"We would like to be in area 11B (the same as New Toronto) where the increase will be $6.45 with the new rates.

"In Toronto, which we used as a base, their increase will be to $6.20 from $5.85 which is less than we are paying now.

"All we are asking is for Bell to justify the increases and consider the three points we have already discussed.

"The only hope we've got is the Transport Commission will take into account our special position," he said.

"The three points discussed at the last council meeting will go with the financial donation to the two associations opposing the Bell Canada increase.

This little German Shepherd puppy is "ready to go" to any good home in Mississauga. The nine-week-old female has no name yet but that will be up to her new "parents" to decide. This puppy and many more are waiting to be adopted at the Ontario Humane Society Shelter on Mavis Rd.

so what?

So What?

A lot of our customers buy only new Chevrolets or Oldsmobiles.

So naturally, they don't give a hoot that we have one of the largest stocks of good used cars in town.

But don't let these new car buyers bother you... if you're looking for a used car. Just remember... we do have one of the largest stocks of good used cars in town. And some of the best "buys".

Besides, we try just as hard to satisfy a used car customer as we do one that buys a brand new model.

Univac to build head offices in Mississauga City Centre

The Univac Division of Sperry Rand Canada Ltd. has announced plans for a $20,000,000 computer-head office complex to be built in the McLaughlin Mississauga City Centre.

G.W. McNeice, vice-president and general manager of Univac, said the building will be located on a seven-acre site at the north-west intersection of Hwy. 10 and Burnhamthorpe Rd.

Construction will start in September with occupancy projected for Dec. 1, 1971.

COMPUTERS

The building will house education and computer facilities for both employees and customers while serving as Univac's head offices for Canada.

The 11-storey structure will be located on the site just east of the current McLaughlin Building and south of the City Centre complex.

Mr. McNeice said the 210,000 square foot building will feature a podium base to house computer facilities with an office tower in the remaining 10 storeys.

Mr. McNeice said Univac had searched two years to find a site the company considered ideal.

"Among other considerations, we wanted assurance that we would not one day be surrounded by industrial properties.

REPUTATION

"There is no question that the McLaughlin plan is properly structured for growth and the reputation of both the developer and the Town of Mississauga in forward planning led us to the decision.

Mayor Robert Speck, industrial commissioner Kenneth Rowe, and the entire McLaughlin organization have been most helpful," Mr. McNeice said.

The complex is to be designed by the McLaughlin Group to meet the specifications of Univac.

Halton counties are merged into one regional government unit, Mississauga would become a city.

He said, too, he would consider the town's "city" bid in conjunction with his latest plans for the region set-up which he is expected to announce within the next few weeks.

Meanwhile, Mississauga City Centre project is taking shape. Steel for the framework of the "city's" new civic centre on Hwy. 10 just north of Burnhamthorpe Rd. was due to arrive on the site yesterday (Tues.) and negotiations are under way to have a public utilities building and a town library on site, too.
