ANOTHER RUMPUS IN THE GENERAL PUBLIC HOSPITAL

Two Nurses are Dismissed and Three Doctors Resign in Consequence--A Serious State of Affairs

The exact state of affairs that has existed in the Public Hospital will in all probability be disclosed within the next few days, as the result of the commissioners dismissing two of the nurses and as a consequence also of the resignations of the three house doctors, viz., Dr. W. J. Scott, superintendent, and the assistant resident physicians, Dr. Shirley O. McMurtry and Dr. W. S. Loggie. The dismissals were made Friday and the resignations took effect Saturday morning, when visitors could have seen the physicians taking up their packs and departing from the institution.

The resignations and the dismissals followed an infraction of the regulations of the institution and the affair will not in the least affect the good name or professional standing of any of the parties concerned. A by-law states that, save in the ordinary routine of the hospital, the nurses are not to associate with the doctors, and it is reported that on Wednesday night last Drs. Scott and McMurtry had by invitation spent the evening at the home of the parents of one of the nurses, on which occasion the two nurses who were dismissed were present.

The superintendent of nurses, Miss Duff, was notified of the occurrence by a nurse, and an investigation was held, with the result that the crisis came at the meeting of the commissioners, which was held Friday afternoon. At 11 o'clock the same evening the three doctors handed in their resignations to Dr. T. Walker, stating that they would go out the following morning at nine o'clock.

It is understood that Dr. Walker asked a few local doctors to fill the vacancies and finally obtained the services of Drs.

W. L. Ellis and Dr. D. Malcolm, a McGill graduate. The resigning doctors took themselves to the Clifton, and they anxiously await the holding of an inquiry by the commissioners this afternoon.

The investigation on Friday was held by Dr. Thos. Walker, president of the commissioners; Dr. H. G. Addy and Henry Hilyard. Dr. Daniel was absent, being at Ottawa.

It is stated that the nurses admitted the facts and it is understood that one of the resigning doctors made a statement which he said he could prove, and which if true would make very interesting reading. Dr. Loggie, although not immediately connected with the matter, said that he could not reconcile himself to the state of affairs existing in the hospital.

The three commissioners refused to talk. It is said that there is a difference of opinion among the commissioners on the recent action of the committee and that some are in favor of reinstating the nurses with a warning to comply with the regulations hereafter.

Drs. Loggie and McMurtry handed in their resignations on June 14, as they intended leaving in any event, but Dr. Scott had planned to remain another year.

Many medical men view the state of affairs as very serious, as they claim that there are cases in the hospital that only the three resigning doctors are thoroughly acquainted with.

Scandal Shrouds Roosevelt Home Club Operations.

Offices of R.E. Mylius and G.F. Graham in the Flatiron Building

NEW YORK, June 16.—Sincere friends of President Roosevelt in New York and elsewhere are expressing pronounced disapproval of methods employed by a few persons associated with the Roosevelt Home Club in raising funds to purchase, as a memorial, the house at No. 28 East Twentieth street, where the president was born. While it is represented by the club solicitors that the president has given his tacit approval to all that is being done, it is known by his intimate friends that he is ignorant of the inside workings of the movement, and it is expected that his vigorous repudiation will follow speedily upon the heels of an investigation which some of his real friends are preparing to bring about.

There are few public officials or wealthy persons known or supposed to be admirers of Mr. Roosevelt who have not been requested by personal solicitation or letter to contribute to the fund. Some of the names have been employed on large commissions, letters by the thousands have been sent into all parts of the country, and the names of prominent persons have been used without their knowledge or consent.

While this diversified work of solicitation has been going on for months, certain members of the club who have withdrawn from the organization are adding embarrassment to the situation by asserting that they have been unable to find out how much money has been received or what disposition has been made of all it. On the other hand, promoters of the enterprise declare that the undertaking has been a failure and that they are out of pocket many thousands of dollars. Most of the criticism and inquiry at present centers about the Public Funds Committee and a so-called "secret contract" which four members of the committee have with the club for financing the memorial enterprise. Outside of Rodrick Begg, president of the club, who drew the contract, and a few other officers, no member of the club has been allowed to see the document or know its terms.

Mr. Begg and members of the committee say that it provides that the four men shall put in a certain sum of money, about $6,000, on the purchase of the house, shall have entire charge of raising the balance of the fund, pay all expenses out of their own pockets, but shall receive no compensation until after the house has been paid for and turned over to the government, and possibly not until after the president's death.

It is the question as to the real terms of the contract and particularly as to the matter of compensation that has occasioned much of the trouble in the club. Members of the committee declare they are doing the work and paying all expenses through patriotism and with no other motive. Others insist that the compensation is a very large commission—so large, in fact, that to make it known would create a public scandal.

George E. Graham, formerly a newspaper man in Albany and more recently manager for Proctor's Theatre, became active in the club, and he and Mr. Begg went to Washington to lay before the president a new plan for placing the memorial on a business basis. Mr. Graham was a personal friend of the president and says that Mr. Roosevelt thoroughly understood the new plan and approved it. Mr. Roosevelt's friends declare that the president has always looked with disfavor on the enterprise. Soon after the Washington visit the Public Funds Committee took hold, and disturbing developments began. This committee is composed of S. Pratt, who is at the head of a large bill posting business; O. F. Veider, Mr. Pratt's brother-in-law; Peter E. Mylius, one of Mr. Pratt's solicitors; Thomas J. Crotty, Mr. Pratt's secretary; Peter Begg, brother of the club's president, and Mr. Graham. Mr. Mylius and Mr. Graham occupy a suite of expensive furnished offices on the tenth floor of the Flatiron Building. Mr. Graham, with the prestige of the president's personal acquaintance, assumed charge of the literary end of the business and put in his share of the $6,000. Crotty and Peter Begg were not included in the "secret contract." Mr. Begg resigned from the committee at its last meeting.

What has most disturbed the friends of the president is the unauthorized use that has been made of his name. In the literature sent out there is a long list of honorary members, with Vice-President Fairbanks at the head. Then follow the names of thirteen United States senators, thirty-three governors of states, many of them being quoted as giving warmest endorsement to the undertaking. After these comes another long list of prominent citizens, representatives in congress, state legislators and officials. Andrew Carnegie and General Horace Porter head this list.

WEARY WILLIE WALKER

As far as can be officially learned every essential element of fun and music device enters into a musical comedy composition entitled "Weary Willie Walker" which comes to the Opera House next Thursday. At the same time the fact should not be lost sight of, that a story of laughing interest has been made to do the ground work for the national employment of an extremely prepossessing lot of girls, whose principal duties are to sing with discretion, act sprightly and to wear pretty gowns becomingly. As for the comedians, they are said to find abundant chances to exercise some very exceptional fun talent. In all other respects "Weary Willie Walker" is guaranteed to measure up handsomely with the highest musical comedy achievements ever attained, and to out class by far the general average in the manner of elaborate production.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the St. John District of the Methodist church met in annual convention at Bloomfield on Saturday. Reports were submitted, and there were addresses by Miss Ellen Todd, who has been doing missionary work in Bengal, India, and Miss McIntyre, who spoke on "Personal Responsibility." Miss Sarah Smith read a paper entitled "The Value of Missionary Literature." Last year the auxiliary raised $2,053 for the woman's work.

The Bachelor Girls' Association, left on the Halifax express Saturday night to spend Sunday with Mrs. Pooley at Brightwood, Rothesay, where they spent a very enjoyable day.

INTERESTING SERVICE

Children and Chinese Scholars Participate in Special Exercises in Brussels Street Church.

A very interesting service was conducted in Brussels street Baptist church yesterday morning, when the children of the Sunday school and members of the Chinese class presented a pleasing programme. There was a good attendance at the service and all thoroughly enjoyed the exercises. The programme was as follows: Organ voluntary, hymn No. 123, "Praise Him," prayer by pastor, Rev. A. B. Cohoe; solo, Miss Byrl Blanche; recitation, Frank Kiewstead; solo and chorus, Miss Kathleen Golding; recitation, Helen Garter; recitation, Miss Jennie Matthews; solo, Miss Willie Stammers; recitation, Douglas Oliver; recitation, Miss Vera McKay; chorus, Summer Land, by the school and choir. There was also a solo and scripture reading by members of the Chinese class.

Rev. A. B. Cohoe, delivered a short address in which he gave the young people some good advice, telling them to be always truthful, if they did or said anything wrong to be not ashamed to acknowledge it. Mrs. Cohoe acted as accompanist for the children, her work at the piano adding much to the success of the entertainment. The Chinese department which is under the direction of Mrs. J. N. Golding Sr., is a very important feature of the Sunday school work, and the scholars are all very eager to learn.
