PHILIP TUBB IS FOUND DEAD IN BUILDING RUIN

Life Crushed Out as Springer Structure, Mill Street,
Collapses

Crushed to death, Philip Tubb, aged 35, whose home was at 325 Prince Edward street, was killed on Saturday afternoon, when the second floor of an old building on Mill street, which he was razing, collapsed. He was buried under tons of debris, and his fate was not known until nearly midnight.

Sergeant Detective Power, with Detectives Kilpatrick and Saunders also assisted in the search.

When the body was discovered, Coroner H. A. Porter was summoned, and after viewing the body, gave permission for its removal to Chamberlain's undertaking parlors on Mill street.

After making a thorough investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of the unfortunate man, the coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Deceased leaves beside his wife one small child. Two other children died only a short time ago.

THE PREMISES.

The premises, for many years leased to N. S. Springer, and used by him as a warehouse for storing oats, feed and flour, were situated at 114-116 Mill street, north of the Mill street railway crossing. A few years ago this property, along with others, was purchased by the government for the purpose of enlarging the terminus of the C. N. R. The tenants of the buildings were, however, allowed to occupy the buildings until the time came for demolishing them.

The building in question was some few months ago visited by W. S. Vaughan, chief of the fire department because of a chimney fire. At that time the chief reported that it was not fit for occupancy. Later Building Inspector Carleton declared it unsafe. Mr. Springer was ordered to vacate the premises which he did and Philip Tubb obtained the contract to tear it down. Mr. Tubb, with other workmen, had been engaged in the demolishing of the building for several days.

FLOOR COLLAPSES.

On Saturday afternoon about three o'clock, A. E. McInerney, of 75 St. Patrick street, was engaged in removing a heavy safe from the ground floor. Mr. McInerney escaped to the street, but his young son, Clement, who was working with him, was caught under the debris. An alarm was sent in from box 152 and the fire department quickly responded. After about five minutes digging and cutting, young McInerney was removed from between two beams under the debris and then taken home, suffering from an injury to one of his legs and his side, but his injuries were not serious, although he had a narrow escape from death.

On leaving the building, according to a police report, Clement McInerney asked where the other man was (meaning Mr. Tubb) and received a reply from a man on the sidewalk that Mr. Tubb had gone home, while another man stated that he had seen Mr. Tubb walking along the street, after the second floor collapsed. Nothing more was thought of the matter as it was thought Mr. Tubb had escaped.

NOTICES POLICE.

About 11:45 o'clock Saturday night, Mrs. Tubb notified Detective Patrick Biddiscombe at police headquarters, that her husband had not returned to his home that evening.

Detective Biddiscombe notified Sergeant Detective Power as well as Detectives Saunders and Kilpatrick. W. S. Vaughan, chief of the fire department, was notified also, and he with several firemen quickly responded to the call. Detective Biddiscombe also got in communication with A. E. McInerney, who was present, and Mr. McInerney stated that he did not see Mr. Tubb after the accident.

On arrival at the building Chief Vaughan, some firemen and others started to work clearing the debris and finally discovered the crushed body of Mr. Tubb. The unfortunate man's head was caught between two large

ROYALTY SPASM IN U. S. STIRS ENGLAND

America May Become in End Monarchy, Cables One Correspondent

British United Press
LONDON, Oct. 18.—Great interest is being shown in England in what is referred to as "America's royalty spasm," as displayed in the plans being made to welcome Queen Marie of Roumania.

The New York correspondent of the Daily Express cables his paper: "Such persons as predict that America eventually may become a monarchy are finding justification for their opinion in the extraordinary adulation being paid the Queen."

Her every movement, says the correspondent, is being chronicled by leading American newspapers "as if Her Majesty were coming as a bride to marry an American crown prince."

"No monarchy in Europe would pay such obsequious attention to a royal visitor," he declared.

The correspondent says New York's welcoming committee overruled the Queen's objection to leaving the Levathan at Quarantine to prevent heart-breaks among those New Yorkers whose only chance of being presented to "a real Queen" is to go down the harbor in the welcoming boat and get the Queen aboard their craft.

Former City Man Dies In Woodstock

The death of James A. Macaulay, 78 years of age, occurred early this morning at the home of H. W. King in Woodstock. Mr. Macaulay will be remembered in Saint John as a wharf builder, having been employed by the city in this capacity until about two years ago. Since that time he has been living with Mr. King at Woodstock.

Mr. Macaulay was the last of his family and leaves no immediate relatives. His body will be brought to Saint John for interment.

CARS SIDESWIPE.

Two cars sideswiped last evening about 7:30 o'clock on Sydney street near the corner of Orange street. One of the cars, bearing license number 7281 came out of Orange street and turned north on Sydney, brushing the other car, license number 5884, but doing little damage. The second car was unable to avoid the meeting on account of several other cars being parked in front of St. David's church. The drivers of both the cars in collision departed on their way without altercation, both pleased that no serious damage was done.

AUTO AND CAR COLLIDE.

Automobile No. 8,834, driven by Arthur Buckley, collided with street car No. 128, in charge of Motorman John Howe, on Douglas Avenue at 5:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon and both were slightly damaged.

Eighteen Drowned At Indian Festival

United Press
CALCUTTA, Oct. 18.—Eighteen persons were drowned when a boat used in celebrating the "Durga Pujah" festival capsized Saturday night in Hooghly, India. Hindu and Mohammedan outbreaks in connection with the celebrations were few. Twelve persons were injured slightly in fighting between Mohammedans and Hindus at Howrah. Strong military forces were stationed throughout Calcutta but only minor fights occurred.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and a weakening of the peristaltic action. Dr. J. S. Leinhardt was first to find the remedy and called his preparation HEM-ROID. Dr. Leinhardt's record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Wassons two stores today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

"We've Outgrown Our Old Stuff"

One man, who attended the Marcus Trade-In Sale with his good wife, explained his need for new Furniture this way:

"Years ago we two got married on a shoestring. The stores didn't have smart stuff to show us then, compared with your place—and even if we could have found such fine Furniture, we didn't have the money to buy it. There was no Marcus year-to-pay plan then, either.

"So we just had to rub along with plain stuff. With our hearts set on the future, we kept kidding ourselves that our Furniture was lovely. I worked hard and made a bit of money—but somehow we had got so used to the old Furniture it didn't occur to us we were roughing it.

"But now, wherever you visit you see this new kind—and of course it makes us look like paupers. But what I like about your Furniture is the comfort of it and the pleasure you get looking at it as well as using it.

"Yes—I guess this Trade-In Sale woke us up to a lot that had been missing from our home. A great idea altogether."
