Call Signs

1. (1) All stations open to the service of international public correspondence, and also private experimental stations, amateur stations and private radiocommunication stations, must have call signs taken from the international series assigned to each country in the following table of distribution. In this table, the first letter or the first two letters provided for the call signs show the nationality of the stations.

(2) When a fixed station uses more than one frequency in the international service, each frequency is identified by a separate call sign, used solely for such frequency.
