Students seeking admission to the standing of the Second and Third years, who have not passed the previous examinations, must take, in addition to the subjects of the year, those of the previous year or years. No Student will be admitted to a higher standing than that of the First Year who does not give satisfactory evidence of having thoroughly mastered the subjects in which he has been examined.

While it is desirable that Literary Students should devote their whole time during the College Session to the work of their respective years under the supervision of the Senate, they may, under peculiar circumstances, with permission of Presbyteries, pursue their studies apart from the College, appearing only for examination at the close of each Session, and receiving their appropriate standing. This rule does not apply in any case to Students who have entered upon their Theological course.

Applications by, or on behalf of, Students desiring to be admitted to Literary Examinations and Classes, must be sent to
