SMOOTH FELLOW IS JAMES McDOWELL

He is Alleged to Have Stolen
Two Horses in Two Weeks.

James McDowell, aged 18 years is said to be a pretty smooth young man. If he has gotten away with what the authorities allege, he certainly is. Two weeks ago, it is said, he rented a horse and rig from Mr. Rouse of Cayuga. The outfit was valued at $500. McDowell was traced to the Reserve and Constable Fred Kerr found he had relatives at Paris. Later he traced him to a farm near Galt. Here the young man had taken a job for two weeks, during which time he had sold the Cayuga horse to the farmer. Then he decamped taking the farmer's horse and rig. He is still on the road and is much sought after.

OPENING OF SANITARIUM

The trustees of the Brant Sanitarium Association announce an informal opening of the institution on Saturday, the 2nd of August, at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon. The members of the county, city, town and township councils; also all subscribers and all persons interested in the work are cordially invited to be present. The public will be allowed to inspect the building immediately after the opening and also on Sunday afternoon. The institution will then be closed for the purpose of receiving patients on the following Monday. The staff find that the friends of the institution have omitted to donate a clock for the main room and also a sewing machine. If these articles can be furnished, they will be gratefully received by the staff.

HOLMEDALE

To a person who has not been down in the Holmedale district very recently, the growth in that part of Brantford is very pronounced, spreading as it now does with new buildings and streets opening up in all directions. The splendid new school stands out prominently as one speeds along on the Holmedale car, and houses of a splendid class are being built. Red brick characterizes the newer homes, and there are also many flower laden gardens. Both St. Paul's (Anglican) and the Holmedale Baptist churches have thriving parishes. There are good little shops down there also, and between 6:30 and 7 p.m., 1 o'clock noon and again at 6 p.m., it is alive with busy workers going to and coming from the mills, where so many hands are employed, and such splendid work is turned out day by day.

One Hundred Years of Peace

Westside Business Men's Association and many others.

When the Buffalo contingent arrived at Fort Erie Grove by ferry, they were met by a brigade of boy scouts from Welland and Niagara Falls, headed by the 74th Regiment band of Buffalo. The parades joined and with two bands leading they marched to the stadium, where the boy scouts crossed new silk flags of the two countries before the speakers stand. John Bull and Uncle Sam grasped hands with an unmistakable heartiness, the hands played the national anthems and then the speakers settled into the serious business of the day, cheered by the presence of many thousands of people.

Sir John Gibson and party arrived at Fort Erie about one o'clock and were entertained at lunch. Sir John himself, was billed as a prominent speaker, other Canadians being Hon. Mackenzie King, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, Toronto, and Evan T. Fraser, M.P.P. of Niagara Falls. Mr. German, M.P. of New York, could not come, nor could Secretary State Bryan, who wired his sympathy with the movement. Mayor Fuhrmann of Buffalo, was there, also Hon. Herbert P. Bissell of the New York State Supreme Court, Congressman Smith, Buffalo, national peace commission officials, and others.

Speeches were necessarily brief, and most of them emphasized the desirability of constructing the proposed peace bridge.

After the addresses the crowd is to be entertained by balloon ascensions, fire works, sports, another grand parade and then dancing until midnight. Visible from Buffalo and all parts of the river last night was the model of the proposed bridge erected across Fort Erie's main street and outlined with colored lights. The Union Jack and Stars and Stripes are everywhere together in the lavish decorations of the town. Some days ago Secretary Hamilton of the Fort Erie peace committee sent a cablegram to Sir Arthur Lawlor of the British peace commission for transmission to King George. Sir Arthur replied last night, saying etiquette required the message to come from some official source. Hamilton's reply was a message addressed personally to the King, expressing loyalty of subjects here, and a reply is expected to-day.

Two babies from one block who were awarded prizes at the Massey-Harris Picnic.

The residents on Marlboro street, between Park avenue and Murray street, are very proud of the showing made by the block in the baby show at the big Massey-Harris Co. picnic the other day. Two of the six prizes were won by little ones from the "Winter Garden" block, although not a fifth of the little cherubs were entered. Next year the entry list from this district is sure to be large.

What is a Lady? Do You Know?

Anglo-Indian Novelist Propounds a Question Which Excites Interest in England.

Unless one has visited England one will find it difficult to understand the interest created here by a question that has just been raised by Mrs. Perrin, the Anglo-Indian novelist.

Mrs. Perrin spoke the other night at the Savage Club ladies' dinner, and in the course of her speech, tried to answer the old conundrum, "What is a lady?" Now it is a notorious fact that nearly every woman in England would like to be a lady, though quite a number of British men do not yearn to be gentlemen; and yet nobody really seems to know what a lady is. Definitions there are in plenty, but none of them are satisfactory. Here for instance are a few:

A lady is a woman who does not work with her hands.
A lady is a woman who buys her clothes at the most expensive stores in London.

A lady is a woman who keeps two servants and a toy dog.

A lady is a woman who keeps a carriage.

A lady is a woman who can faint when required.

A lady is a woman who has been presented at Court to King George V.

A lady is a woman who moves gracefully and is bored with things.

A lady is a woman who can afford good clothes and knows how to wear them.

And this last, is after all, the definition most generally accepted to-day on this side of the Atlantic.

PRETTY ROMANCE IN BRANTFORD

Robt. Gieve, of the Massey-Harris works, is receiving congratulations from his shopmates and friends these days. Instead of going on the factory excursion last Saturday, he was quietly married at the presbytery of Alexandra Church, by Rev. Mr. McClinton, the happy bride being Miss Mary J. Moor, of Scremerston, Eng., who came here to figure in a rather romantic wedding. Mr. Gieve came here seven years ago from Berwick, Scotland, and had not seen his bride elect since he left the land of the heather.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home, No. 70 Park avenue, which the groom had prepared for his good wife.
