SYDNEY'S GROWTH
Enormous Development Along Lines of Manufacturing

Details of the census of Canada for 1911, relating to manufactures, show that the percentage of increase in the value of products in Sydney is the highest of any manufacturing centre in the East. In fact no manufacturing centre that figures in the census of 1890 surpasses the growth of Sydney in the last twenty years. We thus see what the development of a basic industry, such as iron and steel, will do for not only the community in which it is situated but for the surrounding country and in fact the whole province.

Under the reasonable policy of encouragement for manufacturers, which has prevailed in the last twenty years, the value of products manufactured in Sydney has grown from $235,000 to $9,395,000. There has, of course, been a corresponding increase in the number of workers and the wages they received. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have passed over the counters of the merchants of Sydney and the surrounding country during the last twenty years that would have been expended in the United States or Great Britain had Canada not been wise enough to encourage the manufacture of iron and steel.

MANUFACTURED GOODS COMING FROM STATES

Two-thirds of American Trade With Canada is Finished Products—A Change Needed

Particulars of United States exports to Canada as supplied in the Wall Street journal recently provide abundant food for thought for every Canadian, whether a protectionist or free trade leaning. According to the figures Canada, with a population of less than eight millions, is a larger purchaser of United States goods than any other country in the world with the exception of the United Kingdom. Imports from United States have doubled growing from $16,000,000 in 1910 to $32,000,000 in 1913. Some of the principal items are as follows:—

	1910	1913
Automobiles	$3,338,000	$9,250,000
Copper pigs, bars, etc.	1,000,000	6,500,000
Steel rails	1,000,000	4,000,000
Cotton cloths	750,000	2,500,000
Locomotives	250,000	1,000,000
Lumber (boards, deals, etc.)	5,000,000	13,333,000
Structural iron and steel	3,000,000	9,000,000
Metal-working machinery	333,000	9,000,000
Agricultural implements	3,333,000	7,000,000
Pipes and fittings	1,500,000	4,000,000
Leather boots and shoes	1,250,000	3,000,000
Illuminating oil	500,000	1,000,000

In raw materials imported from the United States the increase is not so great. Most of the manufactured articles in which the United States trade has grown are protected under our present tariff policy. The figures would indicate however that the United States manufacturer, with his vast organization and highly specialized plant and enormous volume of trade, is still able to produce at a figure which discounts the average Canadian duty of 16 per cent. Those who would still further lower the tariff may well pause and consider whether they would be serving the best interests of the country by making Canada's adverse balance of trade with the United States still greater. At present we must borrow money from England to pay for United States goods. Would not the financial stringency be less apparent in Canada if the greater part of this $415,000,000 was spent in Canada and the money circulated among Canadian workmen, who in turn would buy Canadian farm produce and their articles of food and clothing from Canadian merchants in Canadian towns? The thought naturally suggests itself that the trade policy of the country should be framed with a view to securing for the Canadian people a greater share in the industrial activity which imports from the United States indicate is now going elsewhere.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT ARE COMING
Three Special Features Will be Seen Here at the Opera House

Manger Dimock, ever alert to secure for Campbellton the best things which are available, as arranged with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau for one of their splendid courses. It is interesting to note that there are now twelve thousand of these courses running in the Dominion and in the States. The reason they are so popular is due to the co-operative plan, whereby season tickets for the whole course can be secured at about one-half price. This is putting the cost within the reach of everybody, who cares for clean, clever, high grade entertainment, such as is heard in the auspices of town committees board of trade, etc.

On Jan. 1st, comes the Aida Quartet—best colleges, churches and under the ette and C. Pol Plancon. This quartette comes from New York, where they have appeared often with the world's greatest artists, and they have a record of four years of splendid success in transcontinental tours. Their trumpet quartettes are a special feature, although one of the number is an excellent violin soloist, another a cellist and another a brilliant pianist. Mr. Plancon, a baritone, who is exceptionally good in operatic arias, is a cousin of the famous French Basso, and possesses much of the style and genius of his distinguished relative.

On Jan. 29th, Miss Marjory Lacey will present the complete play "Everywoman", impersonating all of the characters and doing so in such a clever way that each one stands in bold relief. This is thought by many to be the greatest piece of dramatic literature of the past decade, and it not only holds hearers with its fascinating interest, but carries a great lesson, especially for the young. Miss Lacey is considered one of the brightest lights now on the lyceum platform. The Collegians Quartette comes on Feb. 13th. This is not only an excellent singing quartette, but the young men are players upon brass instruments, and one of the number is a clever reader and humorist, so that a program of splendid interest and novelty is assured.

Season tickets for the entire course have been placed at $1.50 and subscriptions for the same will be received at Opera House commencing Monday evening, December 15th, at 7.30 o'clock, and every evening thereafter. Seats will be reserved in the order in which subscriptions come in, without extra charge. Payment can be made then or at any time before the first number.

CHEAPER FENCE POSTS.

As a result of the many enquiries in regard to the preservative treatment of fence posts, the Forestry Branch Ottawa, has now issued a circular on this subject which can be had by applying to the Director of Forestry. The various methods described of treating the posts with the preservatives are all illustrated by diagrams, and the apparatus required is simple and costs little.

The great advantage of these treatments is that they keep even cheap woods free from decay for from ten to fifteen years. Many kinds of wood found in farmers' wood-lots will last when used as posts, only four years or thereabouts; after treatment, such as described, they last twice or three times, even four times, as long.

Creosote, which costs in Canada, from ten to twenty-five cents a gallon, is the best preservative. When boiling-hot creosote is applied liberally with a brush—a paint brush or whitewash brush, for instance—to the butts of well-seasoned posts from which the bark has been removed, it sinks into the wood for a distance of about a quarter of an inch. This should add at least ten years to the life of a post made from an nondurable wood, such as poplar, balsam, fir or spruce. This is not the best method, but it is the simplest and, on a small scale, probably the cheapest. Other methods require that the posts be kept covered in tanks of hot creosote for a longer or shorter period.

Besides lengthening the life of the post, the preservative treatment also tends to reduce the cost of the posts in another way, for, as cheap local woods can be used, the first cost of transportation are usually much lower than for cedar, oak or tamarack. Moreover, as posts will need to be set less often, the proportionate cost of setting the post will be less. Taking into account all the items that go to make up the cost of the post, and comparing this with the number of years it will last, it will be found, in the majority of cases, to be much less for treated posts.
