Minister of Finance from becoming too much elated by the pride that his Prime Minister has in his performance. Suppose that I good naturedly should give over a number of these as the ending of my address.

CHAMPION SWALLOWER.

In the first place the Prime Minister should be proud of the Minister of Finance because in all the history of Canada there has been no Finance Minister who has so completely swallowed all his principles, fiscal, financial, and otherwise, as has the hon gentleman (Mr. Fielding). Is not that true? The oldest Finance Minister who has living stood true to his fiscal colors. In the dark times when the Liberals held the government of this country from 1873 to 1878, Sir Richard Cartwright stood to his colors; a free trader he was when he went in, a free trader he was when he came out, and if he was not inclined to be so at all times, Alexander McKenzie kept him so. Even straggling defeat in the face they would not change their colors; they were consistent. Sir Leonard Tilley and Sir John McDonald succeeded. They advocated a new policy when in opposition; they were told—my right hon friend told them—it was only a plea for getting in and that they would not put it in force when they did get in. But they went in and Sir Leonard Tilley put his principles of the National Policy into force and the Liberal-Conservative Finance Ministers kept them in force from that day to the day they went out. Then my hon friend (Mr. Fielding) came in.

FREE TRADER AND ECONOMIST.

He was a doughy free trader in the days of opposition; he was a red-hot economist in the days of opposition; he was dead against the National Policy and the principles of protection when he was in opposition; it was Liberal creed and Fielding doctrine in those days that here should be no surplus. But the hon gentleman came into office and where as his free trade principles now; whether his rigid economy taken flight; where is his hatred of bounties—bounties on iron, bounties on steel, duties on coal and the necessities of life, bounties on twine, bounties on oil, bounties on beet root sugar, bounties on everything almost. He is without doubt the champion swallower of his principles and policy. My right hon friend has a perfect right to be prouder than ever of his Finance Minister and no doubt a fellow feeling makes them wondrous kind. Well, Sir, the Minister of Finance is champion in another respect; he is the champion taxpayer of Canada.

CHAMPION TAXER.

Of all the Finance Ministers that have ever been, no one has ever gone so deep into the people's pockets, no one has piled up the alms so high with the hard earnings of the people. My right hon friend must be proud of him in that respect. If I remember well, once on a time in the city of Ottawa in 1893 he held up the flag inviting all and sundry to march up to the citadel and put out the men who believed in protection, who overtaxed the people and who were extravagant in their methods of government. Well, Sir, my friend the Minister of Finance also takes some rank as scalping the thrifty depositors of this country of a part of their interest upon their deposits in order to swell that wanted surplus of his which he must have. If he cannot get it by changing two million dollars from current account to capital account he can take $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 by docking the deposits in the savings banks of one half of one per cent and paying them a return upon their money one per cent less than he is paying to the foreign money lenders. No Minister of Finance in the history of Canada has ever so fattened and fed the foreign lender and the foreign broker, and no one has ever made it so pleasant for the middleman as I have read the story of the commissions and the brokerage charges that have been paid in connection with these loans, and another Finance Minister of Canada has ever paid as high rates for the money in Great Britain as has the present Finance Minister. In that respect also he is a record.

CHAMPION SPENDTHRIFT.

He is also—he will not think I am applying it to him in other than the technical sense—he is also the champion spendthrift of Canada. What I mean by that is that he has spent more than any other Canadian Finance Minister. Coming in on the declaration that $38,000,000 was apportioned as our annual expenditure, he climbed up last year to an expenditure of $125,000,000, and no other Canadian Finance Minister has ever accomplished such a feat. Expenditures commencing with $41,000,000 a year and ending in the year just past with $125,000,000. I am sure my right hon friend is now proud of the Finance Minister as a spender. And the purpose of this spending—the Quebec bridge, the Newmarket canal, St. Joseph's warf, not to come nearer home, Go on where through this country, and the list is so large of absolutely useless and wasteful expenditures, gone in without thought—no one

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

counted until the whole bill was sent and then it was paid. And the quality of the expenditures—why, Sir, there is scarcely a thing upon which money can be spent which is not today brought within the category of Dominion expenditures, and upon which money is not spent. They have gone so far as to advertise for applications for expenditures. My right hon friend remembers the doggy economist in the days of his opposition crusade—Sir William Mallock of the present movement, who was in Ontario his right hand in the matter of strict and rigid economy. My right hon friend will remember that he made him at one time Minister of Public Works, and he did not warm the seat of the office temporarily for more than a few hours before he actually issued a circular inviting all members of Parliament and unsuccessful candidates to just advise him if there were any expenditures in their constituencies which they would like to have carried out, as he would be glad to know what they were.

CHAMPION ROMANCER.

There is another eminence which the Minister of Finance has. He has promulgated more interesting and misleading fiction as a basis of public expenditure in this country than any Finance Minister I know of. Witness the Grand Trunk Pacific. How certain he was that it would not cost more than $13,000,000 all told to the people of this country. How certain he was that the outlay would not be more than $51,000,000 as an advance; and today his Minister of Railways puts the outlay at $114,000,000 on the eastern division, less terminals, less Quebec bridge, less a lot of other things, and before it is through with $180,000,000 will be nearer the figure. $51,000,000 was in the preface of that most interesting piece of fiction that the Finance Minister read to us in 1903, and to which he issued a supplement in 1904. Today he faces, and for the last year he has faced the monsters that he has conjured up—wastefulness, extravagance, maturing debt, fresh debt, and all the horrors of the money market, with temporary loans in almost every bank, with liabilities of millions of pounds cropping up every three months, and with the conditions that surrounded general finance in the year 1908.

FACING THE MONSTERS.

He faces all these things. Will the monsters destroy him? Has his wand lost its efficacy? Can he send them back to the vasty deeps from which he summoned them? It remains to be seen. But he is face to face with them today. My hon friend has got into the market right now, in the year 1909, to ask for a loan of $10,000,000 extra for the Grand Trunk Pacific, if the Government carries its policy through. He has got to ask this year for at least $80,000,000 for the Grand Trunk Pacific and other capital expenditures. That makes $40,000,000 which he has to look for outside in the year 1909. But that does not end it. In 1910, he has $9,000,000.

"After taking three bottles of your wonderful medicine, our baby was entirely well and needed no more medicine. At sixteen months of age she weighed thirty pounds. She had cried eight months, night and day, and nothing did her good until we tried Scott's Emulsion."—MRS. E. C. SMITH, Villa Rica, Ga.

probably saved this child's life. Four doctors had been tried. Scott's Emulsion seemed to be just the thing needed, and it is just the thing needed by thousands of other children. It's so easily digested, so pure and harmless, yet most powerful in building up the most delicate child or adult. But be sure to get Scott's Emulsion, there are many worthless and harmful imitations.

ed from Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir John Carling, Hon. Edward Blake and others. Mr. Gordon C. Edwards, president of the Canadian club Ottawa, presided, and about three hundred sat down to the banquet. These included nearly all the cabinet ministers, prominent parliamentarians and many members of the Canadian club. The toast list was a brief one, and included, The King, His Excellency, Earl Gray, The First Parliament of Canada, The Eleventh Parliament of Canada, and the Dominion of Canada. It was a pleasure to note the vigor displayed by the several responders to the toast of The First Parliament of Canada, and the banqueters had no difficulty in bearing every word. The stirring events of by-gone days were recounted and many amusing anecdotes were told. In addition to those of the first parliament, inspiring and patriotic addresses were delivered by His Excellency Earl Gray, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. R. L. Borden, K. C., and Hon. R. W. Scott. During the evening patriotic songs were rendered in capital style by Mr. E. L. Horwood and Mr. J. McCormack Clarke.

EARL GREY.

A hearty reception was accorded to His Excellency, who thanked the club at the outset for its kind greetings. He was always glad to take part in the proceedings of Canadian clubs in any part of Canada. They were a national institution. He had come especially from his engagements in Montreal to see the acts of one of the most interesting dramas in the history of Canada, to do honor to those distinguished gentlemen who had nursed the cradle in which was entrusted the baby form of the Canadian constitution. He had come so that he could tell the people in England on his return that he had taken part in this banquet. This banquet would show the youthfulness of Canada, and as Beaconsfield had aptly put it, "Youth is Divine." His Excellency said that he realized the youthfulness of Canada. It came home to him with advancing years. What had Confederation done for Canada? said His Excellency. What had it not done? Col. Denison had told him once, stated His Excellency, by way of illustration that English born Canadians always associated the sacred name of the Dominion with the sacred name of home. He would always envy those Confederation had put a soul into Canada and a national spirit into the Dominion. Canada had been the first to apply the principle of Confederation. Australia had followed. We were now waiting with greatest sympathy and hope the amalgamation of the English and Dutch races in South Africa upon a basis of equal rights, for which O. H. Hughes and 8,000 Canadians went to South Africa. In conclusion, His Excellency expressed the hope that the principle of confederation which had done so much for Canada and Australia, would do the same for South Africa, would bring an increased strength to the British Empire. (Applause) Mr. Gerald H. Brown read regrets from Hon. Edward Blake, Sir John Carling, Mr. Frank Killam, Hon. W. J. MacDonald, Hon. C. A. P. Pelletier, Dr. Hugh Cameron, Hon. Jas. Young, Mr. A. W. Savary, Mr. Francis Hardon, Hon. A. R. McClean, Sir Richard Cartwright, Senator Belcourt, Sir John Hanbury Williams and Mr. Neil McPhadden.

Nimrod was a mighty hunter, but had he hunted in the "Temagami" region he would have been a mightier one. Nimrod hunted for glory, but the Indians who made the first canoe of birch bark long ago, were our greatest benefactors. The children of these Indians know the canoe, and they know how to use it, and if you go to Temagami this summer they will paddle your canoe in their own superb way. They will be the best guides you ever had. Students who camp in summer along the Temagami lakes are able to do two years' work in one. Finest of fishing and hunting. Good hotel accommodation. J. QUINLAN,

D. P. A., C. P. R., Montreal.

Canada's trade with Germany has been the subject of some discussion in the House of Commons, the matter being brought up by Mr. Armstrong, of East Lambton. Germany is one of the living nations of Europe, with growing population and expanding trade, and is a larger importer of many articles such as Canada produces. By a series of mistakes, including the taking of serious action without due consideration, what has been called a tariff war has been going on for a dozen years between Germany and Canada. Germany imposes on Canadian exports her maximum customs taxes, and Canada has devised a special surtax, higher than her maximum duties, which she collects from importers of German goods. Canada's hostility affects something under three quarters of one per cent of Germany's exports, and the German high duties apply to about eight-tenths of one per cent of Canada's exports. It is not worth being in the spite business for trifles like this, and wise men would put an end to a situation foolish and unjust.

000, and he will have to ask another $30,000,000 for the Grand Trunk Pacific and for the Hudson Bay Railway. Why did the Finance Minister omit to speak of the Hudson Bay Railway today? The Prime Minister, the Minister of the Interior, the Minister of Railways, all are pledged to the building of the Hudson Bay Railway, and the building of it immediately. Why was no mention of that made today? I assume that they will implement their promise; I assume that the west will keep them to that promise; they made it in cold blood, when the worst of the financial proposition was before their eyes, and they knew what they were making. The Minister of the Interior will say, we are providing for that out of our lands, selling enough at $3 an acre to pay for it. Let me ask the Minister of the Interior: You have sold your lands and got some money for them where is that money today?

WILL BORROW AGAIN.

Spent every dollar of it; and if you get in the whole of that money the next year, and the year after, every dollar of it would be spent on consolidated fund account; and when you come to build the Hudson Bay Railway for $20,000,000 or $25,000,000, you will get the money by making a loan on the British market. You have started the annuities crusade and you are taking the money from the people of this country for that. Where is the money you are taking? It is a debt of the country. You put it into the consolidated fund and you spend it on the things I have been speaking about. Where are the savings of the people which have been entrusted to your care—their capital on which you pay interest? Every dollar of it is spent. It is now and always has been a debt of the country. In 1910 there is $9,000,000 of debt maturing and $30,000,000, which will have to be borrowed for the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Hudson Bay Railway, making $39,000,000. In 1911 there is $8,600,000 of maturing debt and $3,000,000 more for the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Hudson Bay Railway, making $31,600,000. In 1912 there is $31,000,000 of maturing debt and $30,000,000 to be borrowed for the Grand Trunk Pacific, making $61,000,000 for that year; and you will go on to 1913, unless you finish the railway and make the borrowings before and have in that year $7,700,000 of maturing debt and $25,000,000 to be borrowed for the Grand Trunk Pacific.

CHAMPION BORROWER.

Each year the Minister has to go to London for forty millions, thirty-nine millions, thirty-eight millions, sixty millions, and twenty-eight millions, or thirty millions, simply for the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Hudson Bay Railway and maturing loans, not taking into account the great expenditures which from year to year press themselves upon the people of this country. By a bit of legislation a day or two ago you pledged yourselves to $20,000,000 which you have to raise in the next ten years for a steamship line between Canada and France. The Minister of Railways has pledged himself to a large sum of money for level crossings. And so each year brings its new burdens. These are the things which will strain all the revenue you get, and which will use up the surplus, and more to be raised by borrowing.

FEATHERS IN HIS CAP.

Then there are your obligations. What do you suppose the Grand Trunk Pacific will cost in the mountain section? How much short of $200,000 a mile will it cost? Who will have to raise that $100,000 a mile? Now that you have opened the doors of the Grand Trunk Pacific by making that company a loan of $10,000,000, they will come to you next year and say: We cannot place our securities on the British market and raise the money we require; help us or this thing will tumble and Canada's credit be ruined. They will be able to come back with a double force. They have you on the down grade and they will be able to push you as far as their necessities make it necessary for them to do so. And the expenditure of capital on your militia and great rivers and lakes—all this has to be raised, and there will be nothing left for you to do but to add immense sums to the borrowings you have already incurred.

Memorial Banquet to First Parliamentarians.

It was a decidedly happy thought of the Canadian club of Ottawa to banquet the surviving members of the first parliament of Canada. The historical event took place Wednesday April 21st in the parliamentary restaurant Ottawa, and was a unique and brilliant event. His Excellency Earl Gray came from the Musical and Dramatic competitions in Montreal to attend, and the guests included Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. R. L. Borden, K. C., and many other distinguished men in public and private life. The special guests of the evening were eight of the twenty three surviving members of the first parliament. Those who were able to accept the invitation of the Canadian club were: Sir MacKenzie Bowell, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. Wm. Miller, Hon. Wm. Ross, Sir James Grant, Mr. Basil Benoit, Sheriff Hagar and Hon. G. B. Baker. Letters of regret were received

HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE OF LIVING.
Heart Trouble Cured by MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
Mrs. Andrew Savory, Griston, N.B., writes: In the year of 1906 I was taken sick and did not think I could live any length of time. My trouble was with my heart and people told me that nothing could be done for a case like mine. I consulted the best doctors but they could do me no good. For seven weeks I could hardly get up. I had given up all hope of living and had given my little girl to my sister-in-law. One day a friend came to see me, and calling me by name, said, "Ladies, if I were you I would try a dose of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are good for heart trouble." My husband got me a box, but for two days I was not feeling any better, but on the fourth day my husband said, "I believe those pills are doing you good." I was able to say, "Yes, I feel a good deal better this morning." He said, "Well, I will get you another box right away. I took two boxes and three doses out of the third box, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then." I will never without them in my home for God knows if it had not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now.
Price 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.50.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Is a Remedy Without An Equal For COUGHS, COLDS, And All Affections Of The THROAT AND LUNGS.

Coughs and Colds do not call for a minute recital of symptoms as they are known to everyone, but their dangers are not understood so well. All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds.

Two much stress cannot be laid upon the admission to all persons affected by the insidious earlier stages of throat and lung disease, as failure to take hold at once will cause many years of suffering, and in the end that terrible scourge of "Consumption."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is not sold as a Cure for Consumption but for affections tributary to, and that result in, that disease. It combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of equal purity, worth and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe. So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy, it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it. Don't be humbugged into taking anything but "Dr. Wood's." Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

English Mammoth Late Red Clover
Imported Direct from London, England.

Just arrived, a shipment of this Best of all Clovers. Many farmers have asked us why we cannot procure the Old English Mammoth Clover that used to produce such large crops years ago. Well, we find it difficult to get a really good sample of the Genuine Mammoth variety. Two years ago we imported a nice lot that sold readily and gave excellent results; last year we could not get a pound of Choice Seed, as the English crop was very poor, and the Seed could not be recommended. A lot of Chilean Red Clover Seed has been sent to Canada in recent years and sold as English Clover. No farmer should show this variety; it is not at all suitable for this country. A guarantee that we have the Genuine Old English Mammoth Late Red Clover Seed is that a sworn statement to that effect accompanies the shipment. The Seed is large, plump, and very free from Weed Seeds. It is the finest quality of this variety that we have ever seen. Costs a little more than the Canadian variety, but the cost of the Seed is small compared with the increased yield of nutritious Hay produced. Only a limited quantity to offer. Write us for samples and prices.
