

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

FIVE HIGH CLASS ACTS IN NEW OPERA HOUSE BILL

The new Opera House vaudeville programme for tonight offers five high class acts, including the Cheyenne Minstrels in a variety of variety, with songs, comedy, dancing, lariat swinging and imitations; Buehler Pearl, distinctive entertainer; Alexander and Mack in "A Piece of Aristocracy"; Gruet, Krammer and Gruet, in a snappy comedy and musical skit; "Circus Days in Dixie"; and Susanna and Ernest, Canada's premier danseuse and a well known cartoonist in a novel sketch, "Studio Fancies"; and the serial drama "Pursuit of Thunder Mountain." Tonight at 7.30 and 9, tomorrow afternoon at 2.30.

THIS MAY INCLUDE FORT HOWE, ST JOHN

(Backville Tribune.) Readers of the Tribune will be interested in the announcement in another column of the Tribune, that the historic spot of Fort Cumberland is to be preserved. We are informed on good authority that certain reconstructive and decorative work will be carried out in the near future. It appears that the Dominion government has appointed an honorary board as advisory to officials in the department of interior, to preserve the military works, where the remains of any still exist, and to make them with monuments containing suitable inscriptions. A survey is to be made of the old trails, portages, Indian forts and encampments, roads, highways, mail routes, the first mills, factories and many other features of the commencement of the industrial life of the people. These are to be mapped by provinces. From enquiry, we learn the board has recommended certain reconstructive and decorative work at Fort Cumberland, repairs at the old barracks at Windsor and preservative measures at Louisbourg, and that the government has appropriated the first instalment of money for these purposes.

URGE JUVENILE COURT

The matter of establishing a juvenile court for the city of St. John was considered at an enthusiastic meeting in the Board of Trade rooms last night. The city commissioners will be asked to make a grant towards its establishment with an adequate probation system. Twelve of the city's most influential social organizations are behind this movement and steps will be taken to secure the active co-operation of others interested in social welfare work. At the meeting last night, which was presided over by A. R. Crookshank, for three years at the head of the committee since its inception, steps were taken towards organization for a more aggressive campaign. Mr. Crookshank was appointed permanent chairman and Rev. George Scott, secretary. Several important resolutions were passed and communications will be sent to the various clergymen of the city requesting them to make reference to the subject of child welfare work and the need for a juvenile court in the community. Suggestions were made as to the manner of conducting the campaign and it is likely that a public meeting will be called at an early date when the whole matter will be placed before the public for discussion and endorsement. It is confidently expected that the juvenile court when established will completely justify the efforts made to secure it and greatly aid in the efficient administration of justice in the city.

BOOTS, PENNY A PAIR

(London Mail.) More than 500,000 pairs of army boots were offered for sale by the disposal board at the White City yesterday. They included army boots in every stage of wear—Canadian, Australian, German, Russian, and British. The boots were sold in lots of 100 at 1d. per pair, and Grade 4 boots fetched 4d. a pair for a lot of 20,000. German boots made 6d. for Grade 4 and 2d. for Grade 5. For three days German boots and Wellington boots with wooden soles 1s. was paid. Even Grade 4 boots, it is said, can be made into serviceable footwear.

IF THEY SHOULD.

It would be impossible to continue our government if the railroad workers could one day, by stopping traffic, force the government to buy the railroads, and a month later the bankers by striking, closing their doors and creating a panic could make the government sell them again, and after that the doctors could demand state subsidies on pain of leaving us subject to the ravages of epidemics and the terrible suffering of the untended sick and dying.—World's Work.

A Timely Warning.

Mirrors in Street Cars.

No longer will the weary street car conductor rasp out: "Move forward, please." No more will he vainly admonish his patrons not to crowd the doorway or engulf the platform.

Officials of the company say they believe that mirrors installed on side seats at the front end of the cars will accomplish what no conductor has yet been able to do—get the patrons forward. The mirrors will be detachable for use on cars that reverse on return trips, or otherwise arranged so they will not be at the rear of the car.

His belief in the power of the mirror in handling street car patrons was asserted by Glenn Marston, of New York, consulting specialist in railway work, who has been in New Orleans two weeks studying the local system, at the invitation of its officers, with a view to providing better service for its patrons.

"Human beings gravitate toward a mirror whenever opportunity offers," Mr. Marston explained, "and I refer to the male sex as well as to the female. And it is not because they are vain. Everyone does it, and does it unconsciously. The idea already has been put into practice in this country, and I have suggested its trial here."—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

AN ERROR

Through inadvertence an injustice was done to Mrs. Kenneth Raymond by an item in the published report on the 4th inst., in connection with the evidence of F. S. Thomas, which attributed to him a statement with respect to what the husband of Mrs. Raymond said to him over the telephone. Mr. Thomas did not testify as stated; the statement attributed to him not appearing in the record of his testimony. An erroneous impression was therefore given by the item referred to.

Damon-Wanamaker.

Friends read with interest of the wedding of Miss Gladys Wanamaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wanamaker of 888 Haymarket square, which took place on last Tuesday evening at half past eight o'clock at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. Laurence Tedford, pastor of the Tabernacle church. The groom is Frank Damon of St. Stephen, who went overseas with the 65th Battalion and fought with the 14th and was three times wounded. The bride was prettily attired in blue and was attended by her sister, Miss Mabel Wanamaker, who was becomingly gowned in brown. Wm. Gibbon supported the groom. After the ceremony a dainty wedding supper followed at the home of the bride and groom at 105 Thorne avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Damon have the best wishes of many friends for a happy life, as testified by the number of handsome presents received.

Annual Meeting of Association For Tuberculosis Prevention

REPORT ON DISPENSARY

Hon. Dr. Roberts Quoted as Looking to Time When Province Would Have Four Such Hospitals as That at East St. John

The annual meeting of the Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis was held this afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms, Joseph A. Likely, the president, presiding. The Year Reviewed. The annual report of the association was as follows: The executive of the St. John Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis beg to present their annual report of work done from November 1, 1918, to November 1, 1919. Since the last annual meeting the resignation of the secretary, Miss Sidney Smith, has been gratefully accepted. Miss Sadler was appointed to fill her place. The dispensary at 74 Carleton street has been open 172 days during the year—sixty-two days for children and 110 for adults; this is Monday and Wednesday at 2.30 for adults, and Friday at 2.30 for children. Dr. Logie, the dispensary physician, and the nurse are in attendance at these times. In addition to this Dr. Farris holds a clinic on the third Thursday of each month, and anyone seeking admission money, and anyone seeking the dispensary at the St. John County Hospital, or to the River Glade Sanitarium may be examined free of charge by making application through the nurse, Miss Brophy, at the dispensary, telephone Main 2121-11. Dr. Abrahamson has also examined sputum coming through the dispensary, and anyone seeking the dispensary applicants at the dispensary X-ray examination at cost price when necessary. Also the city is paying for patients at the dispensary who are unable to afford expense themselves—if such applications come through the dispensary.

Fewer Patients. During the year 181 patients were examined by Dr. Farris, and 217 by Dr. Logie; there was also a smaller number of attendances at the dispensary—418 as against 607 last year; 222 adults and 196 children. Each of them was examined; some were sent to River Glade, some to the St. John County Hospital, others were treated at the dispensary and visited by the nurse, and a number were discharged as not tubercular or cured. Two hundred and thirty-eight prescriptions were filled.

When a patient is discharged he comes to the dispensary for some time after for observation.

Seven patients have been sent to River Glade, two of which paid their own expenses; two were paid for partly by themselves and partly by the city, and one was paid for partly by the patient and partly by King's county.

Two patients named are on a waiting list for River Glade. Forty-two patients were transferred to the County Hospital. At the beginning of the year we had 183 patients and there were 190 new patients; thirty-six were discharged and eight died.

It is felt by the doctors that the dispensary is not treating as many patients as it should, and this because the public is not cognizant of the advantages to be obtained; therefore a publicity committee has recently been formed; Dr. Farris, Dr. Mabel Hanington and Mrs. M. B. Edwards.

Dr. M. Hanington, the medical inspector for schools, strongly urges educational propaganda; and thousands of copies of the pamphlet entitled "What Tuberculosis is" have been procured for distribution in the schools.

Four Hospitals.

Dr. Farris is making an effort to have all anti-tuberculosis societies and the school teachers visit the St. John County Hospital. The clergy of the city have already done so. One of the regular meetings of the board was held at the hospital and the Hon. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, addressed the meeting, saying it was an institution of which St. John has a right to be proud. He looked forward by the time when the members of the board were conducted on the building and found its X-ray plant especially interesting.

We are fortunate in still having Miss Brophy as nurse. During the year she made 1,000 visits. But needs have increased to such an extent that a second nurse is necessary. This is considered one of the most important branches of the work and it is strongly felt by the doctors that if we could afford another nurse who would follow up county hospital cases and see that proper food and rest were obtained, its value of the work done could be doubled. With this end in view, the association appealed to the women's societies during the year; a committee has also waited on the board of health to see if a sum sufficient to cover half the salary of a second nurse could be included in its estimates of expenditure for next year. Both of these schemes have met with satisfactory response. The sum of $200 having been received from the women's societies.

Another ideal advantage, still to be striven for, is the establishment of a day camp.

The ladies, one of whom is appointed each month to supervise the dispensary, have been untiring in their work. They have looked into needy cases and by providing or soliciting financial aid have enabled patients to rest or go to a hospital. The Ladies' Society gave bed socks and slippers to the children of the St. John County Hospital and Saint Monday's Hospital. Fruit was sent out to patients at Christmas and milk and eggs were distributed at Easter.

A most useful fund for milk and eggs has received two generous donations through the year, one from the St. John Ambulance Association and the other was anonymous.

In conclusion, the executive begs to thank the following: The city commissioners for the use of the dispensary rooms and also for voting the necessary funds for patients recommended by our society to go to the hospital. The committee of the General Public Hospital for luncheon for our nurse; the St. John press for printing reports from time to time; and all those who have contributed during the year to the support of the association.

Submitted on behalf of the executive, E. M. SAMUEL, JOS. A. LIKELY, Secretary, President.

They come earlier in flower, as well as lighter in their general habit. Moreover, a single bulb will produce two or more flowering stems. This is a variety which reached United States by way of England, into which country they were introduced from Africa.

Except in the coldest sections of the country, the little mombretias, which resemble miniature gladioli, although flowering much more profusely, are hardy enough to go through the winter with a little protection. Many growers, however, prefer to dig up the bulbs and store them in the same way as gladioli corms.

Trilliums, the brilliant flowers of which have won them the name of Red Hot Pokers, are only doubtfully hardy in cold countries, and it often is best to dig them up and store them in the cellar during the winter, although this is a plan which does not occur to the average amateur.

Winter Quarters For the Bulbs

When the end of the season comes and hard frosts threaten, it is necessary to dig up the dahlias, gladioli corms and all the tender bulbs and take them into the cellar for the winter's rest. While dahlias of the round, old-fashioned type ("chub-faced" dahlias, Maeterlinck called them), were the only kinds commonly grown, but little difficulty was found in wintering them. The newer and more refined varieties, indeed, some kinds are not easily carried over the winter by expert growers. Most dahlias roots, though, will get through the winter fairly well if they are properly dug and stored. Digging is properly dug any time after the frosts have cut down the tops. Cut them close to the ground, as it will prove a nuisance to have a long stalk attached. Commercial growers often use a double knife with long stout handles, but a sickle will prove satisfactory in the home garden. Have it sharp, though, both to save yourself unnecessary exertion and to make a smooth, clean cut.

In digging the roots, exercise special care not to injure the necks on which the buds for next year will come. To grasp the stalk and pull up the roots by main force is a most unwise plan. It is better to use a spade, working it into the ground all around the clump, far enough away so that you will not cut into the tubers. Then you can push the spade under the clump and lift it out. There is a decided advantage in having assistance with this work, as in many other garden operations.

After the clumps have been dug, leave them in the sun for several hours, so that they will dry out to some extent. Spread under a remarkably large amount of moisture, especially in a wet season, such as growers in New England have experienced this year. When you pack the tubers away, it will be found a good plan to put the stumps downward, so that what moisture remains can drain out of the stalks. While the excess of earth may be shaken from the roots, do not go so far as some gardeners have done and wash the tubers. As a matter of fact, there seems to be some measure of that in sympathy with Whistler. Him of course, we placed far above Raphael, because Whistler had said that he was the smart young man of his period.

One rainy day Whistler was sitting in my dining room poring over a large volume of Raphael's cartoons. After spending two hours with them, he came to the conclusion that Raphael did not count. But he was pleased; he said, to have had the opportunity of placing the smart young man of his day. Rembrandt recognized to a certain extent, because Whistler had heard that he had had his god days. Also, however, he had remarked that Rembrandt reveled in gummy pigment and treacle tones; so Rembrandt, in our opinion, did not occupy much of a position. Canaletto and Velasquez we placed high, very high, but not, of course, on the same plane with Whistler. The only master with whom we could compare our own was Hokusai, the Japanese painter.—From "Whistler as I Knew Him," by Mortimer Menpes.
