The marked attention the present Federal administration has devoted to the protection of shipping interests by a generous establishment of aids to navigation on this coast has had several very gratifying results. One of these was commented upon by a well known shipping man in conversation with a Times representative this morning. He pointed out that since the Laurier government came into power in 1896, marine insurance rates had been reduced a most substantial figure, from 12 1/2 guineas to 7 1/2. This is tangible testimony to the good work of the marine and fisheries department in these waters.

The light tonneau recently purchased by W. Todd yesterday subjected to what might be called a "test" trying test to which any automobile may be put in this district. This was the run to Sooke Lake, a distance of 25 miles, and back. On the run a climb of nine or ten miles is encountered. The test was in every way a success, and the 50 miles was made in four hours' time. The tonneau is an Oldsmobile, and was sold by the local agents of the company, Hutchison Bros. The run was made with Mr. Todd himself driving, so that there was no special advantage such as might be derived from an expert chauffeur.

She was his eldest daughter and was in her twentieth year, gastritis being the cause of her death, says the Vancouver Advertiser. She was a very cheerful and bright young lady, and was extremely popular among a large number of friends and companions. Mr. South's son did not send a cable announcing the sad event because of the shock which it might occasion him and instead brought the sorrowful news by letter. His many friends in Vancouver will extend their sympathy because of his bereavement.

The announcement in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer a few days ago that the best time made in the towing business between Juneau and the Sound was 6 days and 5 hours is a bit on the performance of the tug Lorne which, despite all statements to the contrary, have never been equalled. The Lorne is the fastest tug with a vessel in tow ever built on this coast. There are other tugs which can run away from her light, but not even the Fearless, which was constructed at San Francisco for the S. S. Co. some years ago, could beat

EASTER SERVICES IN THE CITY CHURCHES

The edifices were beautifully adorned.—Special Musical Features and Appropriate Sermons.

Special Easter services were conducted at all local churches yesterday. In most cases the morning, afternoon and evening services were well attended.

The services in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church were particularly attractive. The choir rendered an anthem entitled "Awake Thou That Sleepest." Two solos were sung, one by Mrs. G. W. Moore and another, "Thou Unto Me," by Mrs. J. E. Leacock.

Mr. Vail passed away on April 14th in Peoria, Ill., and came to the Okanagan some seventeen years ago, working for a firm in Kelowna, and afterwards, with a partner named R. Low, taking up a pre-emption in Fire Valley. Returning to Vernon, he was shortly afterwards appointed deputy sheriff, which office he held until his death.

On Wednesday morning, the 12th inst., J. E. Moore, of Alkali Lake, was found by his father hanging to a tree near the house, having hanged himself during the night. Dr. Hoops, the coroner, was sent for, and an inquest was held the same day. He had been rather despondent lately, though he apparently seemed to be in good spirits the previous night.

Another sad event occurred on the same day, when Frank Wycoff, a very bright and promising young man who was employed on the Gang ranch, was found dead. Young Wycoff had been ill for some time, and from the evidence at the coroner's inquest it was brought out that he had threatened to kill himself. Mr. Proctor thoughtfully ordered that everything of a dangerous nature be put out of his reach, but he had hidden away some strychnine which he knew of, and this he swallowed during the night.

The task of unwatering the shaft in the Josie from the 700-foot level to the 900-foot level was a preliminary to sinking the main shaft down probably to the 1,450-foot level, and perhaps lower, has been commenced. When Consulting Engineer Hill, of the Le Roi Two, was here a month since he directed the local manager, Ernest Levy, to do the work.

The shaft was undertaken. This has been completed, and Manager Levy, when seen by a Miner representative, stated that the pumping had been inaugurated by the 1st of July next. It is estimated that the cost of the shaft to the 900-foot level is $70,000, according to the depth which the shaft is to be extended. The fact that the Le Roi has found a rich chute of ore on the 1,450-foot level doubtless influenced Consulting Engineer Hill to a considerable extent in his determination to extend the main shaft of the Josie down to the same level.
