The object of these endeavors, it is stated, is that it may be able to say by the time Secretary of War Taft and Acting Secretary of State Bacon arrive that peace already has been secured, and therefore there is no need for the American Government's intervention either to restore peace or in sure permanent tranquility.

Palma's Latest Decree.

Yesterday afternoon, when an extraordinary Gazette was issued containing a decree signed by President Palma, on the recommendation of the Secretary of Public Works Montalvo. The decree follows:

After the decree was issued Govern ment emissaries were despatched in automobiles to confer with the revolutionists. Gen. The latter had Mayor Galles and the 200 volunteers defending the town cooped up in a carcel and sur-rounded by a swarm of insurgents when the peace emissaries arrived. Meanwhile Campos Marquetti was threatening to blow up the carcel with

Gen. Freyre Andrade, when asked about the terms discussed at the conference with the revolutionists, said that the conferees only touched peace terms informally, but that one thing was certain, the Government would never agree to annul the constitutional elections, and that contention must be eliminated from the claims of the revolutionists.

Nature "makes all things be u iful in their time." Every one of lifes seasons, when live moves on Nature's lines, has its own charm and beauty. Many women dread that period when they must experience a change of life. They fear that face and form may suffer by the change, and that they may fail to please and that they may fail to please those whom they love. The value those whom they love. The value of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription in this crisis of woman's life lies in the fact that it assists Niture. Its use preserves the balance and buoyancy of the mind and such tains the physical powers. Many women have expressed their gratitude for the help and comfort given by "Favorite Prescription" in this trying period. Its benefits are not passing but permanent and conduce to mental happiness as well as physi-cal strength.

Dare of Men's Clothes Saves Tailors

Caring for men's clothes is thing almost every woman has to do some time in her life, for not always is the expense of a tailor's services possible, and to many it is a difficult possible, and to many it is a dimentical task simply because they do not understand just how to press trousers that bag at the knees or how to remove the sheen from coats that have perhaps outlived their usefulness or eradicate spots that destroy the appearance of an otherwise neat looking suit.

"Pressing trousers is really exceedingly simple," declares a woman whose husband's clothes always look as if they were cared for by an expert tailor. "If they are pressed after every second or third wearing the knees will not only never bag, but the creases at the front and back will always look The actual pressing is very easy. The seams at the sides of the trousers should be carefully matched before the trousers are laid on the ironing board. This done, a damp cloth should be placed over the material and a bot iron used to press out the lines. The steaming caused by the wet cloth and the heat from the frop shape, removing the bagginess. After this is done hang them to dry thoroughly before being worn.

"Grease spots should, of course, be removed with gasoline, naphtha or some cleansing fluid and the material well brushed and aired before being pressed or the dirt will be ironed into the cloth and the entire labor lost. Press Garments Often.

"Coats and vests need pressing about once a week if worn frequently, but I should never suggest doing this at home, for to properly iron shoulders, backs and fronts of these garments boards regularly shaped, such as tailors have, are necessary, and without them the work is bound to look botched. So it is much better to send them to a tailor, for all torn places in either coats or trousers can often be mended so that they will not show, while if at tempted at home by one who is not familiar with such work the suit will be practically ruined.

"When not in use coats and vests should always be placed on hangers to keep the shoulders in shape and the neck of the former from sagging, as it the top. Trousers, too, should be placed en hangers with the bottoms up to keep the legs carefully in shape and to pre serve the creases in them.

"Taking the shine from clothes is not difficult to accomplish if a damp cloth is placed over a very hot iron and the latter held close to the material, though not placed directly upon it. Or a spong-ing with diluted ammonia and water and a careful rubbing afterward will often have the desired effect on clothes that have become worn and shiny from
