FOUR GREAT MEETINGS LAST NIGHT FOR MOSHER

Ring of Victory in all the Speeches and Enthusiasm Was High—Hon. John Morrissy, Hon. H. F. McLeod and the Candidate Given Magnificent Reception at Milford—Premier Hazen, Mr. Agar and Mr. Mosher Meet Large Audience at Red Head—J. E. Wilson, M.P.P., J. A. Murray, M.P.P. and Daniel Mullin, K.C., Give Able Speeches at Golden Grove—Rousing Meeting at Fairfield—Party Politics Not An Issue in This Campaign, Declares Chief Commissioner—What the Hazen Government Has Done for the Country.

Milford gave unmistakable proof last evening of the complete political overturn that has taken place among the voting population. The hall where the Government meeting was held was pretty well filled when the meeting was called to order, and later on standing room was occupied. In the chair was Thomas Boyce, one of the active members in the labor organization and lately a member of the executive of the late government party. On the platform was Mr. Lawlor, who early discovered the change of sentiment in this village, and has assisted the residents in the work of organization. Mr. Boyce frankly and clearly explained why he was supporting Mr. Hazen.

HON. JOHN MORRISSEY, Chief Commissioner of Public Works.

Mr. Lawlor gave a brief statement of the situation in his field of labor. Then came the strangers and the candidate. Solicitor General McLeod maintained his fine reputation as a platform speaker, presenting the issues with great clearness and force, and in a blunt aggressive manner which greatly pleased the audience. He had the audience heartily with him within five minutes, and their enthusiasm increased as he contrasted the records of the two administrations, culminating in a plea to speak of the claim the Government had on the support of the laboring men for the advanced legislation which had been enacted in their behalf.

The Chief Commissioner
Chief Commissioner Morrissy gave no signs of recent ill health when he got warmed to his work. He wore no gloves when he dealt with the Telegraph and Mr. Copp, and THE OTHER TRADUCERS OF HIS LOVE. Mr. Morrissy's account of the work of his own department was a triumph and was so accepted by the audience.

The School Books.
"Besides the labor legislation," Mr. Boyce proceeded, "there are the school books. That means a good deal to a man like me with four children." Thirdly Mr. Boyce said he was on this side because it is the inside. (Laughter.) This meant that the Government was here and so long as it did its duty and kept its promises he thought it should be supported.

Mr. J. W. V. Lawlor
Then Mr. Lawlor, who has had a good deal to do with organizing that part of the county, was called forward and spoke for a few minutes. He stated THAT REPORTS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTY INDICATED THE ELECTION OF MR. MOSHER. (Laughter.) The party had a good organization and was doing all that was possible to win success. He was sure that the majority were satisfied with Mr. Mosher.

er but had already done much in the interests of labor. "THERE IS NO QUESTION OF POLITICAL PARTIES IN THIS CONTEST," he proceeded. "The question for the elector is to determine how he shall vote in his own interests as a citizen of the province; how he and his fellows may get the best value for the money they pay into the treasury." (Hear, hear.)

A Comparison.
"It was therefore necessary to compare this Government with the old one. Do this," said the speaker, "and decide on the merits. Don't be stampeded into voting for a man because he calls himself a Liberal. Stand up for honest Government." (Applause.) "Who are the persons most interested in honest Government? Is it the 'droggers'?" (Laughter.) "No, it is he who works every day and all day for what he gets. If we can show you men of that class that we have spent your money honestly and for your benefit you should elect Mr. Mosher." (Applause and cries of "We'll do that.")

What They Found.
"Now let me tell you what we found when we took office. We had denounced the previous Ministers but we didn't know one-third of their offences. EVERY DEPARTMENT HAD DEBTS AND OVERDRAFTS THAT WE AND THE REST OF THE PEOPLE NEVER HEARD OF." (Applause.) "Suspense accounts were hidden away in the dark. THERE WAS $156,000 OF DEBT WHICH HAD NEVER BEEN MENTIONED."

He Knew Their Worth
Mr. Lawlor explained that he became greatly interested in Milford district, when he found in former times such hard and capable workers against him. He knew enough of those workers to be glad to have them on his side. He found this year among them a disposition to show fair play to the Hazen Government. (Applause.) The people here felt that it had redempted its pledges and were disposed to show their appreciation by supporting Mr. Mosher. (Applause.) So a committee room was opened here, and a large number had signed Mr. Mosher's requisition, and it was well known that there was a large turnout both here and in Fairville.

HON. H. F. McLEOD, K. C. M. Solicitor-General.
The same enthusiasm which marked the meeting throughout was present at its close, when ringing cheers were proposed and given for Premier Hazen, the Government, Mr. Mosher, and chairman Boyce.
