year they found themselves in posses sion of a surplus which gave them saf ficient for the purpose. The mayor was glad that the present council, as a body, loyally carried out the intention of their immediate predecessors, and devoted sufficient money to finish the work. No one regrets more than the mayor council the unfortunate delay which has occurred in supplying the city with the desideratum of pure water, but it must be said that although the water used has not been altogether palatable, it has not been unwholesome, for analysis in the city hall proved that it contained nothing deleterious or injurious to health. Now, by the process of filtration, the unpleasant odor and flavor will cease to exist, and we shall be able to say that no city in the world possesses a better or more wholesome supply of water. There was only one subject or regret that the council had not yet sufficient Five years have elapsed since money at their disposal to place a roof the decision was arrived at to provide the over the reservoir, for experts say that should be done, it being easily understood that water will deteriorate after
