A WONDERFUL COLD CURE.
Just think of it, a cold cured in ten minutes! That's what happens when you use "Catarhzone." You inhale its soothing balsams and out goes the cold—sniffles are cured—headache is chased—symptoms of catarrh and croup disappear at once. It's the leading pine essences and powerful antiseptics in Catarhzone that enable it to act so quickly. In disease of the nose, for irritable throat, bronchitis, coughs and catarrh it's a marvel. Safe even for children. 25c and

How to Make Christmas Sweets

THE candy season is again with us. In most families homemade candies are an important feature of the Christmas festivities. The following tested recipes will be helpful to those who need instruction in the pleasurable task of candy-making.

Here is a never failing fudge recipe: One-fourth cupful milk, one cupful sugar, butter the size of a walnut, two squares, or two ounces of chocolate.
Place water and melt all together and boil until they cling together in the water without being brittle. When stirring quickly, if the bottom of the pan shows and edges suggest sugari-ness, it is getting done. Just before taking off the fire add vanilla, then beat thoroughly until creamy. Pour into a well buttered platter and when almost cool cut into squares. If preferred add chopped nuts just before removing from the fire or form the fudge into balls while warm and roll in ground nuts. You may use either a rich cream of ordinary butter, especially if you do not use chopped nuts. Preserved figs are excellent when coated with fudge or when mashed and mixed in fudge while warm.

Two cupfuls of brown sugar, boiled with milk and stirred continually until forms a wax ball when tested in cold water makes an excellent candy if mixed with chopped raisins.

This is an inexpensive and delicious candy: Grind one cupful of blanched almonds and the same amount of pecan nuts in the food chopper. Add a rich fondant with light brown sugar and milk. Stir the fondant constantly until it forms a ball of wax when tested in cold water. Remove it from the fire and stir until it foams. A little cream of tartar will assist in making it creamy. Pour the ground nuts and the candy and place in a buttered square. Do not break the pieces apart until cool. When cold dip each piece into melted chocolate, unswetened.

A firm, ripe banana cut into rather thin slices and dipped in melted chocolate is delicious. Place on oiled paper and set in cool place to harden.
Dip marshmallows into melted chocolate, roll them in ground nuts and set aside to harden. Marshmallows hastily dipped into hard lemon taffy make a good confection.

Melt unsweetened chocolate in a double pan and dip loaf sugar into the melted chocolate and sprinkle the pieces with ground nuts. This is a good candy to give a child.

THE HAMILTON TIGERS
ARE SET TO THE GOOD.
HAMILTON, Dec. 30.—While Bobbie Kerr, Secretary of the Tiger Football Club, has not finished his financial statement for the year, he has announced that the club would have a surplus of about $4,000 on the season.

MORE FIGHTING.
PRESIDIO, Texas, Dec. 30.— Fighting between Mexican federalists and constitutionalists at Ojinaga, Mexico, was resumed this morning.
The rebels advanced upon the presidential forces where the remnant of Huerta's army in northern Mexico had taken refuge after its disastrous defeats of last night.

A GIFT.
HAT shall I send you for Christmas dear?
What can a peniless rimester send that the wish that when skies are dim with gloom the peniless April buds may bloom and the every drop of the heart of you in the winter days when the skies were blue?

What shall I send you for Christmas, sweet?
What thoughtful minstrel send to the prayer that when day draws drear and long four heart with sing snatches of sweetest song and that every face of the Tuietide's snow may speak of the dreams of the long ago?

What shall I send you for Christmas, my own?
What can a lonely harding send But the wish that when life grows dark and chill the roses of summer may bloom for you and in moods when the fond old dreams still cling to you that the winter return, my sweet, and sing to you?

—Irving Dillon in Life.
The Day After Christmas.
A graceful finish is one of the most essential touches of any successful reception. The hostess does not drop his hands abruptly from the keys as soon as he has played the last note, but holds them there a moment longer, until the music dies away. Diners exit would be indignant if the table were whisked clean the moment the last mouthful was swallowed. They find the lingering on a little while over the coffee and nuts most delightful.

Christmas is too beautiful and too solemn a festival to drop in this busy fashion the moment the clock strikes midnight, for any occasion which needs especial preparation also needs an adequate closing, and particularly is this true of those things whose values lie in sentiment.

There are many things to be done after Christmas. There are letters to be written, houses to be put in order, gifts to be arranged, and every one of the countless details may be done either with grace or without it. In the theater the final curtain falls with fitting dignity or appropriate savor. It has all been a play; but, even so, the actors do not walk off after the last word is said and allow the stage hands to rush on. That would offend the mood of the audience. How much truer this is of something worth life!

The days after Christmas should be as mysterious in their way as were the days before Christmas. The ornaments that decorated the tree should be put away with the same care and pleasure with which they were brought out, the tree taken down with the same deli-ciousness that accompanied their going up.
The afternoon is sometimes the most beautiful part of the sunset, and sometimes it is even more beautiful than the sunset itself.

INGERSOLL BLANKED
THE ST. THOMAS SEVEN.
INGERSOLL, Dec. 30.—The hockey season was ushered in last night when the home team defeated the St. Thomas septette by a score of 6 to 0. The halftime score was 6 to 0. The absence of ice in the arena until a couple of days ago had deprived the Ingersoll team of regular workouts, and the St. Thomas septette have no doubt suffered similarly. On the whole, however, the game was keenly contested with many brilliant plays. The teams—

Ingersoll—Galt, Manzer, right defence, Moulton; left defence, Dillon; centre Gregory; rover, Coughlin; right wing Woolson; left wing, Ruppel.
St. Thomas—Goal, Hamilton; right defence, Wilson; left defence, Jackson; centre Baker; rover, McLean; right wing, Slocum; left wing, Mc-Donald.
