More Protection for Steel Is Now Next to a Certainty

Government Will Extend to the Industry the Benefit of Increased Duties.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special).—An immediate adjustment of the duties on iron and steel is next to a certainty. The cabinet, after many conferences, in which conflicting views were expressed, has, it is understood, decided to extend to the iron industry the increased protection demanded in R. L. Borden's resolution. Tonight Hon. W. S. Fielding went to Montreal to consult friends interested in the iron and steel industry. Hon. W. S. Fielding is expected to return to Ottawa tomorrow to discuss details with Hon. George A. Cox and others.

The government's reluctance to have the House go into supply and thus precipitate the debate on the Borden resolution has been conspicuous. Mr. Blair's railway commission bill and comparative civil government bill have been given precedence day after day to avoid taking up the estimates. The government was divided as to the wisdom of increasing the duties on iron and steel. The Borden resolution made it necessary that they should reach a decision, and several lively cabinet conferences have taken place since the introduction of the resolution in the House. There can be no doubt that Mr. Borden's resolution forced the hand of the government.

There were Ministers who desired to refuse increased protection point blank, but Hon. W. S. Fielding did not care to challenge R. L. Borden on a subject so intimately related to the prosperity of his own province, and, strange enough, the free trader, Mr. Fielding, has been the most enthusiastic advocate of the increased protection in the cabinet.

The resolutions providing for an increase in the iron and steel duties may be submitted to the House on Wednesday. They may be announced in connection with the debate on Mr. Borden's resolution, and then again it is possible that the government will choose to state its policy in advance of a discussion which would show opposition to be the leader and the government the follower in the movement for higher duties on iron and steel.

NO OPPORTUNITY TO-DAY.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special).—Before adjournment, R. L. Borden asked what business would be taken up tomorrow. Hon. Sydney Fisher replied that the Railway Commission bill would be taken up, and, if disposed of, the House would go into Committee of Supply. Mr. Borden protested that a week ago, he had made a motion concerning iron and steel duties. If it was proposed to have the House go into supply tomorrow, he would say that he had a motion to bring forward to-day.

FIELDING IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, June 8.—(Special).—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, arrived in Montreal tonight. It is supposed that he has something to do with the proposal to give increased protection to the steel industry. Mr. Fielding, when seen to-night at the Windsor Hotel, in his left hand, carried a cane from Montreal and has no relatives known to his friends in Ottawa.

One bullet lodged in his heart and the other in his left breast. Charette came from Montreal and has no relatives known to his friends in Ottawa.

PENNY SAVINGS BANKS HIGHEST DEPOSIT $300

Hon. Mr. Fielding Introduces His Bill to Encourage Thrift.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special).—Today Hon. W. S. Fielding introduced his bill, to authorize the establishment of penny savings banks. Mr. Fielding explained that the object of the institution was the cultivation of thrift in small matters and the encouragement of the habit of saving among a class not reached by government savings banks. A year ago, the government had applied to the House for power to establish a penny savings bank in that city. It was thought better to pass general act, which would cover all cases of a similar character throughout the country.

No Money Matters.

There is to be a statute, under which, by letters patent, penny savings banks may be established. They will not be money-lending establishments, but rather collecting agencies for the government savings banks. They are to hold a small sum, say five per cent of deposits, but the balance must be paid into the government savings banks, and only withdrawn to pay depositors.

While the banks are required to have no capital, they must have a guarantee fund of $10,000, as a guarantee of good faith, as they will be chiefly undertaken in connection with benevolent and charitable institutions. The government will allow the banks one-half of one per cent, above the ordinary rate of interest allowed to depositors in the government savings banks. This, it is expected, will pay the cost of management. The deposits of the bank may not be invested, but may be deposited in the government savings banks. The maximum limit of a deposit will be $200.

WILL WIND UP ATLAS LOAN.

National Trust Co. Appointed Liquidators.

The Atlas Loan Company, of St. Thomas, which closed down on account of the suspension of A. E. Ames & Co., will be wound up at once. No work is being done in initiating proceedings, and, yesterday, afternoon, Chancellor Boyd granted an order, requiring that it appeared just and equitable that the affairs of the company should be wound up. The application was made on behalf of Florence McLaughlin, a creditor for an amount exceeding $3000. Counsel appeared for the company, and, also, for other creditors. The National Trust Company was appointed temporary liquidator, with a reference was made to the Master in Chancery to appoint a permanent liquidator.

TO STAMP OUT DISEASE SYDNEY FISHER'S AIM

Proposes to Make Present Exclusion Act More Stringent in Its Operation.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special).—Sydney Fisher's bill respecting infectious contagious diseases affecting animals provoked a long discussion. The bill is designed to strengthen the old act, in excluding disease from foreign countries and improving the machinery for stamping out disease among domestic herds. Mr. Fisher had the aid and comfort of the opposition members in improving his bill, but, when he introduced it to provide liberal compensation for diseased animals slaughtered for the general safety was to excite the indignation of the opposition members.

Mr. Fisher's bill only provides for compensation to the owner of the animal slaughtered, and the compensation of the ordinary animal slaughtered, the amount in no case to exceed $20. Messrs. Campbell, McGowan, Sherritt, Broder, Henderson, Bell, Cochrane, Pope, and the leader of the opposition took part in the discussion. It was pointed out that the bill was a good deal of a compromise, and that the compensation of the ordinary animal slaughtered, the amount in no case to exceed $20, was a good deal of a compromise, and that the compensation of the ordinary animal slaughtered, the amount in no case to exceed $20, was a good deal of a compromise.

Pickpocket Fails to Accomplish His Purpose at the Methodist Conference.

A wolf in sheep's clothing created quite a commotion at the Methodist Conference yesterday afternoon. As Joseph Tait, ex-M.L.A., and Registrar of the Surrogate Court, was discussing matters ecclesiastical with a group of learned divines and elders in the vestry of the Elm-street Church, he was suddenly seized by a young man running up and down the aisle, and, looking as dignified and injured as the grip of the thief would allow him, he protested against the outrage of his being seized. He believed his father was an ex-minister attending the conference, and he wanted to see him. He believed his father was an ex-minister attending the conference, and he wanted to see him.

TORONTO MAN DEFENDS DIVORCE AFTER 8 YEARS

Wife of James F. Calcutt Begins Action, Alleging Gross Neglect of Duty.

Cleveland, June 8.—(Special).—After eight years of married life together, Mrs. Gloria Marie Calcutt of this city has commenced divorce proceedings against her husband, James Frederick Calcutt of Toronto, Canada. Mrs. Calcutt, the plaintiff, is a daughter of W. J. White, millionaire chewing gum manufacturer, of Cleveland, head of the Gum Trust.

The petition of Mrs. Calcutt is very brief, and the grounds stated in it for the action are gross neglect of duty and failure to provide. The couple eloped to Painesville, Ohio, the petition states, Sept. 13, 1925. The marriage of the two was the culmination of a romantic and interesting courtship. J. F. Calcutt, the groom, is a native of Canada, and the bride is prominent in Cleveland society circles. For some time they lived in this city, residing in the New Amsterdam, the swellest apartment house on Euclid-avenue. Recently, however, they separated, she going to live with her father on Lake Erie, and he returning to Toronto. At present Mrs. Calcutt is living at her father's home.

According to the wife's petition, her husband has been guilty of gross neglect of duty ever since their marriage. She says that he has refused to buy her clothing and neglected and refused to provide a home for her and their children. Provisions also, the petition declares, have not been forthcoming. In addition to these charges, Mrs. Calcutt states the defendant has refused to do any work or business, and has made the plaintiff support herself and their children. Their children have been born to the couple—Gloria, now aged five years; Ellen, three, and Jeanne, two.
