A BENEFACTOR of the human race has departed this life, the Abbe Paramello, at St. Cere, in his eighty-fifth year. He was most remarkable for having studied the springs of rivers evidently fed from underground stream and also the natural irrigation of several well watered departments. He had been much struck with the sufferings of both man and beast from want of water, which could only be procured at great cost and by dint of much labor. Plenty of ruin fell in the department where he lived, but it all disappeared under the chalky soil. After nine years of study and two years rambling, he thought he understood something of the subject. He laid his theory before the General Council of the Lot, who voted him six hundred francs to make experiments. He immediately pointed out five spots where operations should be commenced, one of which furnished water enough for the whole department. He was regarded as a sorecrer, and succeeded 305 times out of 308; and when in 1854 owing to age and infirmity he gave up a labor of love for which he had left the church, thirty-seven departments were demanding his services. He spent the latter years of his life in writing his experiences, and has left behind him a work entitled "The Art of Discovering Springs." The memory of men like these should not be allowed to pass away unheeded.

IN COUNT ARMIN'S recent pamphlet, the following remarkable words occur :- "If Europe is in perpetual uneasiness, the cause is to be found in Wilhelmstrasse, where are Bismark's House and the Foreign Odice. Monsieur Chauvin has changed lodgings, but Europe will not brook dictation from Borlin more than from Paris," The demand for the pamphlet on the Con tinent of Europe has been enormous. It proposes to prove as calumnious, the charge brought against Count Arnin of having purpo-oly thrown difficulties in the way of the convention regarding the evacuation of French territory It also gives an account of an interview between the Count and the Emperor of Berlin, at which the Count is represented as having deplored Prince Bismark's spiteful tendency, which had already cost His Majesty many a faithful servant, of whom several are named.

PILLS. LIVER FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint, DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with laxe; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and aithough he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the Lt-VER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Liver Pills, in cases OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.
