HIDES, SKINS AND TALLOW.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Hides—The offerings are fair and the demand is moderately good. There is some accumulation in the country. The value of the hides is inclined to deteriorate at this season, but prices continue steady. Local dealers quote green at &c for cows' and 9c for steers', and cured at $\frac{45}{2}c$ for cows' and 10c for steers'. Sheepskins—The offerings are fair, but the demand is not very keen, owing doubtless to the slow demand for wool. Prices are unchanged at keen, owing doubtless to the slow de-mand for wool. Prices are unchanged at 155c. Deerskins—The receipts are quite free now, the demand is fair and the market is steady at 11c to 12½c. Calf-skins—Are steady at 9c for No. 1 and 8c for No. 2. Tallow—The market is steady. Local dealers are offering 5½c to 5¾c and asking 6c to 6½c.

WOOL MARKET.

Toronto, Nex. 12.—The condition of the market is about as unsatisfactory as ever. The increase in the demand by United States mills last week did not affect the markets here, as the demand over there referred to was for fine wools. There is no export deprend for Crooks. There is no export demand for Canada fleece wools. A letter received from England this week by Mr. E. T. Carter tells land this week by Mr. E. T. Carter tells of the discouraging situation over there. The markets for wool, the letter, which was from a reliable party, said, showed no sign of improvement and were in a deplorable condition, with values at a low ebb. The production of half-bred wool, the letter said, had more than doubled in England in the past twenty years. Select Irish hogs were offered as low as 7d, while super Irish wethers were quoted as low as 63/4d and select do at 53/4d. Lincolns, a grade similar to that produced in Ontario, could be bought at 53/4d. The latter is equal to 113/5c laid down here. Fleece—Is very dull, and washed is unchanged at 13c; unwashed is quoted at 9c. Pulled wools—Are slow. Extras are quoted at 18c and supers at 15c.

PRESBYTERY OF LONDON

Call to Rev. A. H. Kippen From Aldboro Sustained.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, of Fingal, Retires From the Ministry-The Home Mission Scheme.

Presbytery met in Knox Church, St. Thomas, at 10:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning, Dr. Johnston, moderator, in the chair

Commissions of elders were received as follows: Edward McMillan, Kintyre; Andrew Thomson, South London; W. S. Trott, Delaware; James Gray, St. James' Church, London; Isaac Langford, Bethel and Bryanston; Archibald Carmichael, Argyle Church and West Lorne. Mr. Reed, St. Thomas, was added to the committee on remits.

A call from Argyle Church, Aldboro, and West Lorne, was presented by Mr. Barnett, moderator, in favor of Re . A. H. Kippen, Stratford; 152 members and 116 adherents signed the call. A stipend of $800 and four weeks' vacation are promised, together with rented ouse or use of manse. Messrs. A. Caimichael and D. J. Campbell appeared and supported the call. On motion, the moderator's conduct was approved, the call sustained and ordered to be forwarded to Mr. Kippen. A telegram was dispatched to Mr. Kippen stating the fact that the call had been sustained. It was arranged provisionally on the acceptance of the call that the induction take place at West Lorne at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 26, the moderator of the presbytery to preside, Mr. Lawrence to preach, Mr. Courtenay to address the minister, and Mr. Stevens to address the people. Mr. Drummond stated that the con-

Mr. Drummond stated that the congregation of Knox Church, Aylmer, was prepared to call Rev. J. W. Rae, of Toronto Junction. A telegram had been received from Mr. Rae, stating that he must decline the call. The report was received, and in consideration of the message from Mr. Rae, the call was set aside, and Mr. Drummond Mr. Henderson moved that the presbytery hold its January meeting on Jan. 20, 1902, and that the reports on church life and work and the schemes be the stated order for business at the evening session, and that the meeting be held in Glencoe at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The motion was carried. with the amendment that the meeting be held in Dutton. Mr. Currie reported that the appli-ceived, and further consideration was postponed until the March meeting.

Mr. Clark made a statement to the presbytery in regard to the great de-mands of the home mission work of the church, enforcing his remarks by figures, showing the wonderful growth of population and their needs. Dr. Mc-Crae also presented the claims and needs of augmentation. Mr. Gilmore gave some facts that had come to his knowledge in his own experience in British Columbia.

It was moved by Mr. Stuart, second ed by Mr. Currie, and resolved, that Mr. Clark be requested to procure memoranda for home mission and augmentation addresses for the differen members of the presbytery.

The report as to the supply of Hyde Park and Komoka during Mr. Wylie's absence was received, and Mr. McGillivray was thanked for his services in connection therewith. A telegram was received from Mr Kippen, declaring his intention of accepting the call from Argyle Church and West Lorne. Dr. Sutherland, Fingal, presented the demission of his charge. The venerable clergyman addressed the court briefly, stating in effect that his advanced years rendered this step necessary. He has held his present charge since 1866, and has been one of the most faithful in the discharge of his

"While recognizing the financial success of the work, we find that the century movement for the deepening of spiritual life of the church must be given stronger emphasis, and every effort put forth to accomplish end. We would recommend: (1) That every minister be enjoined to lay emphasis on the great doctrines of grace, bringing sinners face to face with sin and its consequences, and calling the saints to greater activity in the work of the Lord: (2) that the first Sabbath of the new year be set apart as a day of special thanksgiving to God, and that so far as practicable the Sacrament of the Lord's that the ministers, members of sesice-bearers of the congregations within the bounds of George H. The Fadettes.

The Fadettes Woman's Orchestra, of Boston, which last night gare the second concert of the Metropolitan course at the New Grand Opera House, has appeared in this city before, but it is an organization whose visits will always be delightedly welcomed by the music loving public of London. An American writer is responsible for the assertions that "man may be the intellect of music, women is its heart and soul," and that "the best work done in the arts women is of a better quality than the average work done by men." hearing the Fadettes one can well-nigh believe the truth of both statements. The Fadettes stand easily in the front rank of America's musical aggregations, and many of their admirers do not hesitate to place them before more pretentious and better known orchestras and concert bands in point of artistic excellence and enjoyability of entertainment. The evening was certainly one of unalloyed pleasure for all present, and the programme given was one acceptable alike to the cultured and the uncultured musical taste. There is no need to speak of the work of the orchestra, for any utterance can only be words of praise. Mrs. Nichols, the conductor, has so infused her personality into the organization that they respond instantly to every slightest motion of her baton. Each lady is an adept in her art, and when to this is added the scrupulous training to which the company have evidently been subjected, it is easy to understand the artistic results achieved. Strings, woodwind, and brass each filled their allotted parts flawlessly. The proopened with Meyerbeer's gramme Fackeltanz," in B flat, followed by the tuneful overture to Thomas' "Mignon." The string orchestra rendered Steck's "Awakening of which was delightful in its delicately shaded pizzicato passages, and Gillett's dainty "Entr'acte Gavotte." The rendition of the grand selection from "I' Pagliacci" (Leon Cavallo), was followed by a double encore, one of authorized to moderate in a call again, them, Leslie Stuert's popular "Soldiers of the King," elfciting great enthusi-asm. A descriptive piece, Puerner's "Imps and Goblins," closed the evening's programme.

The assisting artists' portion of the programme was not the least enjoyable feature. Mary Reuck-Wilczek, a violiniste of rare technique and great depth of feeling, executed Wienawski's Andante and Allegretto from his Seventh Concerto, in a finished man-ner, winning an enthusiastic recall to mr. Currie reported that the application for grants to the augmentation fund were granted, with the exception that the $12 50 additional asked for Tempo and South Delaware was for the present refused.
