day evening the Rev. Mr. Hartman, of Hartland, Carleton Co., delivered a very interesting lecture in Bev-eridge's Hall. His subject was Africa as I Saw It. In a pleasing and in-teresting manner he described his trip from Liverpool to Africa, and as well as his stay in that country and his return voyage. He described the different places he visited, the characteristics of the surrounding country and the peculiarities of the natives. Rev. Mr. Alder acted as chairman and the Rev. Mr. Thomas officiated as worthy grand master and installed the officers. Jonathan Bridges was installed as county grand master; Harry Hopkins as deputy grand master, Mr. Sears as secretary, Mr. Wiggins as chaplain, A. Turner, treasurer. After the installation Frank Turner and Frank Baird, two past county grand masters, were presented with beautiful new regalias, as token of esteem and appreciation of their services to the order. Mr. Thomas then gave an address explaining the benefits of the order, its object, its growth and its prospects. Mr. McLeod was the next speaker, who in his eloquence and fervent style had accomplished, what it was intended to accomplish and the necessity for its existence. It was very unfortunate that the night was stormy and the walks almost impassable, so that people from outside the village could not attend. A large attendance was expected from Bairdsville and Four Falls. Messrs. McLeod and Thomas were the guests of Mr. Wiggins. Rev. Mr. Denny drove them to the early train at Perth this morning.

CHATHAM, Feb. 9.-This has been a fairly wild day and is in marked contrast to the weather which has prevailed for two months. The snow storm of Tuesday did not develop such proportions in this section as have marked its progress to the south and in Nova Scotia, indeed travel was very little affected by it here. Notwithstanding the quantity of newly fallen snow and the continuation of a fierce north wind, the children's carnival had fully a hundred participants on the ice in costume, but the number of spectators was not in proportion. Owing to some mishap the electric light went temporized means of illumination alowed the merry revel to go on, and so "let joy be unconfined"

WOODSTOCK COUNCIL.

Large Attendance at the First Meeting-Mayor's Address.

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 6-There was an unusually large attendance at the first meeting of the newly elected town council last evening. The councillor before the meeting came to order were sworn in by Town Clerk Hartley. His Worship Mayor Jones occupied the chair. Around the board were the following councillors: H. T. Stevens, J. S. Leighton, jr., A. Henderson, W. B Nicholson, I. E. Fiske, James Mc-Manus. Among the spectators in the chamber was United States consul Denison. The clerk read the official report of the election. The mayor in his address referred to a statement that one of the councillors was not legally elected. He said that he had consulted two lawyers on the subject and they gave their opinion that the councillor was legally elected. He thanked the electors for the honor reposed on him. It was his intention in August to ask each head of a department to get in their accounts so that they would know where they stood. During the year there was a bond of $1,000 to fall due and there was $1,000 more of an overdraft at the bank than last year. It would necessarily follow that the taxes would be a little higher than they had been. He reported that Mr. Munro was about to resign or had resigned as superintendent of waterworks. He had been a good official. He hoped the council would do their best in securing a good man to fill his place.

The councillors also spoke, thanking the electors for the honor reposed i them by secting the full board without opposition. The following committees were nam
