ADVANCING IN EAST AFRICA
British and Belgian Columns Close in on Germans.

London, Aug. 28.—The British official statement on the East African war theatre reports further advances of the British and Belgian forces against the Germans. The text follows:

In East Africa the enemy has been driven back eight miles in the Tindi area. In the Kilima area the enemy has partly withdrawn towards the Mbanikuru Valley. Belgian columns are moving south from Kilima.

"At Mpepos, sixty-five miles southwest of Mahenge, our columns have invested a considerable German force, in the southern area we are approaching Tundara, the enemy's supply centre."

The City Cornet Band rendered an excellent programme of music last evening to one of the largest crowds that has gathered in King square this season.

Yesterday morning a horse owned by the St. John Ice Company broke through the plank on the wharf at Reed's Point. The fire was extinguished by the firemen the animal was rescued.

Dr. F. P. Fleming's automobile caught fire yesterday afternoon in Waterloo street. The fire was extinguished by a bucket of water. About $25 damage was caused to the machine.

George Corey, of Springfield, Mass., and Miss Selma Sullivan, of Brunswick street, were married in the Cathedral yesterday morning, by Rev. Wm. M. Duke.

Michael George and Mrs. Charles George were attendants. After the ceremony breakfast was served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, 27 Brunswick street. Mr. and Mrs. Corey will live in Springfield.

BONUS FOR THE FEMALE TEACHERS IN CITY SCHOOLS

A special meeting of the school board was held last evening, at which it was decided to grant the female teachers a bonus of $60 extending over a period of six months, dating from July 1, 1917, to December 31, 1917. $80 of this bonus being paid on October 1 and $10 a month for the remaining three months.

Those present at the meeting were R. B. Emerson, chairman; Trustees Mrs. Dever, Mrs. Taylor, Mr. Coll, Mr. Day, Mr. Smith, Green, Russell, Dr. H. S. Bridges, Secretary Leavitt and Miss Reid, stenographer.

When the meeting had been called to order by the chairman, R. B. Emerson, Mr. Russell moved that the action of the committee in purchasing $60,000 worth of Alberta province five year bonds be confirmed. These bonds yield 6 1/4 per cent yearly. This motion was carried.

$100 Increase Proposed.
The consideration of increasing the female teachers' salaries, which was the chief business of the evening, was then brought before the board. Earlier in the year it had been proposed that the female teachers' salaries be raised $100 a year. Thomas Nagle was the first to offer any suggestion last night, and he moved that the salaries of all the female teachers of the staff be increased $100 a year, dating from April 1, 1917, and that the minimum salary for the reserve teachers be $400 per annum, instead of $300 as it is at present. There are at present about 191 female teachers on the staff and this would mean an increase of $19,100 for a year, but up to the end of the Christmas term it would mean only $13,370. This motion was seconded by Mr. Smith.

Mr. Russell moved that a bonus of $80 should be granted the female teachers to be paid on the last of December. G. E. Day's amendment was that the bonus should be paid the teachers, $80 on October 1 and $10 a month for the remaining three months. This amendment was carried.

A Great Fur Year
Down in the cellar the raw furs are stored in bales and stacks. There are great quantities of glossy beaver, mink, fox, lynx and coyote and husky dog from western Canada, of creatures you never heard of from all the continents on earth. America and Russia lead, but there is hardly a country that does not contribute something. Most of the furs are of the highest quality, because of high ocean freight rates and heavy submarine insurance, but the well-dressed woman must have all the varieties at whatever cost. The manufacturers are pretty good at making disguises. Skunk makes a fair grade of Russian sable. But some furs cannot well be imitated—Persian lamb, for example. This is the greatest year the American fur business has ever known. Right after the war broke out the industry was somewhat disorganized. The fur auctions had always been held in London, and many of our native furs crossed the water and came back. Then, too, there was a large export trade, and a good part of the manufacturing was done in Europe. When shipments of all kinds ceased, the machinery of the fur business was necessarily thrown out of gear.

Competing With H. B. C.
But it soon became apparent that the disaster was not as great as it had appeared. A fur auction in New York was organized and has been held twice a year ever since with increasing success. New York is also a great fur manufacturing centre. Even before the war more furs were manufactured here than in London, Moscow or Paris, and the industry has now been so expanded and improved that it can get along very well without any assistance from Europe. Emboldened by success at least one great New York manufacturer has made the daring move of establishing a branch in the wilds of Canada to buy furs directly from the trappers. This means nothing else than competition with the great and famous Hudson Bay Company. But the fur dealer who has made the move is not than satisfied with the result. He has built an establishment on Peace River, in the heart of the Canadian fur country, and is bidding for trade by giving the trapper a better "assortment" than do the Hudson Bay posts, by paying cash and by selling merchandise at as small a profit as he possibly can. This year he brought out a nice lot of furs.

Fur Fashions
Fur styles do not change as rapidly as those in other lines, but there is enough variation to keep the designers busy, while different kinds of furs go in and out of style. For example, many years ago there was a great demand for Russian squirrel, from which a wrap made like a Mexican poncho, with a hole for the head, was made. This passed out of fashion 20 years ago and with it Russian squirrel. This year squirrel is coming back, and you can see great quantities of the little grey skins in the dealers' storehouses. The Russian squirrel, unlike any of the American species, has a very fine, soft fur. The favorite fur coat this year will be a loose-fitting one falling to the hips. It is made in Hudson seal, trimmed with marten, mole and kolinsky. Coats falling below the knees are generally made of seal skin also, and are belted at the waist. Long coats are often made of caracul trimmed with Hudson seal.

In Favor of Fox
The woman who can afford it may have a great variety of furs. The shops this year are showing an unusual variety

"Fruit-a-lives" Again Proves Its Extraordinary Powers

Rochon, Que., March 2, 1915.
"I have received the most wonderful benefit from taking 'Fruit-a-lives'. I suffered for years from Rheumatism and change of life, and I took every remedy obtainable without result. I tried 'Fruit-a-lives' and it was the only medicine that really did me good. Now I am entirely cured. The Rheumatism has disappeared and the terrible pain in my body are all gone. I hope that others who suffer from such distressing disease will try 'Fruit-a-lives'."

Furs One Will Wear or Want To

Will Be Fashionable But Expensive
Dealers Are Preparing

Drawing Upon the Countries of Earth for Rare and Beautiful Peltries for Women's Comfort and Adornment

Furs are to be very fashionable this fall and very expensive. The dealers of New York are busy preparing to meet this happy combination of circumstances; they are drawing upon all the fur producing countries on earth for the rare and beautiful peltries that wealthy women demand. A glimpse of the storerooms of one of the big importers is truly impressive. You may see, according to Frederick Hasken in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, for example, a rack perhaps 40 feet long, loaded with silver fox skins and representing an investment of nearly $100,000, for each raw skin is worth from $200 to $1,000. There are long tables piled high with fur of red fox, snow-white, soft, fluffy reds and browns. Mink and marten and sable hang in rich glossy festoons from the roofs, as do bunches of ermine, snow-white, save for the faint golden tinge on the sides. There are great stacks of Australian racoon, which is to be a popular fur this fall, and South American guanaco, which will be much worn by little girls.
