M. Pouchet, in his great work. The Universe," says that "Anatonically and physically speaking, the human mechanism is very rule and coarse, compared to the exquisite delicacy revealed in the organism of some animals. But hi us, the intellect, the rul sceptre of the universe precloninates over the apparent imperfection of matter. Through it man alone approaches the chosen creatures who shine near the throne of the Rieman, and form a boan of union between heaven and earth. If in his structure he belongs to our sphere, he seems already to clovate himself towards the Supreme Bisence by the splendour of his genius. A grand and philosophic truth, and yet how comparatively small the number, and great the genius, compared to the number of the earth's inhabitants. Were men to conform more to the laws of health and in ture, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows Compound Syrup of Hypephosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, white the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvelous.

The tendency of the English markets during the week has been downwards, but this fact has exercised very little influence here, because hearly all offering is required for the local demand. NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

Now, as heretofore, The Tribune strives to be first of all and preeminently a news paper.

France a Republica-England and Germany gradually permeated with Republican ideas—Spain waying in the nerveless grap of a ruler too good for a King and too weak for a Republican, who is unable to govern the great island that blocks the entrance to and Gulf of Mexico, and equally unable to give it up—the German-speaking peoples agitated by a new Protestantism, separating from the See of Rome on the dogma of Papai Infalliability and assuming to recognize the "Oil atholise" the whole Continent pervaded by the intellectual ferment that comes of the conflict between old ideas, philosophical, theological, material, and the advance of physical Science—Russia and Great Britain numing a race for the onal gains that shall determine Asiatic corpusacy—China Seeming ready to abundon her advance of physical Science—Russia and Great Britain numing a race for the onal gains that shall determine Asiatic correspondency—China Seeming ready to abundon her advance of physical Science—Russia and Great Britain numing a race for the onal gains the shall determine Asiatic correspondents in the leading capitals; and where the mails over all Continents and the wires-under-all Sees are daily bearing to us. With abloand trusted correspondents in the leading capitals; and wherever great changes are in progress, The Tribuya alms, at whatever cost, to lay before its readers the most prompt, complete, and popular presentment of these dherse and conflicting novements, through all of which, as it fondly trust, the tolling masses are everywhere struggling up toward larger recognition and a brighter future.

At home the struggle for freedom seems over. The last slave has long beon a citizen; the last opposition to emancipation, enfranchisement, equal civif rights, live formally been abandoned. No parry, North or South longer desputes the result of the War for the Union; all declare that these results must never be undone, and in the prolonged civil contests t

The Weekly Trinune, now more than thirty years old, has endeavored to keep up with the progress of the age in improvement and enterprise. It devotes a large share of its columns to Agriculture as the most essential and general of human pursuits. It employs the ablest and most successful cultivators to set forth in brief, clear essays their practical views of the Farmer's work. It reports public discensions which clucidate that work; gathers from every source agricultural news, the reports of the latest experiments, the stories of the latest successes and failures, and whateve may fend at once to better Agriculture, and to commend it as the first and most important of progressive. The Weekly Transons appeals also to Teachers, Students, and persons of inquiring iniads, by the character of its literary contents, which include reviews of oil the works proceeding from the master minds of the old or of the New World, with libral extracts from those of especial interest. Imagnative Literature also claims attention; but in a submilinate degree. "Home Interests" are discussed weekly by a lady specially qualified to instruct and interest her own sex, a. d. 2'w younger portion of the other. No column is more cagerig-sought or persued with greater average profit than hers. The News of the 1-1, cladidated by brief comments, is so condensed that no reader can deem it diffuse, white given sufficiently in detail to satisfy the wants of the average reader. Selections are regularly made from the extensive correspondence of The Dalay Traibusk from the extensive correspondence of The Dalay Traibusk from the extensive commends itself to Millions, by ministering to their intellectual wants more fully than they are met by any other journal, while its regular reports of the Carlier, while its regular reports of the Carlier, but in the prince of the dama trainer who regular protest of the Carlier, save the farmer who regular protest of the Carlier. For the family circle of the educated farmer or artisan, The Werkly Thinews has no superior, as is proved by the hundred of thousands who, having read it from childhood, stuft cherns and enjoy it in the prince and on the down hill of life. We respectfully urge those who know its worth to commend The Weekly Thinews to their friends and neighbors, and we profier it to clubs at piece which barely pay the cest of paper and press work.

FOR THE YOUNG OF ALL AGES.

EDITED BY GEORGE MACDONALD,

AND ILLESTRATED BY THE BEST ARTISTS

".* This Magazine has hitherto been issued under the title of "GOOD WORDS FOR THE YOUNG." To mark the important changes and improvements which have been introduced, it has been thought well to alter the name to the simpler and pittier one given above. Good Thisos will address itself to the young of all ages, from the little beginner, who can just read a picture, to the big boys and giris who study at the desk or shout in the playground; and so onwards up to the veterans who, after all their learning, tunk to the children for a fresher wisdom, and after all their work, sit in the shedy corner and play the old games, over again in their heads. "GOOD THINOS" hopes, as a poriodical, to have its margins well thumbed and dog-carred; and when the binder has rimmed those and made it fit for the library, the volume will try for a fixed place there in good company. The flavors of a multifude of assorted "goodles" cannot be just into a prospectus; but the
