Don't Blame a Race for Individual Sing Don't Blame a Race for Individual Sine. To the Editor of the Advertisen:

In your issues of last Friday and Saturday I notice Mr. W. S. B. Barkwell's advertisement headed by the following beautiful (2) expression, viz.: "No Jew shop," which Mr. B. has selected as a suitable attraction to his announcements.

Now, dear sir, before making any comments upon the said second of Christian Mr.

Now, dear sir, before making any comments upon the said so-called Christian Mr. B., I wish to be distinctly understood, in particular by the author of the same, that I do not for a moment entertain the least fear that such an insolent expression will in any shape or manner degrade the standing of the honorable few Hebrew citizons in this city, as I am fully more aware of the tolerance and indulgence of the intelligent public of this city than is Mr. B., although there are always a few black sheep which unfortunately have crept into existence in this enlightened century, pretending to be adherers to the humane principles of the modern Christian Church, instead of existing in the dark ages when autos-da-fe were built to cremate human beings who happened to differ in traditional beliefs.

Consequently I cannot anticipate as Mr.

—Mr. Alex McIntyre, of Winnipeg, who died in Winnipeg last week, was well known in this district. He was 51 years of age, and leaves a widow and three children. Deceased is survived by his father, who resides in the county of Middlesex with his son and daughter.

—People who were growling a week ago because summer hadn't put in an appearance were tempted to change their minds yesterday, and think that the best thing to do was to 'keep cool.'' The thermometer at the meteorological station, South London, registered at the highest 88.5°, although many will yow that the mercury rose near the century mark.

—The botanical section of the Entomological Society held its regular meeting Saturday. Mr. Dearness gave a very interesting account of a recent trip to the Niagara Peninsula. The recent rains made botanizing difficult, but at Jordan (Twenty Mile Creek) the following specimens were collected: Viola rotundifolia (first recollected: Viola rotundifolia (first recol

NINETEENTH CENTURY.

An Iniant Saved.

An Iniant Saved.

An Month age a prominent lady in Montreal almost lost her infant child by death. The mother's distress was dreadful, and she seemed powerless to help the little one. It had become pale and emaciated from dysentery; its stomach was weak and seemed to retuse all nourishment.

The physician in attendance advised a trial of Lactated Food. Small quantities were administered for the first two or three days, from which the infant derived strength and vitality. The Food was continued, and in three weeks' time the child was perfectly healthy.

Lactated Food saved the little life; without it death would have resulted. This experience should be a warning to all mothers who have delicate intants. The ordinary cow's milk, and the poorly-prepared artificial foods, are never tolerated on the weak stomach. It requires a food in every respect like mother's milk—a food suited for weak and impaired digestion.

Infants who are fed on Lactated Food are never sick; they pass safely every ill which surrounds them, and fast increase in fat, bone and muscle. Try it, mothers.

The Commercial Hotel, Scaforth, has been thoroughly overhauled by the new proprietor, H. G. Edsall (formerly of this city), and is now one of the leading hotels of the west.
