

AMERICANS WILL TAKE ACTION TO HELP VETERANS

"Stars and Stripes" Are Interested in Freeing Two Who Caught Slacker.

BERGDOLL CASE TAKES NEW TURN

President Harding Likely to Stand Behind Veterans in Their Demand.

(Copyright 1921, By Public Ledger.)
Washington, March 15.—While ex-service men backed by the Stars and Stripes newspaper expect to demand action from President Harding in obtaining the release of Frank Zimmer and Carl Nod, army sergeants held in Germany for attempting to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdall. Representative Julius Kahn is preparing to push his investigation of the Bergdall case to the limit at the next session of Congress. Mr. Kahn said the military committee of the House was with him to a man and that the Bergdall matter certainly would not be white-washed. The first active step in behalf of the two imprisoned sergeants was taken when $300 was forwarded to the Paris post No. 1 American legion as an installment of the sergeants' defense fund being raised by the stars and stripes among ex-service men.

Raise Defense Fund.
Commander Francis E. Drake of the Stars and Stripes newspaper is offering to raise a defense fund. The cable said, a lawyer had been engaged to defend the sergeants by a legion representative sent to Germany from the Paris post. Commander Drake asked for 4,000 francs at once, which is more than covered by the remittance which was forwarded today.

The move to request action from President Harding and the American Government was begun March 4 by the circulation of a petition to the President asking him that "the full force of this Government be placed back of the demand that Germany turn the sergeants over to the American army on the Rhine and return Bergdall to this country to serve out his sentence." The American legion recently adopted a resolution to this effect, which was laid before Mr. Harding in person by Thomas W. Miller of Delaware, member of the legion's executive committee at St. Augustine.

No Word of Trial.
The trial of Zimmer and Nod was originally set for this week and no word has been received of the outcome of the effort to postpone it. "Many red-blooded Americans familiar with this case," said Mr. Kahn today in announcing his intention to push the resolution, "are interested in the outcome of the case. Among the things we want to know is how this slacker could boldly draw from the United States treasury during the war $100,000 in gold coin, at a time when even those in Government authority could not obtain the privilege. I have received numerous inquiries from Philadelphia and other cities asking if 'crepe is ready to be hung on the Bergdall case.' My reply to this was that our committee is determined from the evidence already in hand to fully investigate every angle in this case."

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Will Vanish

(Bondor's Secret)
The judicious use of a delicate paste insures any woman a clear, hairless skin. To prepare the paste mix a little of the powdered delonise with some water, then apply to the objectionable hairs for two or three minutes. When the paste is removed and the skin washed, every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain attends the use of delonise and it will not mar the most sensitive skin. To insure results, see that you get real delonise.

Tender Gums—A Warning

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty, also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U.S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

Saw Dishonor in Wreck of Motor

Menier's Chauffeur Drowned Himself After Smashing Employer's Car.

Paris, March 17.—The history of the cook, Vatel, who ran a sword through his heart because the fresh fish did not arrive in time for the King's dinner, has been repeated in the case of a French chauffeur, which is told in the Paris press this morning. So great was his sense of professional honor that he refused to "revive" the disgrace of having smashed up his master's automobile. The whole drama was played out on the road between Paris and Villiers-Cotterets two days ago. The driver of the car, Georges Menier, an arriving at the latter place on a business trip, decided that he would return by train, and so ordered his chauffeur to take the car back to Paris. By accident, M. Menier's brother the same afternoon was motoring along the road to Villiers-Cotterets, and found a wrecked car abandoned by the roadside. On examining it he found it was his brother's car and, fearful that a tragedy had overtaken the occupants, he drove at once to the next villa to make inquiries. Here he was informed that the car, driven by the chauffeur, but with no other occupant, had passed early in the afternoon, and that the chauffeur had been seen later on foot in the village.

Letter to Employer.
He had stopped at a cafe and written a letter to his employer. This letter ran as follows:—
"Monsieur.—You entrusted your new car to me and I have had the misfortune to damage it irreparably. I cannot survive such dishonor."

Enclosed with the letter was a will, in which the unfortunate man arranged for the disposal of his small savings of some 1,500 francs.
A search was organized at once in the district, in the hope that he would be found before he could carry out his intention, but after a few hours his lifeless body was dragged from a river.

To add to the irony of the story, because in his tragic letter the man had seemed to admit that the wreck of the car was his fault, the insurance company with which the car was insured, now refuses to pay compensation to the owner.

Claim U. S. Army Is Best Looking
"Cops" on Watch Make "Doughboys" Keep Uniforms and Arms in Trim.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)
Coblenz, March 15.—This little old army has got to be the best looking army on the Rhine, says General Allen, "and the police will get you if you don't watch out," echoes the provost marshal.
Squads of military police have been patrolling the streets of Coblenz for the last week, gathering in doughboys who need a shave, haircut or shine, or whose uniforms are not immaculate, or who lack a good conduct card, which is an obligatory entrance ticket for a street promenade. The "dons" include a dilapidated cap, long hair, shirt collar, an outside, solid, wrinkled or torn uniform, carelessly wrapped leggings, shoes unshined or down at the heel, or shabby campaign badges, and these, these buttons buttoned and hands out of pockets, the provost marshal adds.

Several hundred soldiers have visited the Hoosgow and been punished. Since then the company tailors have been working overtime creasing trousers, blouse sleeves and manure are the request before our soldier laddie comes to town. The crowd which attended the first baseball game of the season yesterday was in consequence of the tailoring edict the most delirious up which ever witnessed our national pastime.

Vice-President C. P. R. In City

A. D. MacTier Visits West Side Terminals, Dines City Fathers.

Among the arrivals in the city yesterday was A. D. MacTier, Vice-President of the C. P. R., who spent several hours inspecting the West Side Terminals in company with J. M. Woodman and other local C. P. R. officials.

Early in the afternoon Mr. MacTier had a conference with Mayor Schofield and the commissioners, who dined with him.
The vice-president stated that his present visit had no special significance, being one of periodical trips made to the port for inspection. He found everything quite satisfactory in the West End.

Commenting on the duties of the steamship trade, Mr. MacTier said that while business was comparatively slack at this port, yet St. John was much better off than Boston and other ports. He did not wish to pose as a prophet, but did not take a pessimistic view of the future.

Large quantities of wheat were being held here by the C. P. R. in elevators and cars, some 1,000,000 bushels, but steamers were now in port which would take away 500,000 bushels.

It was pointed out that the import trade here this winter was greater than that of last year.

While in company with the mayor and commissioners, there was a talk over the new C. P. R. bridge matter, but nothing definite was done. Mr. MacTier leaves this morning by special train at 9:30 o'clock for Montreal.

Claims 15 Per Cent.
This is strange, as the usual dividend has been paid by the C. P. R. according to the statement as they earned 11.4 on their common. They have paid ten cents of every dollar in dividends and an additional five cents to meet fixed charges. Thus capital is rewarded to the extent of 15 cents on the dollar.

"As for his statement that the railway operating costs have risen 100 per cent in the last three years, the C. P. R. report does not bear this out. In 1918 their operating bill was $123,033,310, in 1920 it was $183,483,305, an increase of less than 50 per cent. With this it must also be remembered that their maintenance work during the past year had been far heavier than it was during the war, as maintenance work which could not be touched previously due to the diversion of raw materials, such as steel for war purposes."

U. S. Trade Follows Flag Into Danzig

Sixty American Ships, Totaling 233,000 Tons, Visited Free Port in 1920.

(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.)
Danzig, Mar. 15.—The Polish flag has made little showing in the harbor of the free city of Danzig, now set apart as a port for Poland's commerce by the treaty of Versailles.

American shipping, on the other hand, has been making a strong bid against England in 1920 for the leadership in tonnage entering Danzig.

The Stars and Stripes were virtually unknown in Danzig waters before the war, and a single American vessel entering the port in 1913, but direct trade with the armistice they came on with a rush.

Sixty American ships of American register, totaling 233,000 tons, visited the free city in 1920, the United States ranging only 25,000 tons behind England, although British shipping is long established in Baltic trade. It ranked third in the statistics of 1913 behind Germany and Norway.

The Polish mercantile navy has yet to throw off its swaddling clothes. Only 2,400 tons sailing under the White Eagle were reported at Danzig in 1920—the first year that the Polish design was seen there, and these boats for the greater part comprised only lighters, tugs and similar petty shipping.

The selection as a port for Poland, nevertheless, has brought prosperity to the harbor of the free city. Almost 1,000,000 tons of shipping flying in addition to the above mentioned flags the colors of Uruguay, Brazil, Turkey, Mexico and of many other states unknown to Danzig before the war, entered the harbor during the last year. This total is well above that of the last pre-war year under German sovereignty.

IN THE EDITOR'S MAIL

WHERE'S THE REMEDY?

To the Editor of The Standard:
Sir.—Recently I read with much interest a strong and forcible editorial in the Montreal "Gazette" on the deplorable and reprehensible waste and loss of money in connection with the management of the Canadian National Railways. The editorial with its long and interesting dissertation on these matters, ended up with a lamentable cry of "Where's the Remedy?"

In reply to this, as an eight entering in the wedge of economy, the Gazette might enquire as to what extent the management of the Canadian National Railways is over-manned as compared with other roads. To simplify matters and justify the management of the road to the country, why would it not be advisable to appoint a committee and take certain branches and lines of work in connection with the railway and compare the number of men employed in the same line of work in the Canadian Pacific Railway, thereby finding out whether we are employing more men or less men than the Canadian Pacific today, to perform the same line of work. If the result showed that the Canadian National Railways were over-manned, which I feel confident would be the case, the same line of work could be done with less men, the same proficiency and general standard of labor maintained, results showing quite a large economy and a reduction in the management of the railroad and consequently a considerable saving to the country.

We, who live in New Brunswick, and some who are in close touch with the Canadian Railways feel that when the assertion is made, the road is over-manned it is believed to be a just and reasonable assumption from our knowledge of conditions in New Brunswick. It has been noticed with regret that the progress of the country is to be retarded because of the necessary money required from the revenue of the Dominion to keep and to improve the Canadian Government Railways.

Before it is too late and the country is enveloped with an uncontrollable and insurmountable public debt, demanding the progress and disheartening the business enterprise of the country, would it not be better for those managing affairs to gather round the table and discuss the getting rid of the heavy incubus and follow as advised by Bank Presidents, the disposing of the railways to a large and responsible syndicate.
