B. C. BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

Proceedings of the Annual Meeting-Report of the Vice President-Financial State-ment and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia Benevolent Society was held yesterday when vice-President T. J. Burnes (acting as president) read the following report, for the year ending De-cember 31, 1890:

Ladies and Gentlemen:-On this, our 19th anniversary, the duty has devolved upon me of placing before you the annual report of the B. C. Benevolent Society for the year just ended.

for the year just ended. While it is with much pleasure I now endeavor to fulfil this duty, I am reminded of the great loss the Society has sustained in the removal by death of our late much respected president, Mr. James Fell. It would be indeed difficult to find words to express how much we Grant. regret his loss and mis his valued assistance. The late Mr. Fell, ever since the in auguration of this society in the month of January, 1872, when he acted as chairman at a meeting of persons . desirous_ of forming themselves into a benevolent society, had, up to the time of his death, been an untiring and zealous worker for the true principles of a cosmopolitan hu-manity, and has ever cheerfully given manity, much of his time and money in aiding this society to carry on its good and benevolent work, and I am sure this has tended in a great measure in bringing the Society to the successful and satisfactory position of usefulness in which it stands to t stands to-day. It has been my endeavor, as acting president, with the valuable aid of my colleagues, since Mr. Fell's death, to try to the best of my ability to enlarge the usefulness of the Society, and, impelled by this idea, Mr. Doughty and myself, in the month of December last, made a complete canvas of the city and neighborhood for new subscriptions and donations, and

"THAT MOST DISTRESSFUL COU LONDON, Jan. 17.-The Irish loses nothing of its bitterness lapse of time. The plan of Timot to form a national federation to be of anti-Parnellites, gains but lit way, partly on account of the sp of Mr. Healy, who has made man by his acrimonious course, and is by many, even in his faction, but by many, even in his faction, but cause those who hope for peace Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon for o and will not act till they have cistvely heard from. It is worth that, while Irish produce in at is pouring into England-turkeys try from Ireland having supplied day diamers of Englishmen and So the wretched inmates of the Galw had hardly a potatoe. This sho there is plenty of food in Ireland; a large section of the population money to buy food, and no means ey to buy food, and no means money to buy food, and no means ing money. The destitution is e proving more acute, as the loads of brought by British men-of-war are porary relief to the prevail tress. That there is not a increase of the death r the famine districts only shows the witality of the race and its canacite vitality of the race and its capacity fering. Correspondents at the so distress say that the most pitiable that of little children, not hungry that of little children, not hungry but also naked and debarred by the ess from attending school, and o education without which, as thei language is Irish, they can never rise above poverty. Clothing is a wanted as food.
