MAPLESS REGIONS
An Eighth of the World's Land Surface Still Unexplored.

AREAS WRAPPED IN MYSTERY.

"The Dwelling of the Void" in Arabia is supposed to be the most desolate waste on the globe—New Guinea has baffled countless expeditions.

It would seem as though this little world of ours should be pretty thoroughly known by this time, yet there are many unexplored territories which have yet to receive the impress of a human foot and which doubtless, like the north and south polar regions, will take their toll of heroic victims from the hardy explorers who first enter their closed portals.

On a rough estimate about 7,000,000 square miles, or one-eighth of the total land surface of the world, are waiting to be discovered. Some 200,000 square miles of this lie in the arctic regions of the north, but among the frozen tracts that form "antarctic" in the south, where Scott and his gallant followers were penetrating, nearly 3,000,000 square miles are relegated to the sole use of whales, seals, penguins, petrels and other animal and bird inhabitants of frozen homes.

It is true that human habitations could never be formed in such climes as these, but the scientific world is ever eager for the discoveries of explorers, and even among uninhabited districts their work is never wasted.

In Arabia there exists a tract of unexplored country nearly five times as large as Great Britain. It stretches from Mecca almost to the southeast coast and is called Dahkna, or "the Dwelling of the Void." Probably no more desolate waste is to be found in the globe, for not a single river is estimated to flow throughout its entire 400,000 square miles. Imagine Germany and France combined without river or stream and you will gain some idea of the parched condition of Dahkna. The Sahara is a blissful retreat by comparison.

Some authorities state that the whole desert is not worth the price of a good malacca cane. Others give credence to the legend that treasures and hidden cities lie in the heart of the sands.

Of quite a different character are the enormous mountain fastnesses of South America, which lie along the upper Amazon and in the districts of Colombia and Peru. The celebrated treasure of Cuzco lies secreted among the Peruvian heights. Impenetrable forests, mountain jungles and innumerable fever spreading rivers hold the most intrepid adventurers at bay, to say nothing of carnivorous ants, malignant snakes, water moccasins and those most deadly of serpents, anacondas. During recent years over a dozen expeditions have been either wholly or partially wiped out in their efforts to wrestle with these regions.

Although the famous El Dorado, which set the sixteenth century ablaze, has never been unearthed, the country generally might fittingly be called El Dorado, from the rich minerals and priceless stones emanating therefrom.

Strange, wild eyed men descend occasionally from the mountains, bringing wonderful fragments with them. But they refuse to act as guides to those who would accompany them back.

It is curious to realize that vast portions of the British empire have never been seen by British eyes or the eyes of any white men. Nearly a quarter of Australia is still unexplored, mainly in the west, where the population averages only one person in about every twenty square miles.

New Guinea has baffled countless expeditions, though many are still trying to fight their way inland from the coast. Despite the fact that the interior of this island is practically a geographical blank, it is neatly divided on the maps between Britain, Germany and Holland. Among its products are birds of paradise, spices and cannibals.

Another particularly interesting district which has so far defied civilization lies secreted among the Himalaya mountains. Rumor accounts that it is presided over by women, who are responsible for such rude laws as are necessary even in a lawless district, manage the affairs of state and live in a luxury of inverted Mormonism by possessing four or five husbands apiece. To the hill men are relegated all the rough tasks and menial labor. "Mere man" is of small account beside these Himalayan amazons. But we may assume that in due season the men will rise to claim their vote.

The foregoing selection does not exhaust by any means the list of geographical blanks waiting to be filled. Before the atlas complete can lie on our shelves we must penetrate the darker haunts of Borneo, North America, the Kongo basin, the 700 mile mountain range that stretches from Der Fur into the heart of Sahara and numerous other spaces.—London Answers.

Yeast—So clear is the mountain atmosphere at Quito, under the equator in Ecuador, that persons dressed in white have been distinguished seven-tens miles away. Crimsonbeak—That's no place for a man to owe his tailor money.—Yonkers Statesman.

Smut Diseases of Cultivated Plants

It is estimated by the Director of the Experimental Farms that smut diseases of cultivated plants cause an annual loss in Canada of at least fifteen million dollars. If these diseases were properly understood and the best known remedies applied at proper times much of this serious injury would be prevented.

In order to teach crop growers how best to protect their fields against damage by smuts there has been issued by the Department of Agriculture a comprehensive, plainly written treatise which is issued as bulletin No. 73, of the Experimental Farms. The author, Mr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist, has gone into the subject very thoroughly, not only describing the smuts, in their various stages, that affect wheat, barley, oats, corn and millet, but attention is given to methods of infection as well as the preventive measures and curative methods that have been found useful. The text which occupies about fifty pages is much helped by numerous illustrations. This work is being sent out free to all who apply for it to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

Distribution of Pure Bred Live Stock

As announced early in the season, the Dominion Live Stock Branch has this year undertaken a distribution of pure bred male animals throughout Canada on a somewhat extensive scale. In inaugurating this policy the aim has been to aid sections where pure bred sires were lacking and to encourage new communities in following an intelligent system in breeding. This form of assistance has proven very popular and during the last few months a large number of bulls and several stallions have been placed in various parts of the country in the hands of local associations formed specially for the purpose of handling and maintaining them. All animals placed remain the property of the Department of Agriculture, the local associations assuming the responsibility for their maintenance and management under the general supervision of officers of the Live Stock Branch.

The distribution of bulls and stallions having been brought to a close for this year the opportunity is now open to deal with applications for boars and rams. Full information regarding the rules governing the distribution and the procedure to be followed in forming the necessary organization may be had upon application to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

As it is the intention to consider only such requests as are forwarded before October 20th, it will be necessary for districts desiring to take advantage of this offer to act promptly.

Ambition is but man's aim at the target; as man aims he should make his energy fire, thus day by day lifting his aspirations higher.

Every man would have a pretty fair reputation if people looked for his good qualities as carefully as they look for the good qualities of a dog.

He—"That's absurd. Do you think I'm as big a fool as I look?" She—"I think if you aren't you have a great deal to be thankful for."

STRANGLER WITH ASTHMA is the only expression that seems to convey what is endured from an attack of this trouble. The relief from Dr. J. D. Klogg's Asthma Remedy is beyond measure. Where all was suffering there comes comfort and rest. Breathing becomes normal and the bronchial tubes completely clear. This unequalled remedy is worth many times its price to all who use it.

Courtesy is the eye which overlooks your friend's broken gateway, but sees the rose which blossoms in his garden.

After all, the kind of world one carries about within one's self is the important thing, and the world outside takes all its grace, color and value from that.

Old Gentleman—"Well, my little lad, are you going fishing or are you going to school?" Little lad—"I dunno yet, I'm just a-wrestling with my conscience."

Finding fault with your brother is but the heaping of abuse upon him; you can neither use nor abuse another for your own gain without becoming the worse for it.

Farming's Bright Future

(P. Rowan News).

It may be that in a few years the whole dairying business will be transferred to the cities. Milking machines can be more profitably employed where cows are kept in great herds in big stables and yards. Power for operating milkers, churns, washers and other dairy appliances can be more economically employed in the cities: inspection of cows and oversight of all the processes of manufacture can be more certainly undertaken in the populous centres, where things are done on a large scale. When dairying and cattle raising is transferred to the cities, the farmer will have nothing to do but grow feed for the city stables and haul fertilizer from the railway station. When the city man goes into the dairy business on a large scale he will soon have a machine for teaching calves to drink.

Thousands of mothers can testify to the virtue of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, because they know from experience how useful it is.

"Thomas," said the mother severely, "some one has taken a big piece of gingerbread out of the pantry."

Tommy blushed guiltily.

"Oh, Thomas," she exclaimed, "I didn't think it was in you."

"It ain't all," replied Tommy, "part of it's in Sadie."

Constipation

is an enemy within the camp. It will undermine the strongest constitution and ruin the most vigorous health. It leads to indigestion, biliousness, impure blood, bad complexion, sick headaches, and is one of the most frequent causes of appendicitis. To neglect it is slow suicide.
