

"LLIBOLLEH"

THERE isn't a mite of sense to the above word as it looks at first glance, and it was only the fancy of the ad. man to put down backwards a form of greeting used by one friend to another the other day. "Hello Bill," is what he said, "Have you bought your summer suit yet?" A passing street car drowned Bill's answer, but as the ad. man went by he saw the friend pointing to our store and gestulating in an argumentative manner. Possibly he'd been in and bought one of our nifty two-piece suits, and wanted his friend to do likewise. And do you know that a lot of sales are made that way; a friend tells you where, and you go to look anyway. We are on a handy corner in a busy centre and hundreds of men drop in here to look for comfort in the way of cool clothes and our salesmen are expert comforters when it comes to slipping you into a cool, comfortable suit.

The Price adds more balm to the tired feelings because the "touch" is light.

RUSS WEAKNESS AIDS IMPERIALISM

Russian Delegate Insists on Re-establishment of Military Power.

Rome, Aug. 12.—M. Rosanoff, the delegate to Italy of the Russian Council of Government and Workmen's Delegates, in a report addressed to the council, says that there exists in Germany a revolutionary movement, the success of which, however, is hardly probable. Russian military weakness, he adds, is serving German imperialism; the Russian offensive had compelled the German Reichstag to vote a peace resolution, but the Russian check on the southwestern front has re-established the morale of the Berlin military authorities. Nevertheless, he contends, the situation in the central powers remains precarious. M. Rosanoff's report concludes:

"The success of the Stockholm conference depends on the attitude of our French and English comrades. It depends also on ourselves. Developments like July 18-19 (the period of anti-government demonstrations in Petrograd), compromised the prestige of the council of soldiers and workmen's delegates, not only abroad but in Russia. That is the reason why we must seek with all the means at our command to overcome economic disorganization and to re-establish our military power."

AMERICAN REFUGEES SUFFER BIG HARDSHIPS

Swiss Press Reports Condition of Jews Expelled By Turks.

Geneva, Aug. 12.—The Swiss press is indignant over the condition of American Jews from Palestine and Syrian towns who have arrived in Switzerland after eight weeks of constant travelling under terrible conditions. La Suisse says: "We have seen many unfortunate refugees of several nationalities pass through our country, but never have they been so miserable as the Americans."

The Zürcher Zeitung says the old men, women and children among the refugees had been unable to change their linen for eight weeks and that the majority of them were covered with vermin. They also were half starved.

The American consular service in Switzerland is taking care of the refugees, many of whom will not be able to continue their voyage to America for some time owing to bad health. The blame for the condition of the refugees is placed on the Austrian and Turkish governments.

terday. In the air fighting three German machines were downed and four others were driven down out of control. Two of our aeroplanes were forced to land behind the enemy line and three other British machines are missing.

"For the first time in over ten days (Friday) a full day's flying was possible. Enemy aircraft showed itself in a great many places, attempting to prevent our artillery work and attacking our bombing machines. In spite of their efforts a great deal of observation work was carried on by us. A large number of photos were taken of many targets on the ground engaged effectively with machine gunfire, and in the course of the day and night six and one-half tons of bombs were dropped on enemy aeroplanes, ammunition depots and other places of military importance. Fighting was very severe all day and the enemy was encountered in large formation. Ten German machines were brought down by our aeroplanes, five others were driven down out of control and another was driven down out of control by gunfire. Twelve of our machines are missing."

Italians Also Raid.

An Italian official communication says: "During the evening our flights, strongly escorted, bombed the enemy's military works in the Chiapano Valley, dropping three tons of high explosive. Intense anti-aircraft fire was of no effect, and numerous hostile pursuing planes were strongly attacked by our machines and forced to withdraw. One was seen to land in the direction of Pianina, east of Monte Nero. On Wednesday an enemy airplane after a brisk fight with one of our chasing machines, was forced to land near Tolmino. Another enemy machine was brought down yesterday within our lines west of Fiondara. The airman was made prisoner."

FOE AVIATORS ACTIVE.

Petrograd, Aug. 12.—Squadrons of German aeroplanes have dropped bombs in the region of the Town of Snow, in the direction of Barunovich and on the village of Molodotino.

SCORE'S CLEARING OF DUCK AND FLANNEL TROUSERS.

The summer is young and the vacation period will live for weeks yet—and that suggests a cool apparel for the gentleman—and what more desirable and comfortable than a complement of "duck" and "flannel" trousers? Duck trousers, regular $25, selling for $15.50. Flannels and fine English worsted trousers, regular $17, for $12.50 and all things else in appropriate "togery" to complete a vacation wardrobe. R. WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

GERMAN aeroplanes of an unspecified number made an attack on the southeastern counties of England yesterday and dropped bombs on Southend, Rochford and Margate. The bursting projectiles killed 23 persons, eight men, nine women, six children, and they injured about 22 persons. British machines flew up and chased the Germans out to sea. Thus the air raids of the enemy continue in accordance with his policy of terrorism towards the civil population. It appears established, as a result of the debates over a reprisals in England, that this matter is purely a military matter and that the truest form of defence is the offensive against the enemy's aerodromes on the Belgian coast, whence he attacks England. The further away from the coast line the enemy will have to retreat the more difficult it will be for him to reach the shores of England. It is also pretty generally agreed that a raiding of enemy towns in a pure tit for tat policy would be a waste of military effort.

Frankton-on-the-Main tasted yesterday the same sort of frightfulness that London and other allied towns have tasted, when two intrepid Frenchmen and daring flight and dropped bombs on this city. The French war office reports that both aviators returned safely. The raid was in reprisal for the German bombardments of Nancy and the region north of Paris.

The Gloucester Wood, about half of which has fallen again into German possession, thru enemy counter-attacks, represents the last high strategic value that the enemy deems any sacrifice of troops would not make the cost of recapturing it too great. Two British battalions encountered the enemy and they resisted his onsets with great bitterness and ferocity. Eventually, sheer weight of numbers bore them back to the northwestern part of the wood. There they defied all attempts at dislodging them. They attacked the enemy and gained some ground on the Westhoek ridge. They attacked the enemy and gained some ground on the right bank of the Steenbeek River, near the Ypres railway. They took in the fighting hereabouts, since Aug. 10, 454 prisoners and six guns. Their aviators still maintain the aerial supremacy, although the enemy has again attempted seriously to dispute it. The Canadians, at the siege of Lens, omitted yesterday a quantity of gas against the suburb of St. Laurent.

The Russo-Rumanians have not yet checked the advance of Von Mackensen in the Fokshani region, altho by their strong counter-attacks they have managed to delay it. The Russians even regained the southeastern bank of the Suchitza River, but at nightfall they and the Rumanians had to fall back to other positions. The enemy claims that he took 6700 prisoners and captured 18 cannon and 51 machine guns. The Russians captured 1200 Germans. They, in southeastern Moldavia, opened a counter-offensive, smashed the enemy's lines and took many prisoners and four guns. The partial offensive undertaken by the enemy near Brody on the Russian southwestern front has ended in his complete failure.

The firmness of Premier Lloyd George in dismissing Arthur Henderson for his betrayal of the government probably averts a serious political crisis. The British workmen who voted for representation at the Stockholm socialist conference plainly believed the British Government favored their action, because a member of the Petrograd created the premier. The sending of Arthur Henderson to Petrograd created great misgivings. Steadying organs of public opinion condemned the premier for the extreme levity of his appointments for this important mission. Mr. Henderson apparently endorsed the creation of a soldiers' and workmen's council in Russia as a rival power to the government, and when he returned, after admitting the gravity of the Russian situation, caused in great part by movement in Great Britain by using the participation of British labor in a peace conference in Sweden, thereby usurping the functions of government on behalf of a minority of the population. The effects of Henderson's conduct will, perhaps, not spend themselves until the government appeals to the country.

Military and naval engineers will be substituted for the strikers. Serious measures have been prepared but the government does not intend to anticipate any repressive acts.

The Northern Railroad Co. has given the men 48 hours to abandon the strike. If they fail to do so they will be definitely dismissed. The general impression is favorable.
