HEARST GOVERNMENT VS. UNITED FARMERS

tion, notwithstanding the high cost of newspaper. R. H. Halpert of Melancthon, president of the Ontario Farmers' Union, said that the government was not only failing to make the difference plain to his hearers. There is no doubt at all that the campaign conducted in this way changed a large number of Conservative votes. There is scarcely a section of the constituency outside of the towns where well-known Conservatives did not plainly identify themselves with the opposition forces. Fully seventy per cent. of the voters live on the farms, so that it cannot be said that the government was a turnover in the whole vote of one thousand to fifteen hundred, but this is a large percentage.

Women's Factor.

The women's vote is the only unknown quantity in the election. The farmers of North Ontario are not rolling in affluence, and it will be a hardship for the man and woman to leave the farm together for the purpose of voting. However, the opposition campaign has not lacked in the practical details of organization, and there has been a partial mobilization of vehicles to overcome the inconvenience and loss of time that must be incurred in getting out the women's vote.

The government and the Proudfoot Liberals have been suspected of some collusion in the planning of the fight. Mr. Proudfoot was Mr. Henry's visitor when the active part of the warfare on the farmers began, and it is thought that he was consulted about the complete failure of the Hearst-Proudfoot alliance, a deliberate plan to overwhelm the farmers' party by making some tactical move to bring the Hearst-Proudfoot alliance into action. Whether this overture came from Mr. Proudfoot or not, some overtures have been made.

Alliance is Coming.

The United Farmers are prepared to carry their co-operation with the workingmen into the political field and even into the legislature, and at the opening of the coming session of the provincial assembly the alliance will be avowed. The union of the two infant parties may not cut much of a figure against the huge majority on the government side for the time being, but a general election must be held before the spring of 1920 and many things may happen in the meantime to help make the political force bulk large in the sight of the general electorate of the province.

So far as the personal element in the fight is concerned it may really be eliminated. Both candidates are of excellent standing and also stand
