The news cables from London have, of course, carried his speech fully but it is possible that some of them have not grasped the real significance of the warning that South Africa lacks loyalty to the Empire and can only develop full faith therein if her independent national status is internationally recognized. The test of this in Hertzog's mind is the position of the Dominions in case of war. the Dominions in case of war.

WHAT HERTZOG WANTS It has already been recognized throughout the Empire that no Dominion need participate in British wars except voluntarily, but under the basis of the principle that when the Empire is at war all the Dominions are at war, there is nothing to prevent any Dominion even though not participating in military efforts from being attacked by the enemy with whom the Empire is at war.
