

HOLD-UP BY A WOMAN CHARGED

Alleged to Have Attempted to Rob a Man in New York With a Pistol

Victim Reports Losing $12 — Prisoner Describes Herself as Jeannette Mullins, 20 Years Old of Hoboken

New York, Oct. 9.—A woman was held in $5,000 bail in the Jefferson Market court on the charge that she had attempted to hold up a pedestrian with a pistol in front of the Hotel Chelsea, in West Twenty-third street on Saturday night. The woman, who is alleged to have had two companions, was arrested by a policeman after a short chase, and a pistol was taken from her.

The complainant was a man hardly five feet tall, who described himself as Herbert Boyd, receiving clerk in a commission house at 281 Washington street. He told the magistrate that he was on his way to his room in a hotel at Barclay and West streets about 2 o'clock in the morning, after attending a wake, when he was stopped by a woman in front of the Twenty-third street hotel.

He declared that the woman pointed a revolver at him and ordered him to hold up his hands. She and her two companions, he said, then took about $12 from him.

As the woman started away Boyd shouted "Murder," attracting the attention of Policeman John J. Kearns of the West Twentieth street station. Kearns gave chase to two men and a woman who were running toward the

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

ferry at the foot of West Twenty-third street. He told the magistrate that the woman was unable to run fast because of her skirts and that her companions were trying to assist her. A pistol, said by the policeman to have been found by him concealed in the woman's waist, was shown to the magistrate, as well as $12 in bills said to have been found on one of the men.

The woman pleaded not guilty, as did her companions, but the magistrate held them in $5,000 bail each for examination on Thursday. The woman described herself as Jeannette Mullins, twenty years old, of 181 Bay street, Hoboken. Her two companions said they were John Cernan of 241 East Seventy-eighth street and J. W. Peckley of 102 Perry street, Hoboken.

Leaves Masons. Budapest, Oct. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Friederich has asked the grandmaster of the Free Masons to strike his name from the rolls of the order, according to a report, the alleged reason for this being that some members of the order supported the communist government and Premier Friederich did not wish to be associated with them.

Mother's Coughs and Colds Go Quickly

She cannot afford to neglect her household duties. At the first symptoms she prepares the way for quick recovery by the immediate use of Gray's Syrup—a household preparation of sixty years standing.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM

MONTREAL: D. WATSON & CO., LTD.

Wincarnis gives New Health to all who are Weak, Anaemic, Nervous, Run-down

DON'T let your life be clouded by ill-different health. Don't let ill-health steal your good looks. Don't remain weak, or anaemic, or nervous, or run-down. Don't suffer needlessly. Get well the Wincarnis way—the quick, sure and safe way to new and vigorous health.

Wincarnis is the quick way, because the benefits begin from the first dose—the sure way, because it has given new health to countless thousands of sufferers for over 20 years—the safe way, because it does not contain depressing drugs. Wincarnis is recommended by over 10,000 Doctors, because it possesses a four-fold power in producing new health. It is a Tonic, a Restorative, a Blood-maker, and a Nerve Food—all in one. Therefore it promotes new strength, new blood, new nerve force and new vitality.

This life-giving Wincarnis is the one thing you need when you are Weak.

In two sizes: $1.00 and (extra large bottle) $1.75

Proprietors: COLEMAN & CO., WINCARNIS WORKS, NORWICH, ENGL.
Canadian Office: 41 PORTLAND ST., TORONTO.
Sole Agents for the Dominion: FRANK S. BALL, Resident Director
Ralph J. Farnham & Co., For Sale, TORONTO.

Wincarnis

A combination of Extract of Beef, Extract of Liver, and other valuable ingredients, Wincarnis is a powerful restorative, blood-maker and nerve food. It is the most effective remedy for weakness, anaemia, nervousness, and all the ailments that result from a depleted system. It is the one thing you need when you are weak.

Remember that Wincarnis is not a new untried preparation. Wincarnis has an unrivalled reputation of nearly 40 years standing. Begin to get well now. Buy a bottle today. Sold only in two sizes—$1.00 and $1.75.

Ask your Doctor. Get it at your Druggist's.

Wincarnis

A combination of Extract of Beef, Extract of Liver, and other valuable ingredients, Wincarnis is a powerful restorative, blood-maker and nerve food. It is the most effective remedy for weakness, anaemia, nervousness, and all the ailments that result from a depleted system. It is the one thing you need when you are weak.

Women Should Take

special care to keep free from headache, backache, constipation, weakness and depression. For these recurring ailments and other conditions peculiar to women, Beecham's Pills are a tested and effectual remedy. They act gently and promptly on the stomach, liver and bowels, and exert a tonic, strengthening effect on the bodily functions. These famous pills are purely vegetable, contain no habit-forming drug, and produce no disagreeable after-effects. Women the world over, find needed help and strength in

Beecham's Pills

"Largest Sale of Any Medicine in the World"

Worth a Guinea a Box

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold everywhere in Canada and U.S.A. In boxes, 25 cents.

INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" instantly relieves Dyspepsia, or a Sour, Acid, Gassy Stomach—quick! Sure!

Food souring, gas, acidity! Wonder what upset your stomach? Well, don't wonder! The moment you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the lump of indigestion pain, the sourness, heartburn and belching of gases, due to acidity, vanish—truly wonderful!

Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once—no waiting! Buy a box of Pape's Diapepsin now! Don't stay miserable! Try to regulate your stomach so you can eat favorite foods without causing distress. The cost is so little. The benefits so great. You, too, will be a Diapepsin enthusiast afterwards.

"California Syrup of Figs"

For a Child's Liver and Bowels

Mother! Say "California," then you will get genuine "California Syrup of Figs." Full directions for babies and children of all ages who are constipated, bilious, feverish, tongue-coated, or full of cold, are plainly printed on the bottle. Children love this delicious laxative.

GOOD ROADS FOR QUEBEC

The development of good roads in the province of Quebec is likely to occupy much of the stage at the next session of the Quebec legislature. Now that the war is over, transportation is one of the great problems of this continent, and Quebec shows signs that it is not going to lack any initiative in the development of the work for good roads which has already brought out such splendid results.

No part of the transportation problem is more important than that of the rural highways, because these are the roads along which the farmer carries his produce to the nearest market or to the railway. His cost of carriage is determined not merely by distance, but also by the quality of the roads over which his goods are carried. The quality of the roads determines the time and the wear and tear involved.

Quebec is the pioneer in the development of good roads in this Dominion. In the five years from 1911-12 to 1915-16, the Quebec government spent $15,775,369 for good roads. The results are evident in every part of the province. The work has become so important that in 1912 a new department of roads was created, with a minister of roads in charge of it.

The following table shows the number of miles of roads systematically maintained by the municipalities of Quebec, thanks to the subsidies of the government of the province:

Year.	Miles.
1907	1,000
1908	2,000
1909	3,500
1910	5,000
1911	10,000
1912	15,000

Since 1911 over 1,214 miles of macadam and 407 miles of gravel roads have been made in Quebec.

The Good Roads Association gives the following reasons for good roads:

"If you are a farmer, because your farm will increase in value, you can raise more profitable crops, you can market your products where prices are best, your children can get to school, your family can attend church, your physician will be in closer touch with you, your boys and girls will stay on the farm, you will have better mail service, more social life and happier conditions all seasons of the year."

"If you are a merchant, because good roads enlarge your trading radius and make it possible to purchase at the lowest price every day in the year and you can thereby increase your sales."

"If you are a manufacturer, because the products of your factory can be transported more cheaply and more quickly to the market, and because the public roads are commercial feeders to the cities."

"If you are an automobile user, because you can get the benefit of your machine every day in the year, your repair bills will be lower and the larger and better towns will be possible at all seasons of the year."

"If you are a dealer in farm products and implements, because you can receive the products and deliver the implements at all times."

"If you are a banker, because good roads increase the value of your property and make it possible to transport your goods more cheaply and more quickly to the market."

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it off. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it when you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most, if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

HOUSE TO ADJOURN TILL NEXT TUESDAY

Wheat and Butter Discussed in Commons—Oleomargarine is Allowed.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The time of parliament today was wholly taken up with the two great food staples, wheat and butter. In the afternoon Sir George E. Foster gave a very long and interesting speech on the grain situation in connection with the second reading of his bill respecting the Canadian Wheat Board.

In the evening discussion reverted to the oleomargarine bill and again very strenuous opposition developed from the house farmer members led by Messrs. Sutherland and Glass. This was too much for Michael Clarke, or perhaps he was spurred on by a note from the press gallery to himself and Mr. Cresser, calling attention to the cross benches and to the fact that the principle of free trade was a stake. Mr. Clarke arose and made a strong speech in favor of the bill, as one which no free trader could fail to support and was followed by Mr. Cresser in the same strain, who suggested that proper care should be taken to see that oleomargarine was properly marked as such.

Mr. Glass moved an amendment that the bill be given the three months' halt the house moved and adjourned at 11 o'clock.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN

(Continued from page 7)

"I'm going to take the bull by the horns and get busy and do things—tomorrow."

"I've fooled around all day, and yesterday, too, and the day before, but things are going to happen—tomorrow."

"I've had an idea for some time that this or that would be a cracking good thing, and I'm going to try it out—tomorrow."

"I need a better and more attractive display for the goods in my store, and I'm going to take that question up in earnest—tomorrow."

"I've felt for a long time that this store needed brightening up, needed ginger, and I'm going to do it for all its worth—tomorrow."

"I've been losing business or else standing still, for I'll be darned if I know where it's gone—tomorrow, I'll smoke—tomorrow."

"I've been setting a lazy, no-account example around this store. I act like a hookworm and talk like a clam; I mumble around like a chronic invalid; I've got a face on me like an affidavit, and every clerk in the place looks like his last friend was dead, but you watch me spruce up and be happy—tomorrow."

"I haven't shown myself much of a manager. I haven't kept up with the times. I haven't felt there was much call for goods and I haven't believed hereabout in getting in the line, but you watch me begin to get ready to start to commence to prepare to undertake to study to decide to finally get a move on—tomorrow."

"But not today. Lord, no! Not today."

Queer "Customers" of the Credit Man.

Few positions in retail stores offer more opportunity for a study of human nature at close range than that of the credit manager. All the vicissitudes of life seem to pass in a kaleidoscope before him when people of every station daily approach him for aid in solving their myriad pressing problems.

"The extension of credit rests to the principle that 99 per cent of the people are proverbially honest, after all."

"So said the chief manager of a prominent retail institution in discussing this troublesome feature of a merchant's life. We have, of course, modern safeguards—such as reports from mercantile agencies, private information and other means for the detection of any or all of these credit ratings make the granting of credit a surety far from being correct."

"My experience has taught me that the extending of credit may be likened somewhat to a sixth sense in business; for, if I were to be asked how I protect this vast business from losses, I would really be unable to tell. There is one thing which I have found it pays to insist upon in granting credit to small accounts, and that is that a bill must be three-quarters paid before another is undertaken. I have found that when person acts in good faith along these lines, further extension of credit is advised, but when even the oldest customer on our books falls by the wayside in this respect we place a polite check on his credit."

Like Driving a Skittish Horse.

"Granting credit is something like driving a skittish horse. One must keep a firm but light hand on the reins. Then, of course, you must gauge your people. If a person—for example—has made monthly purchases of clothing and other necessities for some time and suddenly begins to buy 'finer' clothes, that person either is buying for somebody else or is trying to accumulate a stock of unnecessary articles, taking advantage of his credit standing to do so."

"Here's an illustration: A short time ago we noted that one of our oldest customers, whose purchases were limited to articles generally bought by a steady family man, was buying expensive silk hosiery, jewelry, underwear and the like. Investigation disclosed that this man, in an unguarded moment, had formed the acquaintance of a flashy young woman."

The cutting off of his credit, I firmly believe, saved him from further folly and, perhaps, the wrecking of a home."

"A similar case was that of a young man who called at our store a short time ago. On his mother's charge account he bought boots, hunting goods, outfitting clothing and various sporting goods. This led us to investigate. We reported the matter to the young man's parents and the result was the nipping in the bud of a fly-by-night trip to 'discover gold' and 'hunt Indians'."

Newsy's Good Ricks.

"When a young married couple comes to me for credit I usually grant it, as my experience has proved that young folks starting out in life by furnishing a home will always pay their bills promptly, for I take the view that as the home they are building is their particular paradise, nothing short of disaster will cause them to part with it or run the chance of ruining their credit for the future."

"Rheumatisms, pathos, misery, hapless parade before my desk all the day long and were it given to you to listen to the I am afflicted with rheumatism, but you watch me begin to get ready to start to commence to prepare to undertake to study to decide to finally get a move on—tomorrow."

"But not today. Lord, no! Not today."

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am a healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."

—Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming women's ills is because it cures the root cause of the trouble. It is made of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

Hack! Hack! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!! Cough!!! Cough!!!

Yes, you feel miserable all right and you're making every one near you feel miserable too. What you need is a bottle of

NADRUCO Syrup of Tar with Cod Liver Oil Compound

It will stop the "Hack," prevent the "Cold" from becoming chronic and developing into something more serious, and cure your "Cough," no matter how bad, in short order. It eases the breathing, soothes the pain, and almost instantly stops the annoying tickling that leads to spasms of uncontrollable coughing that are so embarrassing. None genuine except in a Red Package bearing the trademark NADRUCO.

NATIONAL DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED.

wise, but when even the oldest customer on our books falls by the wayside in this respect we place a polite check on his credit."

Like Driving a Skittish Horse.

"Granting credit is something like driving a skittish horse. One must keep a firm but light hand on the reins. Then, of course, you must gauge your people. If a person—for example—has made monthly purchases of clothing and other necessities for some time and suddenly begins to buy 'finer' clothes, that person either is buying for somebody else or is trying to accumulate a stock of unnecessary articles, taking advantage of his credit standing to do so."

"Here's an illustration: A short time ago we noted that one of our oldest customers, whose purchases were limited to articles generally bought by a steady family man, was buying expensive silk hosiery, jewelry, underwear and the like. Investigation disclosed that this man, in an unguarded moment, had formed the acquaintance of a flashy young woman."

The cutting off of his credit, I firmly believe, saved him from further folly and, perhaps, the wrecking of a home."

"A similar case was that of a young man who called at our store a short time ago. On his mother's charge account he bought boots, hunting goods, outfitting clothing and various sporting goods. This led us to investigate. We reported the matter to the young man's parents and the result was the nipping in the bud of a fly-by-night trip to 'discover gold' and 'hunt Indians'."

Newsy's Good Ricks.

"When a young married couple comes to me for credit I usually grant it, as my experience has proved that young folks starting out in life by furnishing a home will always pay their bills promptly, for I take the view that as the home they are building is their particular paradise, nothing short of disaster will cause them to part with it or run the chance of ruining their credit for the future."

"Rheumatisms, pathos, misery, hapless parade before my desk all the day long and were it given to you to listen to the I am afflicted with rheumatism, but you watch me begin to get ready to start to commence to prepare to undertake to study to decide to finally get a move on—tomorrow."

"But not today. Lord, no! Not today."

Queer "Customers" of the Credit Man.

Few positions in retail stores offer more opportunity for a study of human nature at close range than that of the credit manager. All the vicissitudes of life seem to pass in a kaleidoscope before him when people of every station daily approach him for aid in solving their myriad pressing problems.

"The extension of credit rests to the principle that 99 per cent of the people are proverbially honest, after all."

"So said the chief manager of a prominent retail institution in discussing this troublesome feature of a merchant's life. We have, of course, modern safeguards—such as reports from mercantile agencies, private information and other means for the detection of any or all of these credit ratings make the granting of credit a surety far from being correct."

"My experience has taught me that the extending of credit may be likened somewhat to a sixth sense in business; for, if I were to be asked how I protect this vast business from losses, I would really be unable to tell. There is one thing which I have found it pays to insist upon in granting credit to small accounts, and that is that a bill must be three-quarters paid before another is undertaken. I have found that when person acts in good faith along these lines, further extension of credit is advised, but when even the oldest customer on our books falls by the wayside in this respect we place a polite check on his credit."

Like Driving a Skittish Horse.

"Granting credit is something like driving a skittish horse. One must keep a firm but light hand on the reins. Then, of course, you must gauge your people. If a person—for example—has made monthly purchases of clothing and other necessities for some time and suddenly begins to buy 'finer' clothes, that person either is buying for somebody else or is trying to accumulate a stock of unnecessary articles, taking advantage of his credit standing to do so."

"Here's an illustration: A short time ago we noted that one of our oldest customers, whose purchases were limited to articles generally bought by a steady family man, was buying expensive silk hosiery, jewelry, underwear and the like. Investigation disclosed that this man, in an unguarded moment, had formed the acquaintance of a flashy young woman."

The cutting off of his credit, I firmly believe, saved him from further folly and, perhaps, the wrecking of a home."

"A similar case was that of a young man who called at our store a short time ago. On his mother's charge account he bought boots, hunting goods, outfitting clothing and various sporting goods. This led us to investigate. We reported the matter to the young man's parents and the result was the nipping in the bud of a fly-by-night trip to 'discover gold' and 'hunt Indians'."

Newsy's Good Ricks.

"When a young married couple comes to me for credit I usually grant it, as my experience has proved that young folks starting out in life by furnishing a home will always pay their bills promptly, for I take the view that as the home they are building is their particular paradise, nothing short of disaster will cause them to part with it or run the chance of ruining their credit for the future."

"Rheumatisms, pathos, misery, hapless parade before my desk all the day long and were it given to you to listen to the I am afflicted with rheumatism, but you watch me begin to get ready to start to commence to prepare to undertake to study to decide to finally get a move on—tomorrow."

"But not today. Lord, no! Not today."

Queer "Customers" of the Credit Man.

Few positions in retail stores offer more opportunity for a study of human nature at close range than that of the credit manager. All the vicissitudes of life seem to pass in a kaleidoscope before him when people of every station daily approach him for aid in solving their myriad pressing problems.

"The extension of credit rests to the principle that 99 per cent of the people are proverbially honest, after all."

"So said the chief manager of a prominent retail institution in discussing this troublesome feature of a merchant's life. We have, of course, modern safeguards—such as reports from mercantile agencies, private information and other means for the detection of any or all of these credit ratings make the granting of credit a surety far from being correct."

"My experience has taught me that the extending of credit may be likened somewhat to a sixth sense in business; for, if I were to be asked how I protect this vast business from losses, I would really be unable to tell. There is one thing which I have found it pays to insist upon in granting credit to small accounts, and that is that a bill must be three-quarters paid before another is undertaken. I have found that when person acts in good faith along these lines, further extension of credit is advised, but when even the oldest customer on our books falls by the wayside in this respect we place a polite check on his credit."

Like Driving a Skittish Horse.

"Granting credit is something like driving a skittish horse. One must keep a firm but light hand on the reins. Then, of course, you must gauge your people. If a person—for example—has made monthly purchases of clothing and other necessities for some time and suddenly begins to buy 'finer' clothes, that person either is buying for somebody else or is trying to accumulate a stock of unnecessary articles, taking advantage of his credit standing to do so."

"Here's an illustration: A short time ago we noted that one of our oldest customers, whose purchases were limited to articles generally bought by a steady family man, was buying expensive silk hosiery, jewelry, underwear and the like. Investigation disclosed that this man, in an unguarded moment, had formed the acquaintance of a flashy young woman."