

IN A GOLD CAGE

In the new quarters occupied by the Information Division, a very small room indeed is shared by two editors. With two desks, three filing cabinets, two tables and two bookcases, a telephone table, etc., there is very little room for circulation. One of the bookcases had to be put quite close to the door. A few days ago, a visitor on his way out stood close to the bookcase and attempted to open the door. He was caught between the two and as a result got quite a gash over the left eye. A few moments later the same thing pretty nearly happened to a second visitor, who fortunately had a bumper. The ladies — because ladies they are — fearing that their male visitors would not come back if they felt they were trapped, have decided to leave the door of their office open as often as possible; notwithstanding the draught from the plaza. So WELCOME TO ALL YE, MERRY GENTLEMEN.....

TWO BIRDS

WE DEFINE

- Diplomacy: — — — The art of convincing one's wife that she looks fat when wearing a mink coat.
- Friable: — — — — Bacon and eggs.
- Anchorage: — — — — To inspire.
- Influent: — — — — Lots of drag.
- Gypsum: — — — — To cheat a little.
- Mixed Emotions: — Watching mother-in-law drive over a cliff in your new cadillac.
- Courier: — — — — A gigolo who escorts bags.

M. J. R.

DID YOU KNOW?

That Alan Riddell, born in Ottawa on November 9, is the third child (second son) of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Riddell.

The drawing on the cover of this issue is the work of Mr. J.R. Mitchell.

SAVIEZ-VOUS?

Que M. Jean Côté est père d'un second fils, Antoine, né à Ottawa le 15 novembre.

Que Noëlla Bélanger, depuis dix ans rédactrice à la Division de l'Information, a été élue récemment présidente du Cercle des Femmes Journalistes (Section de l'Outaouais).

