality has issued the debentures.

"In the case of London there is no possible objection to your housing com-mission receiving advances on pro-gress estimates from time to time as grees estimates from time to time as required. When a reasonable amount of money has been paid by the province I shall ask you to deposit, with the province, debentures for the actual amount so paid. It must be remembered that in no case coul a municipality become liable for anything except money actually received."

VOICES OF THE PEOPLE

OUR RECENT ELECTION, To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I think we must all acknowledge that our recent election in Ontario was a re-markable one. The rapid growth of the U. F. O. movement has been a surprise to many, and yet I have been a surprised that if had not taken place long ago. Justice and equal rights have not prevailed in our land. But these are coming to the top, and the sooner the better. I believe the farmers have taken the right method to accomplish the work. I have had much sympathy with the labor element, but I have none in the labor element, but I have none in their extreme methods of gaining just and equal rights. The action of the U.F. O, has given them a wise lesson. Evolution and not revolution should be our methods, but the governments of this world have been unwise in their methods, and some of our organizations have been foolishly following in their footstars. Our election down themed also footsteps. Our election day showed also the high standing of the farming com-munity on moral reforms in its vote on prohibition, as it often has before. We are now anxious for a Dominion election in order to found a government upon justice and rightness for all classes. The great effort of the people should be to make the kingdoms of this world the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ. So long as we are ruled by a few autocrats and aristocrats this will not be brought about. The people must rule, and the people must be ruled by the Supreme Ruler—the God of Love. We must follow the "Golden Rule"—"Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Love and not hatred, peace and not war, will bring about these better conditions. Preparations for war will not bring lasting peace. A great American general

Preparations for war will not bring last. ing peace. A great American general once said that "War was hell." Militarism is hell, and if we say that peace is to be brought about by militarism it would be just as logical to say that the proper way to get to heaven is to prepare for hell. I believe that this beautiful world, which we have so desecrated will yet be ruled by the spirit of love, and justice to all.

Since writing the above I was surprised and pleased to find in soday's Advertiser the editorial, "The Father of the Quakers." I think the world should know more of the ideals of Quakerism. They are the ideals of Jesus, and should become the ideals of Jesus, and should become the ideals of mankind, and shall, I believe, in time. But we are retarding that time by the unChristlike methods of national and international government. The Quakers have, for their numbers, and in their quiet way, exerted a wonderful influence for the hetterment of menkind. quiet way, exerted a wonderful influ-ence for the betterment of mankind. They have endeavored to keep near to God and to do his will rather than their own will. And for this they have been persecuted, imprisoned, and even put to death. But so was Jesus, by the un-

What the world needs, even the so what the world needs, even the so-called Christian world, is to acknowledge the supremacy of God, and to do his will in all things. This alone will estab-lish the kingdom of love, justice and righteousness among men.
