GAS KILLS MAN AND 2 WHO TRY TO RESCUE HIM

Workmen in Bayside Pit Meet Untimely Deaths— Firemen Overcome

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Three men were killed by gas yesterday in a cistern at 61 Bell avenue, Bayside, Queens, one of them in trying to rescue the first who was overcome and the third in an attempt to save the two others. Two firemen were overcome in the rescue work and were revived by pulmonologists. Those killed were:

Charles Nagle, of 8001 101st street, Corona, Queens, a fireman of Engine 805, Bayside.
John Ferderowitch, of 27 Prince street, Bayside, a stone mason.
Steve Lepic, of 68 Prince street, Bayside, a laborer, employed by Ferderowitch.

The firemen overcome were: John Whalen, Hook and Ladder 123, Bayside; taken to Flushing Hospital.
Daniel Flanagan, Engine 306; treated and sent home.
Ferderowitch was repairing the cistern at the home of Morris Steinbauer. He completed the job and Lepic went forty feet hand over hand down a rope to the bottom of the pit to clear up the debris. A few minutes later Ferderowitch glanced down and saw his workman stretched out unconscious.
He lowered himself and collapsed as he reached the bottom. Carpenters who had been working the house called Engine Company 805 and Hook and Ladder 123.
When Fireman Nagle arrived a companion started to put a safety belt attached to a rope on him, but Nagle remarked, "Don't clutter me up with ropes" and lowered himself down the rope hanging in the opening. Ten feet from the bottom he fell, striking the bodies of the others.
Whalen and Flanagan went down with belts and Fire Department gas masks, but the masks leaked and both collapsed. They were hauled up by the ropes attached to the safety belts. Eugene Butler, of the New York and Queens Gas Company, who arrived when the firemen were working, went down wearing a gas mask and was hauled up with Nagle's body. Firemen James Summings and William Barry, of Rescue Squad 2, were on the scene when Butler came up, and they used masks and safety belts to bring up the bodies of Ferderowitch and Lepic.
It is not known what kind of gas killed the men, but firemen believe it may have come from a nearby sewer.

"TRAMP POET" GETS DEGREE AT SWANSEA

W. H. Davis Arrives at Height of Career After Many Disappointments

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—At a recent congregation of the University of Wales, at Swansea, according to "The Cardiff Times," the degree of D. Litt. was conferred on W. H. Davis, the "tramp poet." Commenting on the bestowal, "The Cardiff Times" says: "Tramp, philosopher and poet, W. H. Davis has started the dregs of disappointment, but never of despair. Although he gathered no money from the sale of needles, threads, pins and thimbles than he did from his poetry in his earlier days, he never lost faith in himself, and today he is one of the most sought-after of English poets. In his heart, he is still a tramp, but his longings to be one the open road have been curbed through the loss of a foot, caused by trying to 'jump' a train in the United States. This accident sent him home to Newport, and after many vicissitudes, his work was noticed by A. St. John Adcock, and from living in common lodging houses he found his simple tastes, gratified by the grant of a civil pension of £100 per year.
Mr. Davis was born in Newport in 1870, and his life has been spent in walking, observing and writing poetry and prose. In 1917 Mr. Jacob Epstein, the sculptor, exhibited a portrait head of Mr. Davis, and this was subsequently purchased by Lord Tredegar and is on exhibition at the Welsh National Museum.

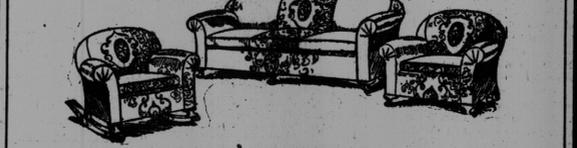

MONCTON HOSPITAL NEEDS MORE ROOM

MONCTON, Aug. 13.—Urgent necessity will compel, soon, an extension to the present public hospital, A. C. Chapman, president of the board of directors of the institution, states, in commenting on the report of the superintendent, Miss A. J. MacMaster, telling of the crowded conditions which exist at the present time. There should be no waiting list for an institution of this sort and yet one expense for the annual meeting of 1927.

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have taken several bottles of Dr. E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it as I was the change of life and was all run-down and had no appetite. I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly move. I got very sad at times and thought I had not a friend on earth. I did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them."—Mrs. Emma Wilson, 471 Wilson Street, Hamilton, Ontario.
