Probable Mail Changes
Mr. C. Plumb, inspector of railway mail service, was in Athens yesterday in connection with an application for change in the service given post offices in this neighborhood. As a result, it is probable that the following arrangements will be made:
Instead of leaving Athens at noon, the mail for Charleston and Oak Leaf will leave here on arrival of the evening trains.
The contractor on the Brockville-Elbe route will carry mail from Athens to Elbe, leaving here at 7.30 a.m.
Instead of the Irish Creek service, Toledo will run a mail stage to Fort-ton in the morning, returning in the evening.

Managing Servants.
In the first place, don't find fault that is, do not complain or whine or nag. Do not say: "Mary, I don't see why you can't remember. I am sure I get tired of telling you again and again. Now, if I were in your place," etc., whereupon Mary replies saucily, and there is a scene from which you depart incensed, yet humbly, lest Mary leave then and there. Guard your tone. Be firm and businesslike, but cheerful. Impart an air of finality to your remarks. "It would please me to have you do so and so" or "I think it would be better that this be done in this way." If it is said kindly, but firmly, it usually commands respect and, moreover, gives little occasion for reply. Finally, don't always enter the kitchen with a complaint. It creates an unpleasant relation between employer and employee.—Boston Cooking Magazine.

Treatment of Burns.
In a serious burn as soon as the fire is extinguished the clothes must be removed. If not already thoroughly wet, the injured part should be drenched with water and the clothes cut away. Everything must be sacrificed to getting them off without pulling, as the slightest dragging may bring the skin off too. If patches of the clothing adhere and will not drop off, they must be allowed to remain. Dip cloths in a thick solution of common washing soda in water and lay them over the burned surface, hanging lightly to keep them in place. As soon as a dry spot appears on this dressing, wet it with the soda and water by squeezing some on it. There will be no smarting while it is continued and includes the skin.

AN INFANT'S BATH.

The Way the Baby Should Be Carefully Cleaned Every Day.
An infant should be bathed once a day all over, and the groins and buttocks should be sponged as often as is necessary.
The temperature of an infant's bath should invariably be tested with a bath thermometer. The hand is never a safe judge. One hundred degrees F. is the proper temperature for a tiny baby's bath. When three months old a temperature of 95 degrees is preferable. A bath should never be too hot. The temperature of the room in which baby is to be bathed should be about 70 degrees F., and there should be no drafts. The infant should be undressed quickly and laid on nurse's or mother's lap on a double bath blanket and scaped all over with a piece of flannel, special care being exercised to get between the folds of skin where secretions are apt to accumulate. After soaping the infant is placed in the bath and the soap quickly washed off. This should not require more than one or two minutes, though the time may be lengthened for the baby to remain in the water as it grows older. After bathing the baby should be dried with a soft towel and quickly and comfortably dressed. After this operation the baby is usually ready for breakfast and then a nap. Infants should be kept out of doors as much as possible in the daytime, and if they are properly clothed there will be less possibility of their taking cold than if they are kept indoors, coddled and raised as hothouse plants.

THE GIRL THAT LAUGHS.

Not the Giggler, but the Girl That Laughs and Means It.
Girls spend considerable time trying to find out how to be popular. It is natural that a girl should seek approval and admiration. Her popularity means a good time, boxes of candy, theaters, dances, flowers—everything that the hearts of the young delight in. The girl that is popular is the girl who laughs—not the girl that sippers and puckers or giggles, but the girl that laughs and means it. The girl that laughs can have candy and flowers and theaters every day in the week. Men flock about her. They adore her. She laughs herself straight into the hearts of beaux and admirers and straight into all the good times that a girl can dream of. She laughs, but she is careful when she laughs. She laughs with her beaux, but never at them. She laughs at what they say when they say it, but never afterward. She laughs at their jokes, but never about them. She never laughs at any one's blunders or misfortunes.
Women forget to worry when they hear the cheerful girl's laugh. Old men are warmed at the sound of it. Young men listen and follow it, pay court to it, marry it, for it is the laugh that keeps the heart young, the laugh that keeps the face bright.—Kansas City World.

HOW SHE KEEPS YOUNG.

She eats three warm meals at regular hours.
She never rides when she can walk the distance comfortably.
She takes fifteen quiet minutes in a darkened room after luncheon.
She doesn't waste her vitality in superfluous and energetic talking.
She is careful to spend at least a half hour every day in the open air.
She begins each day with a cold bath, followed by a glass of cold or hot water.
She sleeps eight hours, and as often as possible two of them before midnight.
She is neither self centered nor family centered, but has a few fresh outside interests to keep her live and thoughtful.
She never lets herself moan over the past nor worry about the future, but makes the best of the present and keeps sweet and cheerful.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets
FOR WOMEN
Make HEALTHY WOMEN

Taken in time, however, Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for women will inevitably restore the weakened forces which give rise to the foregoing symptoms and do what no remedy can do when too long delayed, that is, prevent illness and chronic female disorders.
While in a majority of cases the above symptoms are likely due to some uterine disorder, there are other cases, where they are caused by a run-down condition due to the stress of modern life—to excitement, worry and overwork.
It is really wonderful how quickly these tablets will change such a condition to one of strength, vigor and happiness. Any woman who continues tired, nervous and irritable from overwork and a run-down condition when this remedy is within her reach, remains so from her own neglect and not from necessity.
And the same remark applies to one who continues to suffer from any uterine disorder.
If you are in a run down condition, feel tired, nervous, irritable or unhappy.
If you have any menstruation trouble, white or other uterine disorder, of which backache, bearing down pains, and bloating and coldness of the feet are symptoms.
If in a word, you do not feel as well as you would like to, do not delay one moment in taking Dr. Hugo's remedy.
See at dealers, or by mail postpaid.

KITCHEN ECONOMY.

Neither Buy Too Close Nor Have Too Many Leftovers.
A story is told about a woman who was a famous cook and who was asked, "What do you do with leftovers?" She replied: "Leftovers? I don't have any. Men won't eat them, and women really don't care for them, though they like to fuss over them beforehand." This may remind you of the woman who was asked by a man at the back door, "Have you any scraps, lady?" She replied, "No; I eat them all." Then the man went away, wondering if the rest of her neighbors were wasteful in providing him with a quantity of garbage every day and asking himself if she ate even the potato parings. The woman who always has just enough and none to spare may have the conviction that she is a good manager and may be economical in her purchasing, but what would she do if she happened to have an extra appetite at some meal? It isn't always wise to measure too closely. At the same time it isn't wise to purchase things in such large quantities that the members of the family are forced to sing a parody on the old song, "Beef for breakfast, beef for dinner and cold roast beef for tea." Cold roast meat is nice occasionally and is much to be preferred if one is given a choice between it and some elaborate concoction which means the same cold meat spiced past recognition, but still bearing the label of being made over. Don't make a practice of spending as much time on the reconstruction of a made over dish as would be necessary to plan a whole meal of new materials.
