ONLY ONE UNIT WILL BE LEFT IN HAMILTON

Sportsmen's Battalion Ordered to Leave Next Week—C. M. R. Will Remain.

T. NICHOLSON DEAD

Was Well-Known Business Man—Fruit Farmers Facing Serious Problem.

HAMILTON, Wednesday, July 5.—Hamilton will cease to be a military centre of any importance after this week. Lieut.-Col. R. R. Moody received instructions yesterday to have his unit, the Sportsmen's Battalion, in readiness to leave for Camp Borden next week. Instead of having 6000 troops in camp here, the garrison now consists of only the Canadian Mounted Rifles, who have their depot here, and will remain indefinitely. The other local units which are now in summer training camps will be represented by recruiting staffs of a small number of men who will remain in the city to enlist anyone wishing to sign up. Lieut.-Col. Knowles of the 25th County of Wentworth Battalion, left Dundas with his unit for Camp Borden yesterday. Mayor Dickinson made a short farewell address before the troops entrained.

Thomas S. Nicholson, a highly esteemed business man of the city, died last night at his residence, 511 Cannon street. He was born in this district, and was engaged in the milk business and contract teaming at the time of his death. He is survived by a widow and three sons. Stanislaus Dominicki, who is charged by the local police with the murder of Joe Ganatowski, whom he hit over the head with a club and fractured his skull, is still at large, but the police believe that he will be captured shortly.

Fruit farmers around Hamilton will face a serious problem this year on account of the shortage of help, and they are endeavoring to relieve the complications through the proposed rise. It is thought that students and boy scouts and soldiers will render considerable aid when the crops are ready.

John Briggs, district business agent of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, was elected president of the Ontario association that was held in Windsor recently. He will be sent to Fort Worth, Texas, in November, to represent the local carpenters at the coming biennial general convention.

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

are still resisting. In the region of Estrees alone the French have taken 500 prisoners.

The excellent work of the British aeroplanes should stand in the forefront of any narrative of the grand offensive of the Allies. These machines Combes and St. Quentin, in the rear of the German lines. British aerial planes in great numbers and fought them with great success. They drove at least three others damaged to the ground. The British flying corps suffered no losses yesterday.

One effect of the French advance on Peronne would be, if pushed the Germans out of the heights of Soissons and even to endanger their defensive positions that the allied pursuit after the battle of the Marne. Once the Germans abandon these positions they will have to fight the allies in the open field and not in trenches until they get well into Belgium. Such a withdrawal in the face of an energetic enemy might become the greatest disaster of the war.

In opening their various offensives the allies are beginning to achieve the first results aimed at, the depriving of the Germans and Austrians of the initiative in the war, conferred on them by their central positions. This advantage has enabled them to shift troops about and to make local put wholly on the launching of offensives at chosen points. They will the various theatres of the war, and the Russians are attacking them in operations to north of the Pripiat marshes and into Poland, extending their trenches near the important railway centre of Saranovichi. Signs are not wanting that the southern Russian front, General Letchitzky has carried additional positions of the enemy west of Kolomea, while in the centre of this southern group of armies Brusiloff is beginning definitely to gain the upper hand in the bitter fighting. He is starting to exert strong pressure near the junction of the Nijnia Lipa and the Stry, and in night engagements he has taken nearly 1000 prisoners.

The only part of the theatres of the war in which the enemy is still conducting an offensive is in the region of Verdun, where he captured yesterday for the fourth time the Thiaumont works after a heavy bombardment and a desperate struggle. But as the allied pressure increases and extends the enemy will be forced to abandon the fighting at Verdun and betake himself to the pure defensive.

Threatened with being driven to the wall by the combined pressure of the allies on all fronts, a section led by Capt. Persius is demanding the revival of submarine piracy, regardless of the protests of neutral nations. It is claimed that Germany has recently added many of these craft to her naval establishment in the past few weeks and the chief reason to sink everything at sight. It may well come to an outburst of frightfulness such as the world has never seen before.

Further progress has been made by the British towards the securing of ultimate victory in German East Africa by the driving of the enemy from the strong position of Kondoo-Irangi. This was done by Lieut.-Col. Vandevanter and his mounted brigade, and the Teutons are being pursued by him towards the central railway. Advancing west from Lake Victoria Nyanza, a British column has occupied Kuboka and the Karage district.

General Cadorna continues to make good progress with his offensive against the Austrians in the Trentino. The latest budget of news issued by Italian general headquarters shows that the Italians have completed the occupation of Monte Calgari, in the Posina valley, and that their advanced detachments have occupied the northern edge of the Asa Valley, on the Asiago Plateau. They have also dislodged the enemy from strongly entrenched positions among the rocks of Prima Lunaeta and were taken in the fighting, together with stores of arms and ammunition. In the Monfalcone sector the Italians have captured several lines of trenches with 231 men in a violent engagement on the Carso Plateau. On the slopes of Monte Paubio there has been desperate fighting, and the Italians have repulsed heavy Austrian attacks.

Beaver Battalion Entrain for the Big Training Ground.

CAMP BORDEN, July 4.—The United States "glorious fourth" was appropriately marked today by the arrival in camp from Toronto of the first company raised for the new American Legion, the 21st Overseas Battalion.

The advance guard has been here several days, and the tents for the American-born recruits were all ready for them at their battalion area. Located about a mile from the railway stations, and not very far from Lt.-Col. R. Greer's 18th Sportsmen's Battalion. Lt.-Col. R. J. McCormick is in command of the American Legion. A member of the 21st said that the American Battalion would be affected by the cropping up of the Mexican affair as a war between the United States and Mexico would give the U. S. Army the first call to Americans. He stated that ninety-five per cent. of the members of the 21st Battalion had been active service in the Spanish-American war either in Cuba or in the Philippines. Quartermaster Sergt. Hammett, of the 21st, was for over ten years in the U. S. forces in the Philippines. Colonel McCormick has left behind in Toronto a strong recruiting staff to enrol recruits and send them on to the camp.

LAST CHANCE TO HEAR FAMOUS BANDA ROMA

This is the last week of the engagement of the Banda Roma at Scarborough Beach Park, and it may be that such a magnificent concert band will not be heard in Toronto in a long time. The concert provides a feast for both eye and ear, the spectacular conducting of Sirignano providing the spectacle, while the wonderful tone and enthusiasm of the band are always a delight. Another feature which is attracting great interest is a collection of Raemakers' famous war cartoons in colors. Foul and Pannine, clever aerial artists, and moving pictures in the open air complete the bill.
