

should be sent wherever there is a human mind to be illuminated, and a human heart to be filled with the love of Christ. Church governments have failed to keep the truth alive; organizations commencing in zealous impulses have degenerated; mystic illuminations, whether of the past or modern times, have emitted but a feeble glare. The light that lighteth every man is from above. It alone dispels the shadows of earth and brightens the path that leads to higher glories. Man indeed is frail. God alone is strong and wise. His word endureth forever.

REPORT.

The New Brunswick Auxiliary Bible Society has now been permitted to do some little work for the Master for two thirds of a century—a respectable age for institutions on this side of the Atlantic. In presenting this your committee would gratefully acknowledge the Divine goodness. They have been permitted to meet regularly and have sought to carefully perform their duties, which, though limited, have now to be described. Early in the year one member of the committee was removed by death, James Flewelling. For many years he represented Portland on the committee, and up to the time of his death continued to manifest a warm interest in the society. As directed by you at the last anniversary, the Annual Report of the Auxiliary was published as early as possible.

THE TREASURER'S BOOKS

were kept open until 1st of May and showed a slight falling off in the income of the Auxiliary, as compared with the
