"Whereas, we believe the matter of designing women's clothes is in the hands of Merchants and Manufacturers who produce and deal in these lines of goods, and also that it is used solely in the interests of trade,

"And whereas, women find themselves obliged to conform to custom, and are thus unfortunately subject to the exploitation of those whose interests prompt them to take advantage of such a situation.

"And whereas, changes in fashion are of unnecessary frequency,

"And whereas, fashions are often thrust upon the public, which seem to be more concerned with effecting sales than with regard to delicacy and good taste,

"Therefore be it resolved, that the N. C. W. of Canada do consider the question of Women's dress, with a view to enabling women to exercise more influence in determining what they are to wear and the fashioning thereof."

Resolution moved on behalf of Virden Local Council.
