

Blood Was Bad.

From impure blood comes Pimples, Boils, Ulcers, Tumors, Abscesses, Festering Sores, Rashes, Constipation, Head-aches, etc.

Get pure blood and keep it pure by removing every trace of impure morbid matter from the system by using

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

COLLEGE WIT.

Using a few more or less original jokes from the O. A. C. Review, the well-known magazine published by the students of the Ontario Agricultural College: There was a young girl named Grace, Who wore a sweet smile on her face, She thought not of right, but only of Wright, For more we haven't got space.

Fulmer—How do you arrive at the value of a food? Cooper (immediately) Eat it, Sir.

Jack Douglas, going into the stable one day recently, found a Freshman astride of one of the horses, with paper and pencil in his hand.

"Why, you loon!" he exclaimed, "what are you doing?"

"Writing a composition," was the reply.

"Well, why don't you get into your room and write it there?"

"Because," answered the Freshie, "Mr. Edwin told me to write a composition on a horse."

Ryde—Mr. Crow, is tobacco an internal or an external wash?

THE ART OF LIFE.

The love of learned terms is so deeply rooted in the Irish peasantry that no countryman will ever confess he does not know a word. Mr. Le Fanu tried the experiment on a boy in Killarney. He was sure the boy had never heard of a thermometer. So he introduced that word into the conversation—with astonishing results. "Well, you have a lot of fish here I'm told?" "We have, sorr."

"What sort have you?" "Trouts, eels, and all kinds, your honner."

"Any salmon?" "An odd one now and then."

"Any thermometers?" "Them does be here, too; but they come up later in the season." Yer honner mightn't find any to-day."

A FEW DON'TS.

"Don't send a dog after the cows. He is the most expensive help on the farm."

"Don't milk at irregular hours. It is the surest way to dry off a cow."

"Don't work your horses with check-rein or blinds. They are uncomfortable and unnecessary, and the horse will work better and keep fatter without them."

"Don't allow animals to stand out in the rain and cold wind. It is too expensive. It requires food to supply warmth, and a good stable is the best substitute for grain."

"Don't drive on your land when it is soft and wet. It will form clods that take time and labor to reduce."

"Don't burn the weeds, but plow them under before they ripen. The land requires all the vegetable matter you can give it."

"Don't plow through a spring hole or swale. No crop will grow in such places until drained."

"Don't starve the stock because feed is scarce. Sell some animals and feed the rest better."

"Don't dope the farm animals with patent medicines or quick remedies, unless you know the nature of the ailment and the action of the medicine; and then don't."

"Don't deny the horses all the fresh grass they will eat. It is the best medicine they can be given."

"Don't neglect to furnish poultry with shelter and roosts. The carriage seat is too expensive."

"Don't fail to read agricultural papers and farm bulletins. No man knows it all, and least of all he who does not read."

"Don't quarrel with neighbors. It may lead to lawsuits, and lawsuits are luxuries no farm can afford."

"Don't neglect to fence your fields and pastures. It is the best way to save your property from being stolen or damaged by wild animals."

"Don't neglect to clean your tools and implements. It is the best way to keep them in good order and prevent rust and decay."

"Don't neglect to keep your accounts. It is the best way to know where you stand and prevent loss and waste."

"Don't neglect to keep your land in good order. It is the best way to get the most out of your soil and prevent it from becoming barren and unproductive."

"Don't neglect to keep your stock in good order. It is the best way to get the most out of your animals and prevent them from becoming weak and unproductive."

"Don't neglect to keep your farm in good order. It is the best way to get the most out of your land and prevent it from becoming a waste and a curse."

"Don't neglect to keep your family in good order. It is the best way to get the most out of your life and prevent it from becoming a waste and a curse."

HECLA FURNACE

Is Guaranteed Gas-Tight and Smoke-Tight

20 years use has proved the strength of this guarantee. In the "Hecla" Furnace, the cast iron top and bottom of the radiating chamber, and the steel sides, are fused.

20 years use, proves this. Fused Joints are a perfect guarantee against smoke, gas and dust in a "Hecla" heated home.

No other furnace has Fused Joints—they are absolutely and permanently tight. There is no other exclusive "Hecla" patent. Insist therefore on a Hecla.
