My acceptance of a case for treatment is equivilent to a cure, because I never accept incurable cases. I am satisfied to receive the money for the value I have given the patient, but I expect to prove my worth and show positive and satisfactory results before I ask for the fee. So, should I fail to cure the case, the patient loses nothing, while when I cure him I have given what is worth much more than morey—I have given him his health again. It's the unexpected that always happen If there is another "coal famine," you we be alright with a HECLA FURNACE. Every HECLA FURNACE has a special WOOD GRATE. It is put in place through the fire door—rests on top of the bar grate—makes the most effective wood and soft coal grate ever designed.

With this grate, a special appliance may be supplied which burns soft coal with a minimum amount of smoke and soot, making the HECLA a soft coal burner of the highest efficiency.

HECLA FIRE DOORS are big enough to admit large chunks of wood. And the smoke outlet is above the highest part of the door. Even when you open the door to add fuel, no smoke comes out. It all goes up the chimney.

THE WONDERFUL ETHER.

A Startling Conception of the Uni-

Verse Medium.

Of all the theories of the ether that lately propounded by Professor Osborne Reynolds is perhaps the most startling. It inverts all our previous ideas on the subject. According to this, the youngest theory of the ether, we must look upon the ether as the one really substantial thing in the universe. its density being 10,000 times greater han that of water, while matter, which seems so substantial, consists, so to speak, in an absence of mass and has the character of a mere wave in the ether. On this newest view "we are all waves," as the author of the theory, bursting into poetry, exclaimed at the close of the eighth section of his Rede lecture. This astonishing proposition, which has cost its author no less than twenty years of labor, asks us to imagine that the universe, except those minor portions which constitute mat ter, is built up, like a bag of sand, of grains of definite shape and in size so inconceivably small that their diameters are no greater than the seven hundred thousand millionth part of the wave length of violet light, which in its turn amounts to only sixteen millionths of an inch, and so closely pack ed that, though not absolutely immova ble, the four hundred thousand mil lionth of the seven hundred thousand millionth of one sixty thousandth part of an inch-i. e., the four hundred thousand millionth part of their own diameter—would represent approxi-mately the mean free path through which these particles are free to move. Professor Reynolds tells us that the density of this medium, far from being almost indefinitely small, is nearly 500 times as great as that of the densest matter known to us on earth and its pressure more than 3,000 times greater than that which any material vet tried has been known to sustain. To get some idea of this conception of the ether picture to yourself a billiard table carefully packed from one end to the other with line after line of billiard balls, each line so nicely fitted or geared into the next that the balls are packed almost as close to each other as is possible, yet not so very tightly as to prevent absolutely all motion among them. Imagine again that you have not one layer of balls, as on a billiard table, confined by the sides of the table, but layer upon layer piled one above the other and extending absolutely without limit in every direction. Remember that these balls or grains are so minute that, say, 11,200,-000,000,000,000,000 of them laid side by side along a line would only occupy a single inch, and you will have a picture so far as may be of Professor Reynolds' conception of the universal medium, ether.—W. A. Shenstone, F.

R. S., in Cornhill Magazine. The Venerable Eugenie. The rumor as to the grave indisposition of the ex-Empress Eugenie happily proves to have been unfounded, but it must be remembered, all the same, that her majesty is now nearly an octogenarian, having been born in 1826, only seven years later than Queen Victoria. It argues marvelous vitality that she has been able for so long to resist the sorrows which began to fall on her so thickly just five and thirty years ago, when she and her consort lost their empire, and the heavier blow of nine years later, when her only son fell under the assagais of the Zulus. But, then, the ex-empress has always shown herself to be possessed of sition, derived no doubt from her Scottish grandfather, a Kirkpatrick of Closeburn, who settled at Malaga as a

Vanished Red Dog. Files of the Nevada Transcript of 1860 tell of the visit of a theatrical company to the mining town of Red Dog. The company, headed by Mc-Kean Buchanan, Virginia Buchanan, Frank Mayo, Charles Wheatleigh and Elizabeth Saunders, all of whom occupy prominent places in the history of the American stage, played three nights in Red Dog to an average business of $1,200 a night. The plays produced were "Camille," "The Robbers" and "The Octoroon." Today not a vestige of a house is to be found on the former site of Red Dog, which was about nine miles from Nevada City. Speed Mania.

Speed mania is getting to have scientific recognition. The medical superintendent of the Montrose as rium mentions motoring as the latest addition to the list of predisposing causes tending toward insanity. He reports two victims of the new "motor maia" at tims of the new "motor mania" at his institution. "He gives no details to enable us," says the Hospital, "to deter-mine what form the craze assumed or whether the tendency was homicidal, suicidal or of a less personal character. But in any case the new menace to mental stability is disquieting."

Governor Hoch administers an eye opener to cultured Boston when he affirms that of all the states Kansas has firms that of all the states Kansas has among her people the least percentage of illiteracy, excepting only Iowa. The east doesn't half know what President Roosevelt thoroughly learned in his recent tour—that the west and southwest are most active and liberal in the promotion of school education. charms. There is no reason why a wom an in good health should not retain her looks until she is quite old. Girls grow up like flowers in the field, and if weeds do not smother their good looks — by which we mean disease of the feminine or gans—they should grow up beautiful. The young girl is like a plant which, set in a derk corner, becomes scrawny and struggles hard for an existence, but if put in the sunlight puts on more vigor-

THE KAREN WOMEN.

Like the Siamese, the Karen wo-men are not good to look upon and do not improve their appearance any by the style of ornaments they affect. When very young their ears are pierced to admit a small round stick, which is gradually lacerated in diameter until by the time the little girls have become women their ears easily accommodate a two inch disk of blackened bamboo. This stretches the ears hideously, as may be imagined, and when the ornament is laid aside temporarily—well, picture the thin strip of pendent ear lobe! As a rule, the Karen women wear their hair long, but, like the Siamese, some cut it short and others again keep in crop ped close, except on top of the head where it is allowed to grow to its nat ural length, which does not add to their by no means overabundance of good looks. Sometimes the unmarried is set aside in hot weather. To thoroughly appreciate Japanes women one should begin the far eastern trip at the Malay peninsula, journeying thence through Siam, Anam Cambodia and China, though I confess to preferring a good looking Chinese girl to tle alleged Japanese beauty.

Bracelets and necklaces of bamboo are the other usual ornaments, except when they can afford a narrow neck band of silver, which protects, so it is believed against many evils that lurk along life's wayside, even in the jun The men also wear this neck band and bamboo an inch in diamete and about four inches long stuck through their ear lobes. Some of the boys are rather good looking. They wear their hair in a knot like a horn on the forehead or at one side or the other of the head or on top, and usual ly a turban crowns the topknot. Al in all the Karens differ not a great deal from the Siamese in physiognomy but the people in this section of the far east shade into one another rather easily.-Caspar Whitney in Outing.

has found it necessary to display conspicuously over his counter the following sign: "Our business is to sell tools, not to loan them." "Did you actually find it necessary to hang up that notice?" I asked him.

"Of course I did." he replied. "Hard ly a day passes that I don't have some body running in here and asking me to lend him a hammer, a saw or a chisel. It's one of the freaks of human nature, and I can't account for it. Persons who would not think of go ing into a hat shop to borrow a hat or to a furnishing store to borrow a shirt seem to think it's the most nat-ural thing in the world to come in here and ask me to lend them a hammer."

Bells. Bells have been employed in associa tion with religious worship since the early days of Egypt, Cymbals and hand bells and small crotals served for the festival of Isis. Aaron and other Jewish high priests wore bells of gold upon their raiment. In camp and garrison the Greeks employed bells. The Romans announced the hour of bathing by their melody. Copper and tin, the old composition, is still regarded as the best bell metal. Steel has been tried, but does not make a successful bell. Glass bells are mellow and beautiful in tone, but the material is too fragile. The one metal which is impossible is that which everybody imagines makes the best bell-silver.

Battle of the Herrings. battle of the herrings was the comical name given to a fight between an English force and a French detachment not far from Orleans it 1429. The English were conveying a large quantity of supplies, mainly herrings, for it was Lent, to the army that was besieging Orleans. The English had 1,600 men, the French 6,000. The former repulsed the assailants and saved the herrings, so the battle was named in honor of the supplies.
