TROUBLE FOR UNCLE SAM.

Agunaldo, the Philippine insurgent, demands absolute independence, else fight to death.

London, Nov. 19.—There is much agitation among the Philippine representatives in Europe over the Philippine situation.

Agunaldo, the representative of Agunaldo, who has been in Paris watching the proceedings of the Peace Commission, starts for Washington today.

It is learned that all the Filipinos in Paris and London to meet him in Paris when a committee was formed with the object of doing everything possible to induce France to recognize the so-called Philippine republic.

A telegram was sent to Agunaldo asking for instructions, and the following reply is said to have been received:

"Insist upon absolute independence otherwise fight to the death. We are all united and the Government is progressing smoothly. All the independent tribes of mountainous provinces are submitting to Agunaldo, and the chiefs are bringing in presents of gold."

If a man will try to substitute some other water for Mt. Clemens Sprudel, won't he try to fool you on his other goods?

HAMILTON NEWS

THEY WANT TO BE PROTECTED

Hamilton Employers Must Have Some Sort of a Union.

AWFUL STATE OF AFFAIRS

Resulting From Cutting of Prices Bring Them to This Conclusion—Found Dead in Bed—Hearings on the Milkmen—Church Meetings and Other News From the Ambitious City.

Hamilton, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—The employers in the building and allied trades have come to the conclusion they must have some sort of union, as have those whom they employ. Some years ago a builders' exchange was started, but after a short term of usefulness it went to the wall.

Of late there has been so much cutting of prices, the builders say, that there is nothing left for them after money has been paid out for wages and material. Something must be done to meet this deplorable state of affairs and, accordingly, about 50 interested men met in the Board of Trade rooms last evening to decide on a week's trade union. Mr. John R. Harvey was appointed chairman, and Mr. J. H. Smith secretary, pro tem. The discussion that followed showed that rivalry and rates were playing a bad part in the building trades and the meeting decided to appoint a committee of generous proportions to formulate a constitution and bylaws, with all additional available information, and present a report at the next meeting.

Dead for Days. Henry Harvey, 54, West-street, made a horrible discovery yesterday morning. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Harvey, lived alone at 172 Catharine-street north, and as her neighbors had seen nothing of her since a week last Thursday, they informed Mr. Harvey and he went to his mother's home to see what was wrong. He found all the doors locked and an attic door at the top of the stairs room and on searching found the dead body of his mother lying on the bed on which she was found to have died several days. Near by was a bird cage, in which was lying the dead body of a canary. The police were notified and in turn Coroner Griffin was advised, and an inquest was opened yesterday afternoon. The body was removed to the morgue at 10 o'clock last night at No. 3 Police Station.

Deceased was about 65 years old and was a sister-in-law of the late William Farmer, a plumber, for whom she kept house up to his death.

Hard on the Milkmen. A Dominion Inspector recently paid a visit to the city by day and in the afternoon he was accompanied by Inspector McDonald of the Hamilton Board of Health. The result of his visit was a report to the board at its next meeting, and on the authority of the chairman it is said the Dominion official's report will be to have the milkmen especially for the city milk-dealers. According to the law of the city, whose residents use the milk, cannot make an inspection of low by other means, and the Dominion Inspector says this ought to be permitted.

Among the Churches. The seventh Methodist church, St. Lawrence Church was celebrated today. Mr. McEwan preached this morning. This evening the relics of St. Lawrence were venerated. Rev. Dr. Williams and Rev. W. F. Wilson, of Toronto, preached educational sermons at Centenary Church today.

Anniversary services were held today at Centenary Church. Rev. J. B. Pickering, a former pastor, being the preacher.

Missionary services were held at Zion Tabernacle today. The preachers being Rev. Dr. Williams and Rev. W. F. Wilson.

The new Presbyterian Church at West Front-street was opened today. Rev. Dr. Fraser, of Toronto, assisted in the services.

Rev. Dr. Beavis preached the annual sermon at the Wesleyan Methodist church, A. F. & A. M., in the Methodist Church, Stony Creek, this afternoon.

A Bit of History. Last spring John J. O'Reilly was arrested for the charge of violating a city by-law and P. C. Campagna was the principal witness against him. Last Saturday morning, Campagna was known to the Police Commissioners by Mr. O'Reilly, who complained that this officer had ordered him to "move on," while talking to some men on the sidewalk. Although the officer was strongly upheld in his action by Magistrate Jeffs, there has been considerable talk about the case.

Police Points. While the family of Mr. Robert Fletcher, who lives near the pumping house on the Beach-road, was away yesterday, thieves entered the house and carried off $25, some jewelry and a number of coats.

John Hunter, who gave the police so much trouble last Sunday, was up again before the magistrate yesterday and fined $1 for using profane language to P. C. Zeats, a week ago.

Minor Matters. At the next municipal elections there will be only 39 polling subdivisions.

Lord Minto has written Mayor Colquhoun, regretting that he cannot accept the city's invitation to visit Hamilton on Nov. 28. His Excellency hopes to have that pleasure in the near future.

Already nearly 40 appeals have been entered against the Court of Revision's decisions. To-morrow is the last day for entering appeals.

Mr. Russell, owner of the long barbed-wire fence on the mountain, that has caused so much trouble, has promised yesterday to take it down at once.

BLACK FOR ELLIOTT.

lived alone in a small place in Beaverton. The house contained but one room. He was 30 years of age and was so feeble and so afflicted with asthma that he could walk but a short distance without taking a rest. A week ago Saturday John McHattie called on him, and he went to the house of Edward Elliott, the prisoner, caught up to him. Elliott asked McHattie where he was going and he told him that he was going to Murray's. Elliott said he would go along and so he did. When they went into the house Murray pulled out his purse and the change of money which he saw was the change of Murray. Murray pulled out his purse and put the change into it. The amount was 70c. When McHattie was leaving, he said: "Elliott, come along to the neighbors' meeting."

Elliott replied: "I am going to stay here a while." As McHattie left Elliott was sitting near the old man, with the iron poker in his hand, swinging it between his legs. This was the last time Murray was seen alive.

Tell-Tale Evidence. "On Sunday (the next day) McHattie went to Murray's house and found the door locked. He thought the old man had gone out, and went away. Returning on Monday morning, he still found the door locked, but thought perhaps Murray had gone out in the country to visit his daughter. Finally, on Tuesday the neighbors' meeting was drawn to the fact that no chimney had been coming out of the smoke of Murray's house. The windows in front were partially boarded up, as had been the case for some time, but on peeping inside, they saw the body lying on the floor. The house opened at the back. His head was badly battered and alongside the body was the iron poker, with blood on it, and a stick of wood. The body was four feet in length, the bottom of which was saturated with blood.

Suspicion Points to Elliott. "About 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, it afterwards transpired that Elliott was seen coming from the direction of Murray's house by Beatrice Gardner. When she saw Elliott she saw the blood on his head and she saw the iron poker and spoke about it and Elliott replied: "I cut my hand when I fell on a piece of ice!" But Miss Gardner saw no cut.

But Miss Gardner saw the blood on the floor and she saw the iron poker and she saw a cut on Elliott's hand. A boy named David McHattie saw Elliott, with the dead man's pocketbook.

A Bad Record. "I have a very strong case against him," said the coroner in his statement to the coroner about the key of Murray's house, which he now repudiates, but I don't think there is any doubt about his guilt. He was a very bad man, and a very bad man in Canada. And he is like Allison in his barbarous treatment of dumb animals. This boy Elliott will take a cat and dig out its eyes and use the eyes for his pocket money. He was a very bad man, and he will do anything for a few dollars. He has a record for shop-breaking and larceny, and is now under suspended sentence for his bad behavior. This Elliott is a boy not yet 16 years of age, and he's a man for his age at that."

THERE MAY BE MONEY IN IT

For Clyde Kerr, the Wandering Boy, Who is Sought

BY HIS AUNT, MRS. BYWATER

His Grand Aunt is Elderly and Has Money to Leave Behind Her—An Interesting Family History—Where is This Wandering Boy?

Clyde Kerr, a lad of 13 years, is wandering in distant parts, Chicago presumably, while a grand aunt living in Perth, Ontario, elderly in years and rich in money, is using every agency available to recover the only son of her favorite nephew.

Mrs. Joseph Bywater of 79 D'Arvy-street in a letter to her daughter, George Kerr, who is Health Inspector of Winnipeg, and she is very anxious to locate her son. She has advertised in American papers, but so far her efforts have been futile. Mrs. Bywater states that her aunt in Perth is now 80 years of age, and feeling that her days are numbered the old lady has taken a strong interest in the recovery of her nephew.

The boy was born in Winnipeg. There George Kerr, his father, died eight years ago, and the widow went on whose name was never made known to the eastern relatives. Thus, when the mother died, some time later, all connection between them and Clyde was severed. They were in Chicago at that time, and the mother died, but whether the lad and his stepfather are still there is unknown.

The Canadian friends of young Kerr would like to get any information touching his whereabouts, as it would be to the boy's advantage to return to his dead stepfather.

Suffered Agony With Pains in the Stomach—Hood's Cured.

The testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla are so worthy of confidence as though they came from your most trusted neighbor. They are written by honest people who are grateful for the cures accomplished by this wonderful medicine. Read this statement:

"I was afflicted with severe pains in my stomach from which I suffered much agony at times. I was afraid to go any distance from home for fear of having an attack. I was treated for neuralgia of the head without avail. At last my mother wrote and urged me to try
