

INDEX

The figures in the index refer to the pages.

THEFT—Continued.

- by clerks and servants, 143.
 - by concealing gold or silver with intent to defraud partner, 143.
 - by co-owner, 143.
 - by misappropriating proceeds held under direction, 142.
 - by public servants — indictment against, 307.
 - by tenants and lodgers, 146.
 - indictment for, 307.
 - concealing thing capable of being stolen for fraudulent purpose, 156.
 - definition of, 138.
 - demanding with intent to commit theft, 177.
 - failing to satisfy justice that possession of bill is lawful, 152.
 - husband and wife, 143.
 - of animals, 141.
 - of cattle, 148.
 - of document of title to lands, 147.
 - of dogs, birds, etc., 149.
 - of election documents, 148.
 - of fences, stiles and gates, 152.
 - of judicial or official document, 147.
 - of mailable matter other than post letters, 148.
 - of ores of metals, 154.
 - indictment for, 306.
 - evidence of, 359.
 - of oysters, 150.
 - of oysters — description of bed in indictment, 305.
 - of pigeons, 150.
 - of post letter bag, etc., 147.
 - of post letters, packets, etc., 147.
 - of railway tickets, 148.
 - of roots, plants, etc., growing in gardens, 153.
 - of roots, plants, etc., growing elsewhere, 153.
 - of testamentary instrument, 146.
 - of things fixed to buildings or land, 150.
 - of things under seizure, 140.
 - of trees in pleasure ground of $5 value, 151.
 - of trees elsewhere of $25 value, 151.
 - of trees of .25 value, 151.
 - punishment of juvenile offenders for, 414.
 - punishment of, when not provided for, 157.
 - punishment of, when value exceeds $200, 157.
 - stealing by picklocks, 154.
 - stealing from ships, wharves, etc., 155.
 - stealing from the person, 154.
 - stealing in dwelling-house, 154.
 - stealing in manufactories, etc., 154.
 - stealing on railways, 156.
 - stealing things deposited in Indian grave, 156.
 - stealing things not otherwise provided for, 157.
 - stealing wreck, 155.
 - things capable of being stolen, 137.
- THINGS, capable of being stolen, 137.
- concealing, 156.