

Xmas Rockers

Oak Rockers are all the style now, so I have put in a large stock for Christmas down in Silk, Plush and Silk Tapestry, and varying from $3.00 up.

Decks, too, are nice presents. I can give you one in solid Oak for $6.00, with book case combined. Drop in and look at them.

My stock of Christmas goods is worth your while looking at.

-LORD-

THE FURNITURE MAN

Next Morrison's Hotel BROCKVILLE

BROCKVILLE

Business College

SHORTHAND A SPECIALTY

Commercial Course Thorough

TERMS REASONABLE

Send for Illustrated Catalogue before deciding where you will go.

GAY &amp; McCOORD, Principals

CRAIG

The Furrier

LATE T. MILLIS &amp; CO.

Is at the old stand and is carrying a large and well assorted stock of Furs in all the leading styles.

Furs remodelled and repaired on the premises by

CRAIG, The Furrier

King st., Brockville.

P. S.—Fall Hats

Our Shoes Are Away Up.

In all the qualities that make footwear A-1. Handmade is an handsome dress, is an old friend, and it's just as true as it is old. It's true of our footwear. Our shoes look handsome, wear even more handsomely than they look, and all who buy them realize the fullest extent of what it is to be thoroughly well shod. It pays to be well shod at all times, and especially in bad weather. We draw no line between men's and boys' shoes, ladies' and babies', too, can be fully provided with the exact style of footwear they need or desire. Ask for $1.00, men's extra-high boots, solid leather, water proof boots for $3.00. A man's long boot at $2.00 is popular, and meets with much sale. We have the best boot in Canada for that money. Women's solid leather boots for $2.00, and all other lines equally cheap.

D. W. DOWNEY

The One Price Bargain Shoe House

Brockville.

Karley &amp; Seymour

ARE FRIENDS TO THE

Farmer and Builder

They have the best Assortment of Hardware, Tinware, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Cabinetry, Glass, Silverware, Fishing Tackle, &c., in town, and prices to suit the times. The Daisy Churns—best in the market—always in stock and at lowest prices. Guns and ammunition of best quality. Send them.

COAL OIL

Best Quality. Low Price

KARLEY BLOCK

ATHENS

LAUGH

and the world laughs with you.

WEEP

and you weep alone.

DRESS WELL

and hundreds greet you

LOOK SHABBY

and your credits go down

BUT THEY LOOK SHABBY WHEN

A. M. CHASSELLS

Tailor,

Athens

IS PREPARED TO TAKE YOUR

ORDER FOR SUITS

in any style, made of any material, and at very low prices, considering the workmanship.

A LOYAL CANADIAN.

Mr. A. E. Donovan Tells the County

Scotchman of His Native Land and

The People.

At a recent meeting of the Salisbury Club at Edinburgh, Scotland, Mr. A. E. Donovan, now representing the Sun Life in that country, was present by invitation and in the toast list, his name was coupled with that of his native country. He responded as follows:—

Mr. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN.

It affords me an unusual pleasure to be present this evening to say a few words to so large a number of Scotchmen, and to tell you what my native land thinks of you. As I have only a few minutes at my disposal, I shall first begin by telling you what might be called a story, and why I am reminded of it is that looking over this sea of faces I see such splendidly shaped heads—kind, intellectual men—and I am reminded of an American gentleman who paid your country a visit a few years ago, and put up at one of your best hotels. In the morning, at breakfast, he was given a plate of oatmeal porridge. He at once turned to the waiter and said, "We feel oatmeal to our horses in America."

"Yes," said the waiter, "see what fine oats we have here. I have the finest oats we have."

"Perhaps it may be the oatmeal that has given you in his country such an abundance of bone and brains, or it may be that the gift of all good things has been dealt more liberally with Scotchmen than with any other class of people, but beyond doubt you make a success of life wherever you drop your anchor."

There are no class of people who come to our fair Dominion that we welcome more heartily than Scotchmen, and I will go further and say that we prefer you. Knowing your industrious habits, your sterling honesty, why should we not have a preference for you. You have already given us two of the most illustrious prime ministers in the name of Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald and the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, and I am proud to be able to tell you that we have never had two better men at the head of our government than the gentlemen I have already named."

Both these men have endeavored their names deep into the heart of every Canadian.

"This said, 'An honest man is the noblest work of God.' I am pleased to tell you Scotchmen that Scotland has furnished Canada with thousands of honest, industrious men and women, and you have not only held the most prominent and lucrative positions we have had to offer, but you still continue to keep possession of these offices. True, at present, an Irishman has the start of you, but I can say to that gentleman, he will need to keep his eye open, for Sandy is close on his heels. I mean, our present Prime Minister, Sir John Thompson, who many of you perhaps have seen or met, and we must not forget to him his training under the careful eye of one of those Scotchmen I have told you about. Some one may say, 'How do I know so much about Scotchmen?' I will answer that by saying it is my proud pleasure to tell you I have reason to know something of the Scotch people. I am married to a daughter of an Edinburgh lady (Cheer), who was born on Rose street in this city 48 years ago, and if Canada possesses one woman who can boast of more than another, it is this woman, who left your shores 46 years ago, but a child, to assist in building up our great country, which we are so proud to tell you she has done."

"I would like to say to the young men here to-night, come out and see us. I will assure you a warm welcome, and to the older gentlemen, I specially invite you. There is no country that will offer better inducements for your children. We have what you are fighting for—free schools—and have had for many years."

There seems to be an impression that it costs much more to live in Canada than here. This is a mistake. Notwithstanding you are a free trade country, I assure you we can purchase the necessities of life cheaper than you can in this country. For example, flour, bread, meat and butter, eggs and cheese are very much cheaper with us than you pay here. We must not lose sight of the fact that you are a purely agricultural country. When I say you are, I mean Great Britain as a whole. You produce more manufactured goods than you can use, and are forced to look for markets abroad. This I cannot object to, but here comes the rub: you cannot produce from your land a sufficient amount to feed your people; therefore, you are artificial. The latter we do not have to contend with, the former we are pleased to see. I would like to tell you I can buy in all wool Canadian tweed suit made to order for $15, which would be about $30 of your money, and I will give you my word that most of you could not afford to buy one of your Scotch tweed suits, unless you were an expert. You say we have a very cold country. We have, but it is a dry cold, the sun pouring forth its genial warmth when the degree of cold is much lower than you have it. I much prefer our cold to your damp, rainy weather and S-cotch mist, as you please to call it. Mr. chairman, give me a Canadian and you can have the Scotch mist."

I would like to again call your attention to Sir John Macdonald and the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie in the following words: When the silent and unbiased words of history take the place of present clamor, you will find every Canadian put his hands into his pockets, and contribute to a fund for the purpose of erecting monuments to those two noble, honest Scotchmen, who did so much for my native country."

I am only sorry, Mr. Chairman, I did not have the toast of the ladies to respond to; for beyond doubt it is a grand sight for one on a pleasant afternoon to behold those beautiful Scotch ladies walking up and down. I will not neglect to tell our Canadian boys about them. I have already written many good things of them, not only to my own home, but to some of the young unmarried gentlemen. I once heard a gentleman say, 'The Scotch people not only keep Sunday, but everything they get their hands on.' I assure you, if some of my young gentlemen friends were here, you might keep Sunday but you would not be able to keep your eyes checked loose."

DO NOT GROW OLD.

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

Do not grow old—there is too much to be

The world has need of all these precious

This fresh young face, these eyes like wood-

This shadowy hair which every spring waxes

These subtle grace, all these lovely hues.

This voice like sweet music, this heart like

A Pastor's Experience.

THE DOUBTS OF A CANADIAN

GILBERTSON.

Attached with a Pleasant Utterance to

The Pastors of the First Baptist Church of New York, has had an experience which makes him one of the most talked of men in Cattaraugus county. To a reporter of the Buffalo News who called upon him, Mr. Cummings made the following statement, which he put in the form of an affidavit:

"I am now feeling so well that I am entering on a series of special readings, and am returning to work with all my old time vigor. I was prostrated in June last and was treated by three physicians, one near this place and two in the city of Buffalo, but received no benefit or encouragement from them. They all were of the opinion that I would have to resign my pastorate and quit preaching.

Nevertheless I now feel entirely recovered."

"I cannot give you the name of my disorder. It baffled the physicians, and they could not agree as to the nature of the trouble. After the slightest exposure, as in the damp of the morning, or after the day in the evening, my limbs would swell and become discolored and my body would be racked with pain. These attacks would last three or four hours, and they would usually leave me helpless for at least a day after the acute pain had passed. At night I was unable to sleep. The strain upon my nervous system was tremendous. I became so prostrated as to be unable to take exercise. I could scarcely any work in my study, and frequen-ly could not preach to my people.

Sometimes for a week the muscles of my arms would be so affected that I could not write a letter or pen a discourse."

On the recommendation of the physicians who examined me, my church granted me a vacation for a month, and I went to my old home at Oakwood, Ont., north of Toronto, for a rest. On reaching home my father urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I protested on the plea of having taken so many medicines that I had lost all faith in them, but he had heard of their efficacy and insisted on my giving them a trial. He brought me two boxes and I commenced to take them. I soon found my health improving, and after a week returned to my home and family at this place. Some of my friends insisted that the benefit was only temporary, that I would soon have a re-lapse and be worse than before. However, I have continued to take them and now feel like a new man. The sudden attacks of pain which formerly prostrated me on my bed do not recur, and I have exposed myself many times in a way that would have formerly brought them on."

"In my family I have found them very beneficial. My wife finds them more helpful to her than anything she has ever taken. I have cured scores of dollars in doctor's remedies and patent medicines, but all to no avail until I tried Pink Pills."

S. J. CUMMINGS.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 19th day of September, 1893.

JOHN HUNT, Notary Public.

Druggists everywhere bear witness to the firm hold this wonderful Canadian medicine has taken upon the presiding of the vast good it has accomplished in relieving suffering, and thousands of grateful people like Rev.

Mr. Cummings, cheerfully testify to the benefits derived from its use, often other skillful physicians had absolutely failed to help them. If you are ailing cast prejudice aside and give this marvel of modern medicine a fair trial. An analysis of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills shows that it is a condensed form of the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, that