WHAT RECIPROCITY WOULD HAVE SAVED YOU 3 MONTHS THIS YEAR

Striking proof that the reciprocity agreement must result in substantial reductions in the cost of living to Canadian consumers is given by figures contained in the Trade and Navigation returns for the first three months of the present fiscal year, which have just been published.

The figures, which are quoted below, have been prepared in the ordinary course of business, and would have appeared whether there had been a general election or not, and are absolutely official and reliable.

They show that during the months of April, May and June, Canada imported very large amounts of foodstuffs from the United States to meet the requirements of her own people and that DUTY HAD TO BE PAID UPON EVERY POUND OF IT.

Under reciprocity those duties will be ABOLISHED OR REDUCED, and as the removal of a tax on food must reduce the price of food, it is easy to answer the question—How will the Canadian consumer benefit?

HE WILL BENEFIT BY THE AMOUNT OF TAX ON HIS FOOD WHICH IS DONE AWAY WITH.

Now let us get down to the figures.

During the month of June alone we imported 1,163 cattle from the United States valued at $32,534; in the three months ended June we bought 2,323, valued at $12,889. Every head of that cattle had to pay a duty of 25 per cent. This amounted to $1,472. Had reciprocity been in effect these cattle would have come in free, and the Canadian consumer would have got beef that much cheaper.

The value of the sheep and lambs imported into Canada in June from the United States was $22,675 and in the three months ended June $125,888. Every sheep, or lamb was assessed 25 per cent. Reciprocity would have saved $31,472, which was paid by the consumer. Would not that have meant cheaper food?

As a matter of fact, it may be worth adding that, as regards sheep and lambs in this first quarter of the year the saving in price to the Canadian people would have been very nearly as much for the three months as was estimated by the experts for the whole year, their figure for the whole year being $32,575.

Of other live animals we imported $12,772 worth for consumption, and the duty being 25 per cent, reciprocity would have saved $2,193 to the consumers of Canada.

Poultry to a value of $11,271 came into Canada in the three months, and upon it we had to pay a duty of $2,818 which would not have been charged under reciprocity.

Other vegetables, such as turnips, onions, cabbage, etc., were imported to the value of $32,785. All these foods go on the free list and under reciprocity the people of Canada would not have had to pay the $102,846.50 which they had to hand over before they could get those vegetables. An 11 per cent duty is growing at so rapid a rate even despite the tariff that the duties collected in the quarter nearly reached the total of $18,476, estimated by the experts as the saving for the whole year.

Apples do not ripen in Canada between April and June, but Canadians apparently want them because we imported 8,625 barrels from the States in the three months, and we had to pay a duty which totalled $3,450. Reciprocity would have brought these apples in free.

The peach season does not open, even in the southern States, much before the middle of June, yet we imported 3,379 pounds of peaches and paid a duty of 4 cents a pound, and if reciprocity of the States in the three months ended June 30, we bought 15,682 pounds of berries valued at $29,345. On these a duty of a cent a pound was levied, making a total of $38,989 which we would not have had to pay if the fruit had been free as it will be under reciprocity.

In butter we imported 463,096 pounds from the States in the three months ended June 30, and if reciprocity had been in force we would have saved the $18,546 which we had to pay. And here it might be worthy to remark that we only imported $22,504 worth of butter in the whole of the previous year. We needed the butter; we couldn't get it at home and so we had to pay the tax in order to get it. That will not happen if we have reciprocity.

Canada is a great cheese producing country, yet she imported cheese to an amount of $5,701 in the quarter, on which she paid a duty of $1,212.78, which she would not have had to pay if the agreement had been in operation.

Eggs would not appear to be a commodity which we buy largely outside, but our farmers cannot supply our demands, however, because we imported 518,904 dozen in the three months between March and June and paid $18,267.12 in duties upon them. Eggs are put on the free list by the agreement. Would you not like to save some of that duty?

Now taking up fish, we find that the consumer will benefit very materially by reciprocity. In the past quarter we imported pickled herrings from the States to a value of $2,039, but we had to pay a duty of 50 cents a hundred pounds, which would not be required under reciprocity.

We bought 542,857 pounds, valued at $36,456 in the three months, but we had to pay $3,645 before we could get it. Would not the abolition of that duty help the consumer?

We bought 10,541 pounds of fresh salmon from the Americans in the quarter, but were mulcted nearly $165 for doing so.

The duty on fresh cod, haddock, etc., we bought 78,739 pounds in the three months, and paid over $78, which we will not have to pay when the agreement comes into effect.

These three months under review are not the oyster-feeding season, yet we imported from the States 13,655 gallons and were taxed $1,365, because we did so. Oysters go on the free list when reciprocity comes into force.

We used the lobster season; otherwise we would have had to pay 25 per cent. upon the fresh article and 50 per cent. on the canned, and upon it we will not have to pay at least $2,500 when these duties are made free.

Potatoes we imported 1,616,475 pounds in the three months, and had to pay 2 cents a pound on it or $32,333. When the reciprocity agreement comes into effect the duty will be reduced to 1 1/4 cents a pound, and the annual saving to Canada will be at least $80,000 and probably more.

Bacon and Ham—The fact that we imported 2,141,869 pounds of bacon and ham in the quarter under review for some time past in Toronto, but a duty had to be paid upon that of 2 cents a pound, which is to be reduced by $40,000 on the year's business.

Another large item which affects the consumer is that of canned tomatoes, other vegetables. Of these we imported 1,077,446 pounds from the States in the quarter and paid a duty of $10,801. Under reciprocity this will be considerably reduced.

These figures will show just what effect the reciprocity agreement would have had upon the food of the people during the first three months of this fiscal year. They prove that a tax upon natural products is a tax upon food and that a tax upon food is a tax on the consumer. The abolition on the reduction of the taxes on food MUST make food cheaper.

Police Court Incident in Connection With the Theft of Junk From Old Ferry Steamer

In the police court this morning Joseph Riley was fined $8 or twenty days in jail for drunkenness. Charles Dutton, 44 or ten days in jail, and Frederick Weir, 88 or thirty days in jail on a like charge.

Arthur Love was fined $2 for going beyond the stand allotted for cochmen at the Union Depot.

Three small boys, Reietta, O'Brien and Lavigne, were fined $20 for trespassing on the J. C. R. property at the depot and also for interfering with passengers. The fines were allowed to stand.

A hearing in the case against George Wiley, charged with stealing junk from the ferry steamer Ouanogandy, was resumed this morning. Albert Nix said that he saw Lester Campbell rowing away from the Ouanogandy last Saturday night week. The boat appeared to be heavily laden. He also saw Campbell driving through Carleton with Isaac Babbs, junk dealer, with a wagon load. He did not know anything about the defendant Wiley. Before Nix took the stand he told the court that he would not make any statement under oath.

"You refuse to be sworn," said His Honor.

"Yes," said the witness.

"Then you can go to jail for seven days," replied the court.

Nix changed his mind however, and took the stand. Wiley was further remanded to jail.

The tragedy occurred in Wong King's cafe in Chinatown at the conclusion of supper in the dining room. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause.
