FRIEND OF FRANCE Former Foreign Minister Delcasse -Means More Than Germany PARIS, July 12.-Former Foreign Minister Delcasse n the course of an interview published by the Galois today upon the British and French naval amenities at Brest, was induced to discuss his general policy relative to Great Britain and Germany. He said "The policy of nations nowadays is not based on sentiment or antipathy, but upon their material interests. As between Germany and Great Britain our commercial balance shows where our interests lie. Great Britain is our best purchaser, while Germany buys almost nothing of us and tries to sel us all she can. Moreover, it is evident that we could not leave open ritating controversies with Great Bri tain which might precipitate an armed struggle, for Great Britain holds in disputably the empire of the seas. For every warship we build she builds four or five. It is therefore well to accept these facts and consider the value which co-operation would give us in certain eventualities. The greatest intrinsic value of such co-operation would be the virtual impossibility in
