It is in a kind of a lawful mode of international injury. We have no right to complain if China dopt towards American citizens in the precisely the course we have towards Chinese subjects. There are thousands of Americans in China and trade and teaching. They are the grace of the very Beringian side which the Chinese now in the States came here, and we can exhort them no more than to treat them as we treat our subjects. If that is not to be the case, we must, in summary, we might well and energetic tone of protest, by it may regulate, supervise and are we have done Chinese in this country."

OTTAWA, May 7.—From present appearances, unless the Redistribution Bill is postponed until next year, the Liberal Government will be in a position to carry out its programme for a long stay within the precincts of the Parliament buildings. The decision of yesterday's caucus does not suit all the members of the Opposition, and, no doubt, a number of them will be glad to doubt a pair, one of the first to break away being Mr. Edgar, who has paired with Col. Prior. The general Colonist informs me that he will not return to Ottawa until the absolutely necessary. The pair with Mr. Edgar is to last for one month, which will give Col. Prior ample time to transact certain important business. Mr. Edgar is in immediate attention in Victoria, and he is hopeful that Mr. Edgar will be willing to renew the pair when it expires.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.
The announcement of the proposed obstructive tactics of the Opposition does not worry the Ministerialists. They are prepared to hold on as long as is necessary. It is understood, however, that the Redistribution Bill is taken up, the House will be asked to pass all the Estimates, in order that the business of the country may not be hampered for the first available Government day should the duration of Parliament extend beyond July last, when the next fiscal year commences. This intimation will not be palatable to the Toronto Globe, which has urged the Grits not to vote another cent of money until the Redistribution Bill is disposed of. If obstruction develops itself in Supply, some of the statesmen of the Conservative side say they will not put up with any "monkeying," and are strongly urging the Government to go into Supply the first available Government day in succeeding weeks, and that the Committee shall not rise and report until compelled by law on the succeeding Saturday at midnight. Two weeks of this would be sufficient to bring the Grits to their senses, and they would doubtless be glad to cry "peace." A continuous sitting of 105 hours, which would be involved by going into Supply at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and continuing without intermission until midnight of Saturday, would be sufficient for the one side, and the Opposition would not require to have a second dose of it.

THE CHARGES AGAINST SIR ADOLPHE CARON.
There is a consensus of opinion that the Government has done the thing by referring the charges brought against the Postmaster-General to a Royal Commission. As between a Parliamentary investigation and an inquiry by a Commission, the latter has had experience with both will have no difficulty in deciding which is the more satisfactory. Last year I attended every session of the latter body, and, in my opinion, when the investigation was concluded, even amongst Grits who had been assiduous in pressing the charges against Mr. McGreevy and Sir Hector Langevin, was that its irregular and prolonged character showed that it was not the most perfect tribunal to consider an involved case. Only, perhaps, in one respect has a Parliamentary Committee an advantage over a Commission, and that is with respect to the attendance of its members. Parliament can compel the attendance of witnesses and the submission of all books and documents, which it is held, a Commission cannot do. There is a good deal to be said as to the pressure which was brought to bear upon the Government to compel them to have the charges against Sir Adolphe Caron investigated. The Ministerial contention from the very outset has been that the charges were not specific in their character, and on the day that Mr. Edgar made his motion, Sir John Thompson announced that if the member for West Ontario would come down to particulars and make his allegations specific the Government would not place any obstacle in the way of their being investigated. The matter was subsequently considered by the Government to endeavor to arrive at the conclusion as to which would be the most satisfactory method of dealing with the question in order to satisfy public opinion. It was contemplated at first to simply wipe down the Edgar motion, and then Sir Adolphe Caron was going to rise in his place and demand that an inquiry be held. Subsequently, however, it was thought the better plan would be to meet the motion by an amendment to refer the matter to a Royal Commission, and Dr. Weldon, the able member for Albert, N.B., had been requested to make the motion in the House. Upon further consideration, and in view of the statements made in the Opposition press that there was a good deal of dissatisfaction on the Ministerial benches with respect to the course which the Government was pursuing, it was deemed better, in order to dispose of the idea that the Government was acting under pressure from its supporters, that the motion should be made by a Minister, and accordingly the Hon. Macdonnell, senior Privy Councillor, moved the reference to a Royal Commission. Daylight was streaming through the beautiful eastern windows of the Common chamber before the division bell was set ringing on Thursday morning, but members remained loyally at their post and the Government's majority of 62 testified to the strength that the Conservatives had in the House. One hundred and eighty-eight members recorded their votes, a total which has only been exceeded twice, it is said, in recent years. In 1886, on the Riel question, the vote was 146 to 52, a total of 198; while on the Jeanit question the extraordinary number of 201 votes was cast, the figures being 188 to 13.

ROSLYN'S DISASTER.
What Depends on the Finding of the Coroner's Jury—A Thorough Inspection Ordered.

ROSLYN, May 13.—When the extreme sadness which now prevails in the Roslyn camp has passed away, it is altogether possible that a number of damage suits will be instituted. Several attempts have been made that not only has there been carelessness in the slope work, but that other parts of the mine have been managed in a slack way.

One feature that has assumed prominence is a very bad policy of permitting men to go into parts of the mine in which gas often accumulates, with the ordinary naked or unprotected miner's lamp, and the possibility of explosion has been made to break the habit. Future action will depend largely upon the verdict of the coroner's jury.

OTTAWA, May 13.—Governor Ferry has directed Joseph James, coal mine inspector of district No. 2, to make immediately a thorough investigation of the cause of the Roslyn explosion. Governor Ferry will be satisfied that if the provisions of the inspection law had been complied with by the officers of the Roslyn mine and the Inspector, the recent explosion would have been almost an impossibility. If the safeguards required by the statute have not been provided by the owners of the mine, Governor Ferry will see that they are prosecuted. If it develops that the state coal mine inspector has been negligent in the performance of his duties, he will be re-motivated and prosecuted. The law provides that where fire-damp is generated every working place must be examined every morning with a safety lamp, and workmen are to be kept out of the mine until the examination is made and the mine reported safe. It is also made imperative that the amount of air circulated for ventilation in no case be less than 300 feet per minute.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.
Government Said to Favor an Appeal at Mid-Summer.

LONDON, May 13.—Rt. Hon. Mr. Balfour will meet the Conservative election agents May 31, when a definite indication will be given of the date of the general elections. In the meantime, election agents warn the lobbies of the House of Commons, warning them to be prepared to take everything in readiness. The Crown office will dispatch the election writs within 24 hours of an intimation that dissolution is being asked for in charge of private bills in the House of Commons have been instructed to wind up their business as far as possible by June 24. The Liberal Government has decided to wait 35 days of dissolution of the preceding one, if the general expectation is fulfilled the first week in August will see Gladstone re-instated in power. The Irish party take it for granted that a special session, to be held in November, will proceed with the Home Rule movement. In 1890 he suffered from a severe attack of rheumatism, and he did not make a similar mistake. If a Liberal Government is constituted in the autumn, no policy of Home Rule ought to be fully developed before the season of 1893.

In the electoral field the activity of the independent labor party is a startling phenomenon. No less than 165 candidates have already been named for the coming year in 35 constituencies in this Dominion. That charge is

It is also stated that after some of these gentlemen were received by him this same gentleman advised the Crown to grant other subsidies to other parties, and that from these other subsidies, money was also obtained.

That it was further stated by the said Mr. Mills:

THE CARON CHARGES

Embodied in a Resolution Moved by the Minister of Customs and Carried by a Majority of 62.

The Grits get a Commission of Enquiry That They Do Not Want.

The following is the resolution, moved by the Hon. McKenzie Bowell, containing the charges which are to be investigated by the Royal Commission:

That in the course of the debate arising on resolutions based on such statements of the said Mr. Edgar it was stated by the Hon. Mr. Mills, the member representing the electoral district of Bothwell, as follows:

"So, when the leader of the Government and his colleague undertake to seriously argue that this House is denuded of all its power to inquire into the misappropriation of public money for the purpose of corrupting the elections of this country because the trial of election petitions has been referred to the courts, I take issue with those hon. gentlemen on that ground. The trial of election petitions is one thing. The use of public money for the purpose of corrupting the elections of this country is another thing."

That it was further stated by the said Mr. Mills:

"These charges point to a member of this House in his official capacity as a member of the administration rather than to his conduct as a member of this House. What, in effect, are the charges made? They point to the fact that the Crown was advised to appropriate large sums of money for particular purposes, and that these money were directed from these public purposes and placed in the hands of a minister of the Crown for the purpose of corrupting the elections in certain parts of the Dominion."

That it was further stated by the said Mr. Mills:

"There is a statement made here that this hon. gentleman, the Postmaster-General, is the minister of the Crown who advised these subsidies being appropriated to aid these companies. There is a charge that he obtained a portion of the subsidy so voted or its equivalent from these companies and used it for his own election in the elections of 1891."

That it was further stated by the said Mr. Mills:

"If he advised the Crown to make these appropriations and had an understanding with one of the railway companies participating in them that these moneys or a portion of them should go to him, we ought to know it—we are entitled to know it."

That it was stated in the said debate by Sir Richard Cartwright, the member representing the electoral district of the North riding of Oxford, referring to these charges of the said Mr. Edgar as follows:

"What, in the name of wonder, is it that my hon. friend beside me has charged the Postmaster-General with? He has charged him in no vague language, but in explicit terms, of being guilty of the most corrupt conspiracy for the purpose of destroying the electoral liberties of the people of Canada of which, any adviser of the Crown can be found guilty."

It was stated in the said debate by Mr. Edgar, as follows:

"Those railways which are involved in this charge were added by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and I am a complainant of the appropriation of Dominion subsidies to the Postmaster-General."

And again:

"The Minister of Marine drew a nice point when he said I did not say I should have done, charge his colleague with public robbery. Well, I did not put it in those words, but in words which I certainly intended to mean robbing the public. If it is not public robbery, for a member to take moneys out of public subsidies I would like to know what it is."

And again:

"So, if I get a chance to go on and prove these charges, there will be what, under the law, a most abominable conspiracy."

That, from the aforesaid statements made by the said J. D. Edgar and from comments and arguments thereon by the said David Mills and Sir Richard Cartwright and the said James D. Edgar, it appears that it was the intention of the said J. D. Edgar, by said statements, to charge Sir A. P. Caron, a member of this House and of the Honorable Privy Council of Canada, with grave offences and derelictions of duty, notwithstanding that the said statement of the said J. D. Edgar, first above cited, did not make any definite or precise charge against him; that the following

CHARGES AND ALLEGATIONS, are indicated by the said statement made by the said J. D. Edgar and by the comments and arguments of the aforesaid other members of this House and by his own comments thereon, as intended to be made in the said statement against the said Sir A. P. Caron, namely:

1. That during each of the years 1889 to 1891 inclusive, the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway Company received by way of bonus from the Dominion of Canada subsidies, amounting in the aggregate to upwards of $100,000, which subsidies were voted by Parliament on the recommendation of ministers of the Crown.

2. That during the whole of the said period, from 1889 to 1891, the Hon. Sir A. P. Caron was and is still a member of the Canadian Government and one of Her Majesty's Privy Counsellors for Canada and was also a member of the House of Commons in each Parliament which has been elected since the 1882.

3. That during the said period, and while the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway was being constructed in part by means of said subsidies, the said Sir A. P. Caron knowingly aided and participated in diverting the said subsidies from the purpose for which they were granted by election to the House of Commons of the said Railway Company, or from a construction company formed for the construction of the said railway, or from one H. J. Beemer as manager thereof or contractor of the said railway, large sums of money out of the said subsidies and out of moneys raised upon the credit of the same; and, also, during the said period, did further knowingly so aid and participate by obtaining from the said companies, or one of them, the payment out of the said subsidies and out of moneys raised upon the credit of the same, of large sums of money for election purposes and to aid in the election of the House of Commons of the said Sir A. P. Caron and other members and supporters of the Government of which he was a member.

4. That after some of the last-mentioned party of the said Sir A. P. Caron, in consideration thereof, corruptly aided and assisted the said company to obtain further and other subsidies from the Dominion of Canada.

5. That since the 6th of October, 1885, the said Temiscouata Railway company received various subsidies from the Dominion of Canada, amounting in all to about $240,000, and that the said Sir A. P. Caron knowingly aided and participated in the corruption of the said subsidies.

6. That after some of the last-mentioned party of the said Sir A. P. Caron, in consideration thereof, corruptly aided and assisted the said company to obtain further and other subsidies from the Dominion of Canada.

7. That the said Sir A. P. Caron misappropriated public money for the purpose of corrupting the elections of Canada, to wit: A portion of the moneys voted as subsidies to the said Sir A. P. Caron, in consideration thereof, corruptly aided and assisted the said company to obtain further and other subsidies from the Dominion of Canada.

8. That the said Sir A. P. Caron misappropriated public money for the purpose of corrupting the elections of Canada, to wit: A portion of the moneys voted as subsidies to the said Sir A. P. Caron, in consideration thereof, corruptly aided and assisted the said company to obtain further and other subsidies from the Dominion of Canada.

9. That the said Sir A. P. Caron misappropriated public money for the purpose of corrupting the elections of Canada, to wit: A portion of the moneys voted as subsidies to the said Sir A. P. Caron, in consideration thereof, corruptly aided and assisted the said company to obtain further and other subsidies from the Dominion of Canada.

10. That the said Sir A. P. Caron, by virtue of the fact so alleged entered into a corrupt conspiracy with the said companies, or one or more of them.

11. That in the opinion of this House, it is expedient that enquiry should be made as to the truth of the charges and allegations and charges last mentioned and numbered respectively 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 (being the allegations and charges included in the original statement of the said Sir A. P.
