might in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, and she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or well, whether it rains or shines, she must get to her place of employment, perform the duties exacted of hersmile and be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest by weak and aching backs, pain in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent wetting of the feet, monthly periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden. All of these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mile. Alma Robitaille, 78 rue St. Francois. Quebec, Quebec, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Francois. Quebec, Quebec, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold, brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia. E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve but after that my recovery was very rapid and I was soon well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine-for sick women worthy of praise and am indeed glad to endorse it."

It is to such girls that Mrs. Pink-ham holds out a helping hand and extends a cordial invitation to correspond with her. Her long record of success in treating woman's ills makes her let-ters of advice of untold value to every ailing working girl, and from her wide experience and skill she quickly points the way to health. Her advice in the the way to health. Her advice is free, and all letters are held by her in the strictest confidence. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Polo Is Ancient.

Polo was played from the backs of horses in Persia during the tenth and eleventh centuries. At that time the Persians in a great contest, Iran versus Turan, found their match in the Turks. greatly to the disgust of King Afrasiab. The Byzantine poet Nizami sung of polo in the twelfth century. Then polo spread from Persia into central Asia, India and Tibet in the sixteenth century, when the great Emperor Akbar patronized it. In Japan the game is at least 1,000 years old and is still popular under the name of da-kin, or "ball match."

WONDERFUL MARBLE BIGLE.

Great as has been the amount of labor expended on the various Bibles of the world, the palm for execution must be given to the Kutho daw! which is a Puddhist monument of about a hundred temples, each constant of the standard of the standa about a hundred temples, each containing a slab of white marsle on which the whole of the Buddhists' Bible, consisting of more than eight million syllables, has been engraved. The Burmese alphabet is used, but the language is Pall. This wonderful Bible is absolutely unique. The Kutho-daw was erected in 1557 by Mindo-Min, the last King but one of Burma. The vast collection of temples together form a square, with a dominating temple in the centre. Each of the marble slabs on which the sacred texts are inscribed is surmounted by an ornamental canopy in pagoda form.—London Tatler.

A SUMMER OUTING.

SEEKING HEALTH AND RECREATION ALONG UNBEATEN TRACKS

The Summer World Is Wide, With Mountains, Green Fields and Shore. Tent, Car House and House Boat, Each Has Its Charm.

Shall we go to the mountains, to the seashore or up country? Shall we live in a hotel, with its accompanying fuss and feathers, and spend the greater portion of our time getting into and out of our clothes, to say nothing of spending all our money at the same time? Shall we go to a boarding house with its conglomerate mass of humans herded together as even the cattle of the fields are not herded, where the people are impertinent, intrusive and gossipy, or shall we find a place of our own where we may shed the formal routine of city life and be as happy and free from care as the birds themselves?

If we decide on the latter course we will find that the summer world is wide and that we may choose our place and way as seems best to us. Simplicity and comfort go hand in hand, and good taste is the watchword to good fellowship among those seeking health and recreation along unbeaten tracks.

In years gone by the people who didn't go to the springs went camping. Camping was a much more primitive affair than it is now, when campers use army tents and take advantage of the most scientific army methods in living out of doors.

To make our own camp where we be comfortable and economical, too, if we wish-we must find a farmer with woodland, for the camp must be in the forest-a farmer who will rent us, for a small sum, the necessary ground upon which to pitch our tent and the right of way. We must be near the farmer's house, for we will have to depend upon his family for milk, butter and eggs and many other

The illustrations accompanying this article are pictures of real camps, and the writer can testify to a delightful summer spent in one of the great forests of California.

Even with our frequent rains and certain weather, we may be very comfortable in almost any part of the United States in summer time if we use army tents, or, what is more picturesque and more economical in the long run, we may make use of abandoned street or railway cars for our summer home.

Curiously enough, abandoned street cars have become a prominent feature in the way of summer homes. One, two or four cars will make a comfortable and cozy home. A single in-dividual may live in one and have sufficient room to swing the traditional cat by the tail, quite as much as he would have in an ordinary cubicle in a summer resort hotel. Two people may even be fairly comfortable in one car if the cooking can be done out of
