Gossip from Chicago.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochran: The opening was about 1 cent off from yesterday's close and 2 cents from the late curb price. The sales by bears were generally covered from ½ to 1c higher, and they were caught a second time in some way, but finally succeeded in closing the market at near bottom figures. Provisions opened weak in sympathy with wheat and a lower hog market, but good buying rallied the market at the close. Purchases on the breaks generally show a moderate profit very soon.

Counselman & Day advise J. J. Dixon & Co.: "We still believe safest policy is to sell wheat on every bulge." They advise purchasing provisions on every break.

Corn is in good shipping demand, with light stocks; advise against further raiding in September, but think October a good sale at 60. So say Counselman & Day.

Guff from Gotham.

Henry Allen & Co. to J. J. Dixon & Co: To-day showed slight increase in number of transactions over previous day's and more wildness was evident in its course than before and prices were pushed upward again to-day. The market is not the market of the outsider. Everybody now has stocks, and many of them have been purchased at high tide. Nothing outside seems to confirm the action of the market and to sustain the advance of prices. The situation abroad has not changed. The manufacturing world is still disturbed and unsettled, the iron and coal trade dull and no favorable symptoms apparent in the general business outlook. Under such circumstances it would seem that investors would indulge in the market at their peril.

Drummond & Brown's correspondents: Stock market opened buoyant with heavy dealings for London account. The buying of L. & N. Wabash, U.P., N.P., amounted to 10,000 shares. The temper of exchange still bullish. Bond market strong. The speculation is growing in the low-priced stocks. European markets also strong and much higher. The stock market is broadening beyond question.

R. Cochran's correspondents: The market had a reaction of ¼ to 1 per cent. from highest prices early in the afternoon, but toward the close again became very strong and final prices were in many cases the best of the day. The market is a growing one and has all the indications of becoming broader and advancing.
